

What will the New Year bring ?

By KIM MATTHEWS

As 1979 fades into UNB's history, there are many events which seem outstanding in the minds of students. So for your convenience and to reminisce this recent past, these are the highlights of sports, news stories, and gossip of the outstanding people manipulating university affairs.

This was the year that a surplus of $1 million was found in UNB's budget but what happened to it?

Once again the Administrative Board proved how tight fisted they are when it comes to seeing that our student fees were shared equitably. CHSR decided to expand to an FM station and popular opinion was in their favour. Battles over budgets, and decision made by the SRC hit the front pages. They're looking forward to serving the public via FM.

Students were shocked by a raise in tuition and differential fees and the price rise for books upset students. But, wasn't that the way with most items on the Student Loan Application ?

Dr. John Anderson said good-bye to his position as president of UNB and a Search committee II was finally appointed. They're doing a great job, they're still searching. Perhaps we'll see a new face in that role for 1980.

The College Hill Social Club set its new policy and a few more people had to dish out the cash for memberships.

The Woodshed enjoyed such entertainers as: Chris Rawlings, Andrew Bartlett, the Martini George Quartet and Marc Lulham.

Prime Minister Joe Clark visited UNB and was spotted at the Bruns office. It will be interesting to see his fate in the February election.

The annual Red n'Black Revue celebrated their 33rd show, featuring such greats as the Jug Band, the Kickline and Jin Chong.

Headlines such as: "The Kierstead Fires", "No Open Pubs", "Vandals hit on Campus" and "Rapes on Campus" left security open to public scrutiny. Campus police increased their forces and decided to work with security. We look forward to more effective protection of the university community.

A new sports editor, Mark Estill, cast a new light in the Brunswickan sports department, although his Sportsline column was left out, or censored? more than once.

A controversial issue, a common varsity name, "UNB Pioneers" was not well received and soon dropped.

Red Bombers showed improvement from their previous year with a 4-3 (win-loss record. Stuart Fraser was one of UNB's most successful football players and has been offered a position on the pros, possibly Ottawa Roughriders or Montreal Alouettes.

The Ironmen reached the semi-finals. Word has it that the longest rugby game in Atlantic Canadian recent history was played in November of 79. The UNB Ironmen and STU Tommies played nine overtime periods with the Ironmen finally coming out on top.

The Red Shirts hosted the AUAA finals and worked hard, maybe next year they'll reach their goal.

The Red Devils are looking for better things in the new season as well as all varsity teams unmentioned. Something is to be said for supporting our teams - lets show some university participation and cheer them on in the new year.

The past year we've survived and enjoyed some great times with the rough times even after Registration, Orientation, frosh adjustments and exams.

HAPPY NEW YEAR!!!!

JUDY KAVANAGH Photo

Stuart Fraser from the Red Bombers

ANNE KILFOIL Photo

Georgie Haley and Andrew Bartlett appeared at the Woodshed.

JUDY KAVANAGH Photo

Congratulations to the Red Shirts for a good season.

" RIVERVIEW ARMS "

Appearing This Week.

SHOWGUN

Coming Next Week.

COYOTE BROTHERS