Tell Others How They Were Carried Safely Through
Change of Life.

Durand, Wis.—"I am the mother of fourteen children and I owe my life to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. When I was 45 and had the Change of Life, a friend recommended it and it gave me such relief from my bad feelings that I took several bottles. I am now well and healthy and recommend your Compound to other ladies."

—Mrs. MARY RIDGWAY, Durand, Wis.
A Massachusetts Woman Writes: Blackstone, Mass.—"My troubles were from my age, and I felt awfully sick for three years. I had hot flashes often and frequently suffered from pains. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now am well."

—Mrs. PIERRE COURNOYER, Box 239, Blackstone, Mass.
Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dizziness, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregular menstruation, variable appetite, weakness and dizziness, should be heeded by middle-aged women. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has carried many women safely through this crisis.

Miners Quit Bell Island.

Quite a number of men who for the past winter were employed in the mines at Bell Island are leaving each week to prosecute the fisheries. However this will not interfere with the shipping of the iron ore as large stock piles are in evidence at the mines and at the shipping pier, and with the help of steam shovels can be loaded on board trolley cars and from there through the medium of shutes and the endless chain bucket system is placed on board the ship.

An Early Submarine.

London Chronicle.—Few would associate the name of Napoleon with the submarine, and yet, had it not been for the vigilance of the British Government, the two might have been inseparably linked for all time. When Napoleon was banished to St. Helena, various schemes were set on foot to effect his escape. One of the most remarkable of these originated in the inventive brain of a notorious smuggler named Johnstone. "A submarine vessel," says Scott in his "Life of Napoleon," "was to be the means of effecting this enterprise. It was thought that by sinking the vessel during the day time, shipwreck would be the notice of the British cruisers, and being raised at night, might approach the guarded rock without discovery. The vessel was actually begun in one of the building yards upon the Thames but the peculiarity of her construction having occasioned suspicion, she was seized by the Government.

Report Officers of L. S. P. U.

Your Officers in presenting this, the 13th Annual Report of the Union, point with pride to the fact that a large number of the members have answered the call of duty by enlisting as volunteers for defence of the Empire. Some of those who enrolled, have already paid the price of liberty with their lives in battling against the mighty hosts of the enemy. Although their bodies rest in foreign lands, nevertheless, the memory of their gallantry and of the heroic services rendered by them, in the cause of Right and Truth is, and will not be forgotten. To the bereaved ones, who lost a breadwinner, the Union begs to tender its heartfelt sympathy, and trusts that the fact that those lives were offered in the most worthy of all causes, will help in some way to assuage their grief. The Union, at the outset of the war feeling assured that many of its members would respond to the call of the defenders of the Empire, decided to keep in the ranks, thus showing its appreciation of the members who responded to the call of the colors.

During the past year the Union, through the efforts of the Honourable M. P. Gibbs, was able to secure an increase in the wages heretofore paid the members. Under ordinary conditions this would have proven of material advantage, but the increase in the cost of the necessities of life has completely nullified any benefits that might otherwise have accrued. The increase in price of all commodities of life is of very serious moment to all. Daily the struggle for an existence is becoming more and more accentuated. This calls for serious reflection and thought on the part of the members as to what action should be taken in the future to bring about an equalization of their wage schedule with the increase in the cost of living. The need of a concerted movement upon the part of the working classes in this city, whereby their needs, requirements, and grievances will meet with more prompt recognition than in the past, and their organized strength be used in the future in the interest and advancement of all, should be carefully considered by every member of this Union. Serious thought and reflection are vitally necessary as to the best means of bringing this about.

The Union has during the year made contributions out of its funds to various philanthropic and charitable organizations, notably, The Ladies' Dorcas Society, Ladies' and Men's St. Vincent de Paul Society, Trafalgar Day, Cot and Mayo-Lind Funds.

It is with sincere regret your officers are not taken too seriously. The real pinch is the stoppage of war supplies. That is a grievance upon which the German Government continues to dwell. That is the motive of the demand that, if submarine attacks on merchantmen are to be abandoned, Great Britain must be brought to book for her alleged infringements upon neutral rights. The President has frequently and positively declined to debate this question with Berlin that it must be taken for granted he will not accept this condition as the price of non-enforcement of the sacred principles of justice and humanity. That would be too humiliating a surrender to contemplate. What he demanded was that Germany should forthwith put an end to inhuman and illegal practices. He cannot now enter into any bargain to compel Great Britain to put an end to a humane and legal practice. If Germany cannot win the war except by trampling upon rights universally acknowledged, she must lose it. The United States cannot and will not help her.

Everyday Etiquette.
"When one is eating with the right hand, should the left hand be kept in the lap under the table?" asked Carl.
"Yes for it shows a lack of taste for one to be handling the table utensils unnecessarily," replied his aunt.

