THE annual meeting of Royal Scarlat Chapter of East Lambton was held in lodge room of L.O.L. 505, Watford, on the evening of January 14th, when general business was transacted and officers elected for the ensuing year. After business was concluded, adjournment was made to the home of Companion Bro. Geo. R. Rivers, where a luncheon, fit for royalty, was served by the ladies. Every part of the district was well represented, over fifty couples sitting down. After this important part of the program was disposed of, Companion Richard Brock was asked to perform the duties of the chair and on this occasion he was particularly brilliant. The night was spent in speeches, song and music, lasting until early in the morning and a very enjoyable time was spent by all present. All departed, looking forward to a year hence, when this enjoyable function will be repeated.

LINK WITH CULLODEN.—There has just occurred the death in Lochbroom, Ross-shire, Scotland, of Mr. Murdoch Macleay, in his 93rd year, a man whose grand-uncle was an eye witness of the battle of Culloden and had often described it to him. This grand-uncle had been sold to clear some sheep off the ground, and spent the rest of the day watching the battle, in which his brother was fighting. Murdoch Macleay himself was schoolmaster at Lochbroom for well-nigh half a century, and was census taker there on eight occasions. He was registrar and session clerk, loved his garden, his bees and his fishing rod. His father served in the Irish rebellion, and his brother, Captain William Macleay, died in India. The family once were owners of the small estate of Auchlach, which is now part of the Nova estate. Deceased was a distant relative of the McLays of Watford.

WATFORD Camp, Woodmen of the World, held their annual supper and supper on Tuesday evening. About fifty members were present. After the initiation of two candidates into the mysteries of the order, the installation ceremony was conferred on the officers elect by W. S. Harrison, of Toronto, Head Counsel Commander, assisted by Organizer Curtis.

THE business of the camp being concluded, the brethren adjourned to the Taylor House where a sumptuous and tasty supper was served by the proprietor Mr. Jos. A. McManus.
