

WANTED TO BURY THE GIRL AND ADD ANOTHER TO THE LONG LIST OF MISSING.

Starting Evidence Given By a Sister of Key Denial at the Inquest on the Dead Girl East Brooming-Room "Doot"
Andrews Proposed to Escape the Penalty of His Alleged Crime.

The startling feature of the inquest last evening on the body of Lucy Denning, the alleged victim of Irwin R. Andrews, sister of the dead girl, that when Andrews discovered that Lucy was going to die he suggested that she be allowed to remain at the Shaw-street infirmary, and if she died he would bury the body. The friends could not advise her as missing, as was frequently done.

The inquest was held at Headquarters before Coroner Johnson. A large number of the morbidly curious crowded around No. 1 Police Station, all anxious to hear the evidence. The prisoners, Andrews and his wife, were present. They were represented by Mr. W. G. Murdoch. The prosecution was represented by Crown Attorney Curry and Dawson.

The first witness was Fred Doane, livery stable keeper, 621 Yonge-street, who testified to receiving a telephone order at 8.30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 28, to send a double carriage to 237 Shaw-street. He did not catch the name. William Harvold drove the rig. The carriage hire was paid next day by Dr. Andrews. The amount was $1.50, which paid for one hour and a half hire. To Mr. Doane, Dr. Andrews did not owe him anything previous to Saturday night. Andrews walked into his office and paid $20. Mr. Doane endeavored to find out what conversation took place between Andrews and the witness, but the latter could not remember that any conversation took place.

At this stage Mr. Mills and Mr. Murdoch asked why Dr. Andrews and his wife were not present, as they are charged with being implicated in the death of Lucy Denning. The coroner said that Dr. Andrews and his wife were not held under his warrant and their presence was not, therefore, necessary.

William Harvold, cabman for Fred Doane, was sent to 237 Shaw-street on the evening of Oct. 28. He rang the bell at 237 Shaw-street and the door was opened. Four people came out of the house and got into the cab and asked to be driven to 194 Elizabeth-street. He did not know where 194 was, and they told him to drive up opposite Gerrard-street. When near there he heard a rap on the cab window and stopped a little north of No. 194. The four occupants of the cab then went to the house on the north of No. 194. They only been gone a minute or two when two of them returned to the cab. The man and woman who returned asked to be driven back to Shaw-street. He left them at Gerrard and Young, as he had a lead to take from the Horticultural Gardens. They said nothing when they got out. The passengers were two men and a woman. None of the passengers required any assistance in getting into or leaving the cab. The night was dark. November 1st was the day.

To Mr. Murdoch, Mr. Doane gave him the order to go to 237 Shaw-street. Dr. Andrews was not in the cab; could not say whether Mrs. Andrews was one of the passengers or not, as he could not see.

A FIELD DAY FOR MCCARTHY.

REV. DR. DOUGLAS TO CHAMPION
HIS CAUSE IN QUEBEC.

McCarthy and O'Brien enthusiastically received by the P.E.A. of North-west at Orono Sound. The Patrons' Candidate speaks. Dr. Douglas explains his views at length to an interview.

Owen Sound, Ont., Nov. 8.—Great efforts were made by the Protestant Protective Association, which is a strong body here, to give Dr. Douglas McCarthy and his associates an impressive reception to-day.

Considerable bunting was displayed, and banners were strung across Division, Poole and Union-streets, containing the following mottoes: "Equal Rights to All," "Special Privileges to None," "Canada Honors Her Loyal Subjects," "North Grey for McCarthy," "One Flag, One Law and One School for All."

About noon a procession started from the Queen's Hotel for the station, and when the train arrived at 1 o'clock containing Dr. Douglas McCarthy, Q.C., and Mr. O'Brien, M.P., and Mr. Hunter, were given by the considerable crowd present and the guests were conducted to the train in waiting. The procession then started, with the Owen Sound band leading, followed by 100 members of the P.E.A. on horseback preceding the carriage. A splendid four-in-hand open carriage contained the principals and was followed by other carriages with the committee and others. Broke had headed a contingent of about 100 members of the P.E.A. and a dozen or more carriers of citizens brought up the rear.

The procession was carried the principal streets, along which many people were gathered, the weather being delightfully bright and warm. Some of the citizens, dressed in gala attire, and the party finally drew up at the Queen's Hotel, where luncheon had been served.

At the Town Hall.

Shortly after 2 p.m. the afternoon meeting opened in the town hall. Ropes had been attached to the carriage and some of the more enthusiastic admirers drew it to the length of the block, from the hotel to the hall. The hall was crowded, and after Mr. Mayor W. A. McGee had taken the chair, Mr. St. John, M.P., and Mr. O'Brien, M.P., were introduced.

Mr. McCarthy made brief replies, promising to refer to them at more length later. He then turned to the question of the P.E.A. and the other from the local committee of Owen Sound, which Mr. McCarthy made brief replies, promising to refer to them at more length later.

