Death of Mrs. Warren M. Rideout

A shocking and sudden death was that of Mrs. Warren M. Rideout of Somerville, which occurred at the Fisher Memorial Hospital on Friday.

Mrs. Rideout suffered a long time with an internal malady, but with such heroic fortitude that only her immediate family was aware of her condition. When she did finally submit to an operation death intervened while she was in the operating room. The funeral was held on Sunday from her late residence, Rev. Geo. Kincaid conducting the service. Interment was made in the family plot in Somerville.

Mrs. Rideout was the third daughter of Amasa Shaw and was born 54 years ago. She is survived by her aged father, and her step-mother, and two children, Bertrem, in the west, and Mrs. Perry H. Bishop of Coronation. There are also four sisters, Mrs. G. R. Farley of Tracey Mills, Miss Loretta of Upper Brighton, Mrs. Thos. Ebbett of Aroostook Jct., and Mrs. Henry Armstrong of Caribou. All these relatives were at the funeral except the son.

Deep sympathy is felt for the family, particularly the husband.

Recruiting Meeting

Monday evening there was a well attended recruiting meeting at Victoria; and last evening another at East Florenceville when 4 young men volunteered. Tonight there is a meeting at Bath, the big one at Hartland tomorrow night, another at Centreville on Friday, one at Lakeville on Saturday and one at Bloomfield on Tuesday next.

Don't lay to much stress on "Your King and Country need you." They certainly do; but bring the battle-cry closer home—"Canada needs you at the front" to stay the War Devil's awful hand that threatens all the Anglo-Saxon breed.

Strawberries in November

Yesterday Miss Hildah Boyer, a Hartland girl teaching school at Ashland, sent The Observer a box containing several large and ripe strawberries and a note which said: "These berries were picked on Nov. 8 by Mitchell Buchanan, one of my pupils."

Strawberries are not uncommon in September and early October, but it has never before been the fortune of this paper to record their appearance in November.
