FACTS FOR THE "TIMES."

Lesson for the Day: The Gospel According to Thaddeus Steves.

There was a man born in Harvey, which is in Albert Co., whose name was Thaddeus, and that man was neither perfect nor upright.

But he was a vain man much given to dissensions and strife, and to working mischief generally.

Now in his own country he found no rest for the sole of his foot; they would have most often, nor of his works, nor of his teeth lags.

Therefore he removed himself unto a far country, even unto Moncton, that fair and goodly city whose fame has gone abroad unto distant lands—yes, even unto Halifax.

And therein he established a small shop, which name was very feeble and of no account, but which same drew its sustenance from the bosom of a very good and exalted personage named Liza, the same which hankered after due Liza which was in the house of the Chief Bailiff.

And after a period he found him rest and food and goodly railing.

And he sought to be wised not fat; being like unto the lean king of Pharaoh which devoured every thing that fell in his hand, and he waxed not fat.

And he asked for help, inasmuch as he was a man in authority whose name was Abner took compass on him, made him into him a gift of gifts, and made him into him a gift of gifts.

Now the burdens and duties of this office no man knew, neither Thaddeus himself nor any other man.

It agreed marvellously well with him, inasmuch as he could not, neither did he spin, but he did spin thread for him, he regularly and in the land of him.

But to do and behold after a certain time he forgot the benefactor of his needy days, and he sought to be wised not fat; being like unto the lean king of Pharaoh which devoured every thing that fell in his hand, and he waxed not fat.

And he asked for help, inasmuch as he was a man in authority whose name was Abner took compass on him, made him into him a gift of gifts, and made him into him a gift of gifts.