After a whiskbroom has become ragged trim off evenly and use as a sink brush.

Daylight Saving Bill.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—By advancing clocks and watches one hour on Sunday night at 9 o'clock, and making the time 10 o'clock—I have no desire to cheat the Devil in the dark, but I have yet to learn one good objection against it. So far I have heard none. Any appeal that is made to the workmen against it is sentimental.

The scheme is entirely for the workmen. All we hear about going to bed and getting out of bed means nothing. You can go to bed when you like, or you needn't go at all; and if you go to bed you can stay there. You cannot make more than twenty-four hours out of one day, but you can divide it how you like. We often hear that a hen has a small brain, but she is ahead of us in the utilization of Daylight at any rate.

The Daylight Saving Bill was referred to a Select Committee of fifteen members of the British House of Commons in 1909. At that time by a majority of one they agreed not to proceed further with the Bill. What do we find to-day? The Bill has been introduced in Great Britain by Sir Henry Norman, who was a member of the Select Committee of 1909. The vote was 170 for and 2 against it on its first reading. The principal of the Bill is supported by a majority of the British House of Commons, by the House of Lords, by Lords of the Privy Council, Judges, etc., and over twenty million of the population of Great Britain. The best authorities have stated in England that the object proposed cannot be attained without changing the clocks.

I will try in as simple a way as I possibly can to explain to the workmen—mechanics, shop hands, office hands and others who are interested in the proposal to save Daylight. Let us suppose the change has been made—clocks and watches have all been advanced one hour. On Tuesday we start the day with 24 hours. Men who go to work at 6 o'clock will continue to go at 6 o'clock; men who go to work at 7 o'clock will continue to go at 7 o'clock; others who go to work at 8 o'clock will continue to go at 8 o'clock; those who go to work at 9 o'clock will continue to go to work at 9 o'clock. Trains will continue to go at the same hour if the Reid Co. adopt the Colonial time; not that they will go by standard time. Banks will open at the same hour, and transact business during the same number of hours they do now. I have no doubt whatever that the whole city will fall in line.

Dinner hour will be at the same hour as now. When the day is over and we come to six o'clock in the evening we have worked the same number of hours, we have earned the same pay. We leave our work at 6 o'clock by our watches; we go home to tea; afterwards we have a long light evening of one hour extra to spend in the garden, fixing our houses, fishing, games, etc. In fact, Mr. Editor, you need never go home in the dark.

I shall be pleased indeed to have a good controversy on this very important subject. Writers need not be ashamed to sign their own names, and if at all possible let us have some real substantial objections against the Daylight scheme, not superficial words with no meaning. Sarcastic or trying to be a smart set is no argument. Let us have one practical objection. And oblige
Yours truly,
JOHN ANDERSON.

Where the Shoe Pinches

Philadelphia Public Ledger.—The bitter protest in the note against the British blockade is a confession that it is this which in the end will compass German defeat. The assertions that German women and children are being threatened with starvation need not be taken too seriously. The real pinch is the stoppage of war supplies. That is a grievance upon which the German Government continues to dwell. That is the motive of the demand that, if submarine attacks on merchantmen are to be abandoned, Great Britain must be brought to book for her alleged infringements upon neutral rights. The President has frequently and positively declined to debate this question with Berlin that it must be taken for granted he will not accept this condition as the price of non-enforcement of the sacred principles of justice and humanity. That would be too humiliating a surrender to contemplate. What he demanded was that Germany should forthwith put an end to inhuman and illegal practices. He cannot now enter into any bargain to compel Great Britain to put an end to a humane and legal practice. If Germany cannot win the war except by trampling upon rights universally acknowledged, she must lose it. The United States cannot and will not help her.

Shakespeare, the Journalist.

Christian Science Monitor.—A Bostonian says that Shakespeare was "the supreme reporter." Not because he could depict so very faithfully the imaginary, although that power would have insured him a place on the staff of many newspapers published to-day, but because he had insight and descriptive power in dealing with nature and men as they are visible to a globe reporter. Shakespeare might have qualified for journalism of the best sort, old or new. Poets, dramatists and wise commentators surely will not begrudge the effort of the journalist to establish some affinities with the Avon bard at this hour. He was big enough for all.

Teach Patriotism.

London Telegraph.—Patriotism needs to be taught like other lessons, and this country has suffered from the lack of it. We have neglected these things, through a sort of false shame, as though it were a boastfulness to praise one's country and the sign of a choice spirit to be rather contemptuous of the old-fashioned virtues of patriotism. The Empire Day movement was a protest against this deadly cosmopolitanism, and the Society of St. George, to mention another body has striven to cultivate in England the sense of purely national patriotism which had flourished far more freely in Scotland, Ireland and Wales.
