

While serving to preserve morale and give employment to young men in all parts of Canada, scheme has also given valuable and needed assistance to those in primary industries who suffered most severely during depression years;

(5) Youth Training:

In all its varied efforts to create useful employment and care for those in dire want, Government has sought, especially, to conserve the vigour, morale and employability of Canadian youth - to offset the injurious effects of depression in terms of human values and well-being;

With this in mind, special studies of problem were undertaken by Employment Commission, and, upon basis of their recommendations, measures undertaken with a view to rehabilitation and training of youth;

Under scheme, ~~some~~ 60,000 unemployed young people received training in various types of useful and profitable work - many who had never had a position, and others
