Salt Them Down.

Put seven dollars ($7) in the bank as soon as you can do it; prepare for seasons lean and lank, and you will never rue it. "I used to blow my wages" in as fast as I could earn them; when'er I had some scads of tin, I made a rush to burn them. I bought all kinds of raiment gay, and shining ties and collars; and then one happy, fateful day, I picked seven dollars ($7). I put those roubles down in brine—an impulse led me to it. And now just take this hunch of mine; Go thou likewise and do it. Those seven bones soon called for more, and oftsoons I had twenty; each week I put in three or four and soon I'll roll in plenty. Since I began this banking graft my self-respect increases; I feel that I'm as big as Taft, and just as slick as grease is. I am the young man unafraid, the youth with glad kyoodle; the whole town wants to get my trade, because I have the boodle. I do not fear the rainy day whereon the broke man hollers; so take my plan—go right away and salt down seven dollars ($7).—Walt Mason.

June Brides.

[Windsor Record.]

With the advent of June it is eminently fitting and proper to address a few words of counsel to brides and bridegrooms. June is their month—the month in which they take a most important step that makes or mars their future happiness. Marriage is a partnership. The bride takes her vows to love, honor and obey—not always obey—if an accommodating person be found. The groom takes a similar vow—to love honor and keep his bride until death do them part. Matrimony involves both a legal and a moral contract. It is as binding on the man as it is on the woman. There can not be one standard for the husband and another for the wife. The husband, who later acquires the habit of "going out nights" ought not to complain if his wife begins to feel neglected and seeks her own amusement. The finest feature about wedded life is that it is a lifelong measure of reciprocity. There must be "give and take" on each side. The husband errs who thinks that he is always right and that his wife is always wrong. The same applies to the wife.

A modest start in housekeeping is always advisable. The practice of boarding with the mother-in-law on either side of the house seldom works out satisfactorily. Get started as early as possible on light housekeeping. Cut short the wedding trip if necessary in order to do so. Install the bare housekeeping necessities and add to the furniture from time to time. And the best furniture will prove the cheapest in the long run. It is well to remember that it takes some time to "get a start" and that it is better to pay as you go rather than try to keep up appearances under a burdened debt.

One of the happiest wedded couples in Windsor tendered on one occasion some joint advice pertaining to brides of June or any other month that will apply in conclusion: "You can't be single and married at the same time." Think it over.

School Statistics.

From the report of the Minister of Education for the past year it is shown that school teachers throughout the province are getting higher salaries than for the previous year. In town schools the average salary for male teachers is $1,000, an increase of $14 over the previous year and for female teachers $532, an increase of $16. In rural schools the average salary has increased $22, being $484. Female teachers in these schools are receiving $17 more, the average being $339. Total amount expended in public schools last year was $17,321,230 on 5,913 schools with a total population of 391,268. The cost per pupil increased from $17.52 to $17.84. As compared with this 32 cents increase in public schools there was an increase in cost per pupil in high schools of $5.57, the cost now being $48.

The hay crop promises to be heavy, and the frequent showers and warm weather are causing the country to clothe itself in a beautiful mantle of green.

Chunks Of Philosophy.

Most men who have made failures were failures before they started.

If a friend does you a favor, get out of his debt as soon as possible.

Girls don't want a home as much as they want to get married.

Some men always know what to do a few minutes after it is too late to do it.

A boy is not necessarily in deep thought because he scratches his head.

If a healthy boy walks down stairs it is a sign that the stairs have no banister.

When a boy gets his first sweater he thinks he is a good deal of an athlete.

When a man needs a shave he seems to need it more than he ever needed anything else.

A man buys a patent cigar lighter to show his superiority rather than to save time or matches.

The sort of fame which is thrust upon a man is usually recognized at about its usual value.

Men will have escaped being caught are always a little chasty in the matter of assumed morals.

The Western Fair.

LONDON, ONT.

Prize Lists, Entry Forms, and advertising matter of different kinds in connection with the Western Fair, London, Ontario, have been sent out by the management. One Thousand Dollars in cash has been added to the prizes this year. Breeders and Stockmen should make calculations to include this year. Exhibitors at the London Exhibition always report large sales of their stock as a result of attending. It is fully expected that this year will eclipse them all, and therefore all who have worthy stock of any kind cannot afford to miss it. The dates this year are—September 8th to 18th. If you have not received a Prize List write A. M. Hunt, London, stating what kind of entry form you wish and it will be promptly sent.

The Coronation Service.

The Coronation takes place about noon, the procession to and from Westminster Abbey being by a very short route and leaves Buckingham palace about 10 a. m. The King is robed at the ante room to the Abbey before entering the Sanctuary. The dignitaries officiating are the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, two Bishops, the Dean of Westminster, and two others, one reading the Epistle, the other the Gospel. The music is of the noblest type and Sir Everard Bridge, the organist of the Abbey, is a past master in choral work.

