Den't Cook the Cook

Mrs. H. Lewis, Essex Co., Ont.

One of the most trying parts of our One of the most trying parts of our housework during the summer months is working over a hot stove in a hot kitchen, baking and preparing the meals. If the majority of women are like myself, they will have oftentimes experienced such utter weariness by the time the meal is ready to serve that they themselves have no appetite and can only make a pretence at eating.

I would like to impress on my sister farmers' wives that it is possible to eliminate this evil of working unto eliminate this evil of working un-der such trying conditions. A small gasoline or kerosene stove fills the bill splendidly for doing the summer cooking. I believe that the two-burner stove is the most satisfactory for the average family. For a large family, however, the three-burner stove will be more efficient. A port-sible oven is an essential part of the able oven is an essential part of the stove, and I have found it well to get one that will cover the two burners. It is necessary for one to plan to do the baking between meals in this the baking between meals in this case, but one can easily become accustomed to doing so.

A gasoline stove can be purchased quite reasonably, and is cheap to operate. They are great time-savers, being ready to cook in a very few minutes after lighting. An operate of the cook in a cook me, however, the greatest advantage is in being able to keep the kitchen comparatively cool, and likewise the cook

Daughter's Future

During vacation, you can forecast aughter's future by watching what Does she sit in the hammock and read mushy novels while poor, tired ma washes the dishes, scrubs the floors, makes the beds and worries through the other tasks of the household drudge?

Does she talk about a career for women while little brother runs about with holes in his pants and hair uncombed?

Is she afraid that the stain of toil upon her dainty fingers might queer her with her best young man?

If so, put it down as a 10 to 1 shot that sis will end by becoming a fretful, discontented female, a nagger as a wife or a "bachelor girl," whom children fear and wise men keep away from.

But if she pitches in to ma's relief But it she pitches in to may retiet, sings as she dusts, and sews and cooks, tidies up the old home till it fairly shines with charm, why there's hope for her, for good housewives are soon going to be rare enough to be in demand.

In the story book, the prince, you remember, often went courting in disguise, taking his first peek into the kitchen. If what he saw there promised faithful results, he retired, donned his finery and reappeared at the front door.

There is a lot of sense in fairy stories. As between the bare-armed maiden in the rear of the home, with the roses of honest industry in her cheek, and the dolled-up indolent on the front porch the prince never was fooled, not for a minute.-South Bend News-Times.

"It is the duty of every one to make at least one person happy during the week," said the Sunday School teach-er. "Now have you done so, Johnny?"

"Yes'm," said Johnny promptly.
"That's right. What did you do?" asked the teacher.

"I went to see my aunt and she was happy when I went home."
