CANADIAN GOLFERS QUALIFY AT CHICAGO

Billy Bell and Dan Kenny Turn in Good Cards at Open Tournament.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—Three amateurs, including Francis Ouimet, the title holder, were among the thirty-two men who qualified for the national golf championship at Midlothian Country Club. Ouimet, playing steadily, but not brilliantly, took 145 strokes for the 36 holes, two higher than the best medal score of the day, made by James Barnes of White Marsh Club, Philadelphia.

Warren K. Wood of Homewood Club, Chicago, formerly western amateur champion of Chicago, were the other two amateurs to qualify, outstripping many professionals with 155 each.

MacDonald Smith of Oakmont made a fine 72 in the morning, but took 76 of the second round, tying with Ouimet for second best score. His 72 won him a special prize of $25 for the best morning score, while a similar prize went to James Barnes of White Marsh for the best afternoon total, also a 72.

Among others to qualify were W. J. Bell, Toronto, and Dan Kenny, Hamilton, 153; G. R. Murray, Montreal, 156.

Among those who failed to qualify were P. J. Barrett, Toronto, 162, and George Dow, Montreal, 163.

Thirty-two more players will qualify tomorrow and the sixty-four survivors from 132 entered will contest at 72 holes medal play on Thursday and Friday.

NATIONALS WOULD PLAY ROSEDALES

Have Assurance of French Players, Says Sport Murton—More Letters.

President Percy Quinn, when interviewed regarding the formal challenge sent to President Caron of the Nationals by the Rosedale N.L.U. team, stuck to the former decision of the D.L.A. "We see no reason why we should play Rosedale," said Mr. Quinn. "They appear to need the gate, while we do not, and I don't see why we should benefit them. The offer of 20 per cent. of the gate receipts to the Hospital Ship Fund appeals to me as a move for public sympathy, and is not the main issue.

"Personally I would waive my objections to the staging of such a game were the total gate receipts given to the Hospital Ship Fund. The rumors that Nationals will play despite anything the D. L.A. may say are unfounded, as I have President Caron's personal assurance that his club will abide by the ruling of the league."

The matter will be discussed at a meeting of the directors to be held in Montreal within the next two weeks, also the advisability of sending Nationals to the coast.

Sport Murton read President Quinn's reply to his challenge and says his remarks are in poor taste. Among other things the Rosedale manager says in a second letter addressed to The World:

Our boys have played the entire lacrosse season without one cent of remuneration. We are not in the proud position, as the Toronto Lacrosse Club boasts, of not needing any gates. When we made the offer of 20 per cent. of the gates which we would draw from the matches with Nationals, we calculated that we would be able to hand over to the Hospital Ship Fund two or three thousand dollars, which we considered a fair donation. The offer was made voluntarily and in good faith, and the public will decide, knowing the circumstances, whether the offer was niggardly.

We already had the assurance of the National players that they would play us, and had abundant assurance of big gates, without, as insinuated, requiring any device to augment them. To date we have failed to read of other lacrosse clubs offering a slice of their gates.

The Rosedales do not intend to vary their offer, and if the Nationals refuse to play they will hang up their lacrosse sticks at the end of the playing season.

English Cricket and the War.

With England arming, the prospect of a continuance of club cricket is a remote contingency. Many cricketers have already enrolled with the Territorials, and thousands more are bound to follow, so all able-bodied cricketers and sportsment must think of their country's honor and help against the common enemy, if required. There is no panic, but cricketers must shoulder the rifle as others are doing, in order to be prepared. Matches are now being cancelled and tours abandoned all over the country, for August is the great month for the cricket tourist.

It is difficult to suggest that all cricket matches should be suspended. Many cricketers are beyond giving military service, but all can surely do something to help King and country. The cricketer's loyalty to his King has ever been remarkably strong and profound, and now is the moment to put words into deeds.—London Sporting Life.

MUD AND ERRORS BEAT THE BEAVERS

London Captured Second Game of Series in Rain, Six to Three.

Nobody can claim that George Ort's Beavers are good "mudders." The homebrews floundered around in the mud in the first innings at the Island yesterday, making a holy show of themselves and letting the leading Londoners cross the plate six times. This was all that the Cockneys could gather, but the Ort galopers could only tally three times in the nine rounds. Thus the count was 6 to 3 for London.

The weather was much against first-class ball and the diamond was a sea of mud before the game commenced—twenty minutes late. A half-hour halt was made at the start of the third innings while old Jupe Pluve fired another broadside of real wet stuff, and the mud was only a little softer when the teams got down to hostilities again.

Alex. Graham started for the Beavers and was away to a very bad break. Five hits, coupled with four juicy boots on the part of the works behind him, gave London their six. Graham retired in the fourth to let a pinch hitter perform. Beebe went the route for the leaders and pitched nice ball, despite the fact that he was rather liberal with his free tickets. Bill Schaeffer was invincible for the five innings that he worked.

The first round was a sad affair. Wild heaves and five hits gave London six runs and the game. The Ortites got across with two in the fourth thru Beebe's inability to find the plate after the half-hour rest while it rained. Killilea and Isaacs walked, and then Snell doubled to score Marty. Linneborn let Reidy's throw get away from him and Isaacs scampered home. A walk to Hunt and Trout's triple in the ninth scored the Beavers' other run.

The series will wind up with a double-header today. Score:

Billy Hay says:

"A chap dropped in today. He'd been to a 'smoker' or else punished a cheese omelet late last night—anyway he had a genuine grouch, and started off with a choice selection of exclamations, mostly about the weather, that seldom are heard on lower Yonge Street. I said to myself, Billy, you've got to hustle and get him on the right tack.

"'There's nothing like civility,' was the first shot that got me right where the collar fits. Then the whole raft of ideas that I've tried to plant where I could get at 'em handy, came tumbling out.

"I know my goods—I believe in them—I believe in boosting them—and I knew I could satisfy him.

"The story of 'the night before' didn't leak out, but say, when he passed his optics over the genuine values I showed him, he gradually began to "open up." He was radiating smiles as he slid out the door with his goods.

"Satisfied — yes. He had a package of R. J. Tooke furnishings.

"Better come in and have a peep at some of our furnishings. They'll tickle your fancy."
