PUZZLES FOR JUDGES IKIDNEY

SIMPLE WORDS THAT HAVE TANGLED UP ENGLISH COURTS.

Terms of Almost Everyday Use That Proved to Be Too Profound For the Intelligence of the Learned Bench and Bar.

In a case that came before a famous lord justice some time ago the counsel for the prosecution in the evidence had to mention a "blouse."

The judge asked what a blouse was, and it was explained that this was part of a lady's dress. But the case came to a dead stop for the time, for the judge did not know which part, and after some hesitation the barrister admitted that he wasn't sure. Several learned brothers gave their opinion, some opining a blouse was the upper half of a lady's costume, while others insisted it must be the lower half. The entire court, filled with learned celebrities whose heads held all the laws of Britain, from pitch and toss to manslaughter, argued it out, but nobody was sure. The judge thought it was the lower half, but a junior barrister who had lately been married said he thought that that half was called a skirt, but did not feel certain. At length a lady was called, who set the court right.

Another odd dilemma happened not long ago when in the Hobson "horse faking" case the word "fetlock" arose. A fetlock, as everybody knows, is the ankle of a horse. The court asked what it was, however, and the prosecuting counsel was nonplused. The witnesses were out of court save one, and he knew nothing. The judge thought a fetlock was a sort of hind knee, otherwise "hock," but one learned brother was quite certain it was the lock of hair that hangs over a horse's forehead. The defendant's solicitor opined it was that part of the harness which slips over the tail, the crupper, and another legal celebrity agreed with the judge. Finally the court had to call a stable groom to clear up the mystery.

In a case that was settled some years since the recorder was brought up short by a phrase used by the counsel for defense, who spoke of a transaction concerning a pound of "blacklead." This is a common and useful article, but the counsel on being asked to explain its nature said it was a black substance used for boot polishing. The recorder thought it was a mineral used in lead pencils, but another barrister asserted it to be a "tough kind of lead used for roofing houses." The case was brought to a standstill, and one lawyer, unsurpassed in legal knowledge, declared that blacklead was a slang term for pig iron as produced in the north country. A fourth expounder of the law vaguely suggested it was the opposite of white lead, and finally a domestic servant put the court right, and the assembly at last learned that it was used for blacking stoves.

Another dilemma was produced a litwhile ago on the western circuit by the introduction of the words "dry nurse" in an address to the court. This bewildered the judge, who asked if a dry nurse was a nurse who dried babies after they had been washed. That solution did not occur to the learned counsel, who, after some hesitation, said he thought it meant a nurse who was not addicted to drinking and therefore mest suitable to look after infants. Nobody seemed to know what the term really meant, though several more guesses were made, the last of them that a dry nurse was one who could not amuse children. The court was again nonplused by a statement made that somebody concerned in the case supposed to suffer from melancholia was really "as jolly as a sandboy." The judge wanted to know what a sandboy was in order to form some idea as to the exact degree of jollity involved. The counsel could not tell him, though one suggested it was a boy who sanded the roads and the other thought it might be a lad building sand castles on the seashore, The whole court stopped to discuss what a sandboy was and why he was jolly, but they could not solve the prob-

It is hardly believable that anybody should not know what a "snaffle" is, but a London magistrate recently desired to be informed, and nobody could tell him what a snaffle might be. A solicitor thought it was the same thing as the "curb," and the clerk had an idea it was a kind of cold in the head which horses caught, causing them to snuffle a good deal.—London Answers.

A Famous Temple. The most magnificent work of architecture in the world is the Taj Mahal, in Agra, Hindustan. It was erected by Shah Jehan to the memory of his favorite queen. It is octagonal in form, of pure white marble, inlaid with jasper, carnellan, turquoise, agate, amethysts and sapphires. The work took 22,000 men 20 years to complete, and though there were free gifts and the labor was free the cost is estimated at $16,000,000.

ausing Frequent Rising at Night, is Completely Cured by r. Pitcher's nackache Kidney Tablets.

