Montreal.

Dear Sirs:

Dr. Collip has forwarded to me a copy of the letter you addressed to him under date of October 17th.

The University has no objections to Glaxo Laboratories applying for registration of the word "EISENIN" in Great Britain, provided that this name would be given only to placental extracts prepared in a manner that would provide adequate control by you of the integrity of the product and of such biological standards as would satisfy our Department of Biochemistry.

Yours faithfully,

Principal
