

ROYALTY RIGHTS TO INVENTIONS

ARTICLE 17. RIGHTS TO INVENTIONS

17.1. The inventor of an invention shall have the right to apply for a patent for the invention in his own name or jointly with others.

17.2. The right to apply for a patent for an invention shall be exercised by the inventor or jointly with others, or by his legal representative, or by the person to whom the right has been assigned or by the person to whom the right has been transferred.

17.3. The right to apply for a patent for an invention shall be exercised by the inventor or jointly with others, or by his legal representative, or by the person to whom the right has been assigned or by the person to whom the right has been transferred.

17.4. The right to apply for a patent for an invention shall be exercised by the inventor or jointly with others, or by his legal representative, or by the person to whom the right has been assigned or by the person to whom the right has been transferred.

ARTICLE 18. RIGHTS TO INVENTIONS

18.1. The inventor of an invention shall have the right to apply for a patent for the invention in his own name or jointly with others.

18.2. The right to apply for a patent for an invention shall be exercised by the inventor or jointly with others, or by his legal representative, or by the person to whom the right has been assigned or by the person to whom the right has been transferred.

18.3. The right to apply for a patent for an invention shall be exercised by the inventor or jointly with others, or by his legal representative, or by the person to whom the right has been assigned or by the person to whom the right has been transferred.

18.4. The right to apply for a patent for an invention shall be exercised by the inventor or jointly with others, or by his legal representative, or by the person to whom the right has been assigned or by the person to whom the right has been transferred.

18.5. The right to apply for a patent for an invention shall be exercised by the inventor or jointly with others, or by his legal representative, or by the person to whom the right has been assigned or by the person to whom the right has been transferred.

18.6. The right to apply for a patent for an invention shall be exercised by the inventor or jointly with others, or by his legal representative, or by the person to whom the right has been assigned or by the person to whom the right has been transferred.

18.7. The right to apply for a patent for an invention shall be exercised by the inventor or jointly with others, or by his legal representative, or by the person to whom the right has been assigned or by the person to whom the right has been transferred.