EFFECT OF

A Hard Proposition for the Union to Overcome

Extremely Wide Terms of Judge Hanford's Order.

The principal topic of conversation or the streets of Rossland yesterday was the streets of Rossland yesterday was easily the injunction issued on Thursday by Judge Hanford of the United who is vice-president and general countries. The concession was made on all sides that in obtaining this injunction the management of the smelter had scored the strongest point available against the men who are endeavoring to prevent them from operating their big plant. As was intimated in the Miner yesterday, one of the principal features in connection with the situation as it now connection with the situation as it now stands is that the conduct of affairs in conection with the smelter strike passes from the control of the municipal and state authorities into the hands of the Federal officers. It is an open secret that heretofore the municipal authorities have enforced the law against non-union men to the very letter of every ordin. men to the very letter of every ordin-ance, while permitting union men wide scope in their operations, winking at actions on their part that were visited with heavy fines when performed by non-union men. Hereafter these con-ditions will be altered. So long as the non-union men go about their work peaceably they will not be interfered with by the officers of the law, and Unihand to see that the provisions of the ction are complied with on the

A number of Rosslanders have had exyerience of the manner in which the law is administered under an injunction issued by the Federal court. Stories of incidents transpiring under these cirstances were retailed on the streets by men who have been There are a number of reasons why the Cocur d'Alene trouble, and the application of the militiamen I relief that they were not exsimilar conditions now. Among those citizens not directly interested in the situation the opinion is held that the injunction is a "knock-out" olow for the Northport strikers and the strike is virtually in sight. The basis for this prediction is that if the union is enjoined from endeavoring to keep means of men from going to work by means of means by which the Kootenay country will be and passed by the education department. suasion, its only weapon is removed and it will be helpless. Apparently the effect of the injunction, possibly for the reason that no programme has been resolved upon, if, indeed, any loophole remains by which the union will be able to accomplish their end. He admitted that the injunction, with its sweeping provisions, would be a serious blow to the strikers' cause, but declined to admit that the cause was lost at Northport. Mr. Wilks has his private ideas "government by injunction," as radicals are disposed to term it, and thinks that is the only country on the North American continent where true liberty prevails. He finds some consolation in the belief that the efforts to land Manager Kadish behind the bars of the Northport lock-up will be sucder the terms of the injunction, the alleged warrant for Mr. Kadish's arrest is not worth the paper it is written upon not worth the paper it is written upon.

James Wilks, vice-president of the Western Federation of Miners, was in Northport yesterday when the news of the injunction was received. Robert A. Allen left Rossland over among citizens generally, in view of six months ago and has spent the intervening weeks in a trip covering many offices to bring about a revision of the thousand of miles. He went into Dawson over the ice, and spent a couple of months there. Then he went to Nome, and was there long enough to size up the situation. Turning south, Mr. Alle spent some time in Seattle and after-wards visited Frisco before turning his wards visited Frisco before turning his steps toward Rossland. Boiled down to words, Mr. Allen's sentiments as few words, Mr. Allen's sentiments as to the "g.eener fields beyond" are sum-med up in the foregoing paragraphs. Mr. Allen's atention was drawn to the tatement made by Miss Corde, the New York journalist who passed through the city during the week, in which she av-erred that industrial conditions at Dawerred that industrial conditions at Daw-son were in bad shape and that prices on staple foods were cut below whole sale prices at Seattle. "That is rot," said the Rossland man, "and no one who understands the facts will credit in appreciated:

Early in the spring the school trustees started out to secure the practical application of the appropriation for school buildings made at the last session of the legislature. Crowds of recdown the streets, and everyone of them looks as though he was anxious to get out of tewn as quickly as possible but did not have the price. Fully a dozen are deserted, and business men are all complaining of hard times. I inquired from a number of merchants and was informed that the business done this year was not one-half the volume of last year's trade. The opinion has been expressed, and I agree with it, that Nome is not the natural centre of the Alaska coun.ry. A FAIR PROSPECT OF THE TANGLE CONDITIONS AS HE FOUND THEM REASONS FOR BELIEVING HE COULD NOT HAVE KILLED HIMSELF.

> The verdict given by the corone jury in the matter of the sad death of the late William Young, brother of James H. Young, of Rossland, is not generally accepted, and steps are being taken to unravel the mystery attending the fatality. The verdict was that of suicide, but in the light of disclosure made subsequent to the investigation it is apparent that excellent reason exist for believing that the late Mr. Young came to his death by foul means. James H. Young of Rossland is no disposed to accept the coroner's jury's verdict. He is satisfied that all the facts attending the terrible affair have not been revealed, and that when the story is told in its entirety the cir-cumstances will point clearly to mur-der and not to suicide. At the present moment Mr. Young has a detective going over the ground and investigating the matter. The officer will make a report, and it is confidently expected that the tenor of his communication will be such as to justify the case being re-opened and brought to the attention of the attorney-general's department with a view to securing a searching investigation by the trained officers of the government.

It will be remembered that at the time the body was found three bullet wounds were found and the body was lying across a rifle that had been discharged. This was taken as evidence by the coroner's jury that the Young states that in contradiction to this theory are two facts standing out

1—Any one of the bullet wounds was sufficient to cause death, and a man after receiving one of them could never ave pulled a trigger again.

2-Not one of the bullets had gon through the body or penetrated to the back. Had deceased fired the shots, the velocity of the bullet at such close range would have carried them com-pletely through the body. This denonstrates that the shots were fired from a distance.

3-No powder marks were found or the body, nor were deceased's garments scerched. Had the late Mr. Young fired the shots with his own hand, the wadding of the cartridges would un-doubtedly have set fire to his garents, and the marks of the powde could have been readily detected. This is another demonstration of the fact that the wounds were caused by bullets fired from a distance.

Looking at the matter from another