Many people are troubled with an irritable condition of the Kidneys and Bladder, that compels frequent attention during the day and frequent rising at night.

For such an annoying and serious Kidney trouble, there is no remedy so beneficial as the modern Kidney medicine, Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. They allay all irritability, regulate the kidney action and permit undisturbed rest at night. bility, regulate the kidney action and permit undisturbed rest at night.

Mr. Isaac Hutel, an old and highly respected resident of Mount Forest, Ont., has this to say: "For some ten years past, owing to hard work in my younger days on the farm, I have had a constant pain in my back that ran at times up into my shoulders. The kidneys bothered me very much and my liver somewhat also. I tried a good many remedies with only in-different success, until I got a bottle of Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets at Yeoman's drug store in this The result of using these Tabtown. lets has been beyond my expectations.
They stopped the pain and soremess in the back, and allayed the kidney irritation, so that I can now rest well at night. They have also regu-lated my bowels and stirred up my sluggish liver, so that I am feeling better than I have in a long time, and I am only too pleased to give this testimonial as to the good the remedy accomplished in my case."

seasing the Choir Sing. Many conscientious ministers have had trouble with wayward choirs, but not all have had Dr. Samuel West's witty address or management. There had been difficulty with the singers and they had given out that they should not sing on the next Sunday. This was told to Dr. West. "Well, well, we will see," he said and on Sunday morning gave out his hymn. After reading it he said very emphatically, "You will begin with the second verse:

"Let those refuse to sing Who never knew our God." The hymn was sung.

Cured. "No," said the man in the mackintosh, "my wife doesn't give away any of my old clothes or sell them to the ragman any more. I cured that habit effectually once."

SPREAD OF SPIRITUALSM. In this country spiritualism is spreading with alarming rapidity. In the last generation its folly was exposed over and over again; but all this seems to have been forgotten, and it is necessary to issue a warning to the manner in which the taste for these abominations is gradually increasing throughout England.—"Free Lance."

TOO THOROUGH.

News from Persia deals with the discovery of a petroleum well in the village of Talish. The local administration only got an inkling of its existence through a foreigner applying for a concession. The Government had the matter investigated, and it now turns out that the well had already been exploited by the local villagers, anterior to the Russo local villagers, anterior to the Russo Persian war. To hide it from the enemy, the villagers covered it so well that, in time, all traces of its exist-ence were lost.—"Petroleum."

It was a shame that those who utter-It was a shame that those who utter-ed them should call themselves Englishmen. Their assertions had been found to be absolutely untrue.

ALAS, POOR SHAKESPEARE.

The travelling theatrical company at present visiting this town gave last night a representation of a play styled "The Merry Wives of Windgor," by a person called Shakespeare. The play is said to be a comedy, but is terribly monotonous in its effect, especially the two first acts. An uncompact of the same especially the two first acts. An unflirts and spoons with a bevy of demimondaines, but who becomes a victim to their absurd intrigues—such is the sum-total of the plot. We can only say that such a play is poor fare to invite an educated public to. It was a relief when the curtain dropped, and we had an opportunity of listening to a selection of humorous songs.

The letter is dated April 10, 1871, and is a reply to a letter sent for a joke by three students who informed the Prince of his unanimous election as honorary member of the Prince-ton Medical Faculty, an organization which never existed.

The letter says:—"His Roya! High-

An unusual incident occurred at the palace at Stockholm during the gala dinner given by King Oscar in honour of the Duke of Abercorn, King Edward's Extraordinary Ambassador and his suite. The booming of the guns was suddenly heard, and while the guests were wondering what had happened a message was conveyed by a pened a message was conveyed by a breathless attendant to the King an-nounced that the consort of Prince Carl had just given birth to a daughter.

The King immediately proposed the health of the young Princess, and the foreign visitors were particularly en-thusiastic in supporting the toast.
