At the Medical Convention of the Province of Nova Scotia, assembled at Halifax, in September, 1867, the formation of District or County Medical Societies, affiliated with the Provincial Society, was strongly urged by the Medical men present; and the usefulness of such Societies in bringing together the Medical men of a district, for the discussion of Medical subjects, the interchange of ideas, and for concerting measures suitable to the local requirements of each District or County, were pointed out.

In accordance with such recommendation, a meeting of the Medical men of the County of Halifax, was held in the City of Halifax, on the 5th day of November, 1867. A Society was then formed,—and a committee was appointed to prepare a Constitution and Bye-Laws. On the 19th November, the committee reported the following, which were adopted as the Constitution and Bye-Laws of "THE HALIFAX MEDICAL SOCIETY."

CHAS. J. GOSSIP, M. D.,
