

time, and other important subjects. I view of these things we are anxious that this paper should have a very large circulation. Our opinions are independent on all questions and we feel a great desire to advance THE RIGHT. A large circulation will better enable us to do this. The terms we offer subscribers are unprecedentedly low, and although a very great variety of news and other matter is given in this paper now, an increased circulation would encourage us to increase it. Between this and the first of May let our circulation be increased at least 1000. It is not easy for the Editor to leave the city to canvass or see friends, our duties require us here. This paper will not pay the expense of a Subscriber and travelling agents' charges would eat up half of the expense of the paper. It is nevertheless our intention to visit many parts of Canada in April and May on short visits. In the meantime our friends and agents would greatly oblige by a general canvass and renewed exertions in every quarter of the Province. We wish also that all subscribers would avail themselves of immediate payment, as a smaller sum now is better for our interests than a larger one at the end of the year.