The Patron Candidate speaks. Mr. J. C. Miller on behalf of the advanced prohibitionists said the same question to Mr. McCarthy, who had been presented to Sir John Thompson and Mr. Laing, after which the chairman spoke briefly and called on the speaker.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland, spoke at Free Trade Hall, Manchester, this evening. He made a general defence of the Government's policy. The Ministers, he said, did not intend to make any concession for dealing with the Matabels until they should receive proper information on which to base their policy.

The Government would not whitewash the Home Rule or any other bill, but would stand by the Home Rule and the tariff, dissenting from the policies of both parties. He said that the Government would not whitewash the Home Rule or any other bill, but would stand by the Home Rule and the tariff, dissenting from the policies of both parties.

Mr. McCarthy then addressed the meeting at length on the tariff and the Manitoba school question. In reply to the questions of the prohibitionists he courteously but clearly declined to declare himself in favor of a prohibitory measure.

In the evening Messrs. McCarthy and others addressed a large meeting in the Town Hall. The chairman said that a convention would be held in Owen Sound on the 25th to select a McCarthy candidate for the House of Commons.

THE MATABELES DEFEATED

IN AN ENGAGEMENT WITH MAJOR ADAMS' COLUMNS.

The British Forces Attacked in Front and Rear—A Lethal Shower from the Machine Guns Wins the Day—Sixty Matabeles Killed—Explorer Selous Wounded—Alarmingly Telegram.

Cape Town, Nov. 8.—The Matabeles attacked the British Tuli column, under Major Gold Adams on Nov. 1. This column has a number of Maxim guns, and were turned on the enemy. The natives could not withstand the shower of bullets poured into their ranks, and they broke and fled in great disorder. Major Adams' column numbered 300 men. A number of the black allies under Chief Khama are attached to the column. F. C. Selous, the explorer, for whose head King George has offered a reward, was wounded in the fight.

Failed to Take Them By Surprise.

The enemy consisted of two large regiments, the 1st and 2nd, and a column, which was strong on a long line. The Matabeles swooped down on the rear of the column, and the British were surprised and overcome before they were aware of it. The British, however, were prepared for just such a move, Khama's scouts having warned Major Adams of the approach of the Matabeles. The British were not taken by surprise, and the Matabeles were defeated.

Whitewash Wins.

The Opposition seems to be Practically Wiped Out.

Mr. John's M.D., Nov. 8.—The defeat of the Opposition in the election is becoming a reality. The return stand White-washed, and the Opposition is being wiped out. The Opposition is being wiped out.

Attention to Be Called to It in Parliament on Friday.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Mr. Samuel Woods, M.P. for the line division of Lancashire will Friday next move the adjournment of the House of Commons for the purpose of calling attention to the case of the Matabeles. Mr. Woods, who is a miner, is vice-president of the Matabele Federation.

OUR NEW DRESS.

(From the Clifton News-Record.)

It is not the intention of the News-Record to say very much about its new dress of type. As our readers are aware, we are not in the habit of saying a great deal about ourselves. But we have received a number of enquiries about the make of type we are using and are liberally commencing to respond to them on the very handsome appearance of the News-Record. To impart the desired information, it is quite to order that some particulars should be given. Practical experience, to our mind, is the very best teacher. We have been in the newspaper and printing business for about a quarter of a century, and have a practical knowledge of the business from a "devil" to an editor-in-chief. We have spent the office, made "pl" and distributed it, set type and distributed it, made up forms, justified and locked them, placed them on Gordon treadle and last presses, and run fast steam presses of various makes as well. The make of type we have handled in those years were the output of American, Canadian and British foundries. Our experience then should have taught us something. We learned that the best and most durable type in the world today is that manufactured by Miller & Richardson of Edinburgh, Scotland, with a well-selected warehouse in Toronto. Their type is made from a peculiar composition that outwears all other types for instance, for years ago the News-Record put in a new dress of type from another foundry and it was worn out. ## CAUGHT BY THE SHARPERS.

ANOTHER MAN WHO MET TWO STRANGERS ON THE STREET.

His Name Was John E. Hayes, and He Has a Lively Recollection of His Visit to Toronto—Attempt to Collect on Street Which Began Men Fleeced Him Out of.

John E. Hayes, a farmer, residing in Houghton Township, County of Norfolk, visited Toronto while the Industrial Fair was in progress. As he was walking in King-street one afternoon he was accosted familiarly by a stranger who called him by a wrong name. The Norfolk man set the stranger right, mentioning to him incidentally what his real name was, whereupon the stranger gracefully apologized and departed. Next day the Norfolk man was again greeted in the street by a stranger who called his name accurately, and who, by his conversation, appeared to be wholly familiar with Norfolk County and Houghton Township in particular.
