

"WE may conclude by stating that the cartridge cases sent us by Messrs. Kynoch proved to be admirably made, in every instance coming out without a flaw of any kind."—The Field, June 15, 1872.

"A good deal, however, depends on the manufacture of the cartridge case, and in this respect we consider Kynoch's 'Gas-tight' Cases superior to any at present manufactured for sporting guns."—Belgravia, July, 1872.

BREECH-LOADING GUNS

PAPE'S PATENT.
LEVER WEDGE CENTRAL FIRE.

Pape's Patent Self-Locking Action, Pape's Patent Needles, and Pape's Patent Extractor, a combination which will be found to make the most perfect Sporting gun yet produced.

W. R. P., having no Royalties to pay to other inventors, and being a maker who builds the Gun from raw materials of wood and iron, is enabled to give his patrons weapons unequalled for quality of materials and moderation of cost, every Gun being attested at his shooting range before sending out.

The unrivalled powers of W. R. Pape's Guns have been amply proven by their having taken the whole of the prizes for merit at the only three shot gun contests on record, held at London in 1858, 1863, and 1866, where competition was open to the gun trade of the world.