The principal features of the ceremony are:—

1. On the Entrance of the King the anthem "I was glad when they said unto me let me go unto the House of the Lord" is sung.

2. The King is presented to the assembled congregation as lawful Sovereign by the Archbishop of Canterbury and as such loudly acclaimed with cries of "God save our King."

3. The King kneeling at the altar makes an offering of a pall of cloth of gold and an ingot of gold weighing a pound.

4. The Litany is said by two Bishops with a special suffrage for the occasion.

5. The first part of the Communion office.

6. The sermon after the Nicene Creed, preached by the Archbishop of York.

7. The oath taken by the King kneeling at the altar with his hand on the Bible open at the gospel. This is the oath recently amended.

8. The benediction of the Holy Oil and the anointing of the King. The Dean pours the oil into the spoon.

9. The Regalia is dictated at the Altar.

10. The King is invested with the Royal Robe and orb.

11. The King is invested with the Ring and Sceptre.

Sentences, ritualistic, are spoken by the Archbishop of Canterbury indicating the symbolism of all these.

12. The blessing of the Crown at the altar.

13. The Coronation of the King kneeling. The moment the crown is placed on the head of the King all the peers and peeresses present assume their coronets and this is perhaps the most spectacular moment in the great service.

14. The presentation of the Bible to the King. This dates from the time of William of Orange.

15. The Benediction and the "Te Deum."

16. The enthronisation of the King.

17. Coronation of the Queen.

18. The Holy Communion is resumed at the offertory. The King makes a second offering of gold. The Archbishop dedicates the bread and wine. The King takes off his crown and kneels down to partake of the Lord's Supper.

Special collection before the blessing. 19. The service concludes with a recessional into Henry VIII's chapel where part of the regalia is laid aside.

The inner significance of the whole ceremony is that the King is the minister of God and that the work of the Sovereign is a work of religion. The King of Kings calls him to his office and through the ordinances of religion he receives the grace and guidance needed for his great trust. Before the feet of the Lord of Hosts he lays his crown and kneels in the presence of those elements which are the symbols of the passions of the King of Glory who was enthroned upon the Cross.

This beautiful, holy, and symbolic service it is quite impossible to reproduce anywhere else.

In Hot Water.

A very serious accident happened at Walker's box factory, Harrison, Friday to Frank Harris, an employee of the firm. A large tank of boiling water is kept for the purpose of steaming parts of boxes, and which is nearly always covered, and it was from this tank of boiling water that young Harris was taken on Friday afternoon, with his legs from the knees down to the ankles terribly scalded. His feet were somewhat saved by the heavy shoes he was wearing. The young man was attended to, and is at present doing as nicely as can be expected under the circumstances.

The Modern Blacksmith.

Under a costly canopy. The village blacksmith sits; Before him is a touring car Broken to little bits. And the owner, and the chauffeur, too, Have almost lost their wits.

The village blacksmith smiles with glee As he lights his fat cigar. He tells his helpers what to do To straighten up the car, And the owner, and the chauffeur, too, Stand humbly where they are.

The village blacksmith puffs his weed And smiles a smile of cheer. The while his helpers pump the tires And monkey with the gear— And the owner, and the chauffeur, too, Stand reverently near.

Behind the village blacksmith is The portal of his shop; The shop is very large in size, With tiled roof on top— And the owner, and the chauffeur, too, At it were glad to stop.

The children going home from school Look in at the open door; They like to see him make his bills And hear the owners roar; And the chauffeurs weep as they declare They ne'er paid that before.

He goes each morning to the bank And salts away his cash; A high silk hat and long frock coat Help him to cut a dash— But the owner, and chauffeur, too, Their teeth all vainly gnash.

The chestnut tree long since has died, The smith does not repine; His humble shop has grown into A building big and fine, And it bears "Garage" above the door On a huge electric sign.

Liquor Case Proceedings.

The four charges laid against the proprietress of the Royal Hotel were brought up before W. H. Ryan, police magistrate for South Grey, last Thursday morning. On the two charges for unlawfully selling liquor after hours on two different dates she pleaded guilty and the fine of $50.00 and costs for each date amounting to $122 was imposed. On the charge of gambling in the hotel and selling liquor to an "Indian-lister" she pleaded not guilty and the case was withdrawn. Provincial Inspector Ayearst, Esq., was counsel for the prosecution.—Aytan Advance.

Falls into Cog Wheels at Cement Plant.

Warton, June 13.—At the cement plant early on Sunday morning, Albert Shannon, aged 55, had his arm torn off near the shoulder and five ribs broken as a result of falling into the cogs of the belt conveyor. He was engaged in making some repairs to the conveyor, and was standing on one of the oil cups, when his foot slipped, precipitating him into the cogs. He was hastily extricated by a fellow workman, otherwise he would have been totally mangled. The doctors found it necessary to amputate the arm at the shoulder, and Shannon is in a precarious condition.
