Potash for Potatoes

The Potato is the most important vegetable that the farmer grows, and the demand for it is always increasing. It is also one of the crops that responds most generously to the application of commercial fertilizers. In the Potato-growing districts of New Brunswick, the farmers apply fertilizers to the extent of, approximately, $30 per acre. This expenditure covers a very heavy application, but the growers are satisfied, as they obtain very large yields.

It has been proved by analysis that a crop of 300 bushels removes from the soil, approximately, 60 lbs. nitrogen, 80 lbs. phosphoric acid, and 105 lbs. POT-ASH. These essential plant foods must be returned to the soil in some form if fertility is to be maintained. This can be done by the application of artificial fertilizers, either as supplements to or substitutes for barnyard manure.

From the figures given above, it can be seen that POTASH, must be the dominant ingredient in a fertilizer for potatoes, and no mixture should be bought to fertilize this crop unless it contains 8 per cent to 10 per cent. POTASH. Should the farmer mix his materials on the farm, the following quantities would suffice: 150 lbs. nitrate of soda (a crop of clover plowed under will supply the necessary nitrogen), 800 lbs. acid phosphate, and 210 lbs. sulphate of potash. POTASH in the form of sulphate of potash should be used as it gives better results than in other forms.

Advice on the economic purchase and use of artificial fertilizers will be given to those desiring such, and copies of bulletins on the important subject of fertilizing, including "The Potato Crop in Canada," will be mailed free on applica-
