Note and Comment

Olanbala, that raced in the east 14 miles in 2:22 was unequalled to the occasion at Fort Erie yesterday. The Orus coat has been Ballot and King James, and was not himself, as he would not have run third to Jack Atkin and John Reardon. All credit to the Big Train. It was the best race of his career, the distance, and the fact that he was the favorite, establishing a new Canadian record, viz., 2:01. The former mark, 2:05, was made by Inferno, carrying 117 pounds, made at the Woodbine in 1908.

St. Catharines is next in line for the horses, and will probably be on the racing circuit in 1911. The Miller Bill, with its seven days' limitation clause, has so shortened other meetings that the racing magnates are looking for additional points at which to hold races. Two prominent men in the racing world who wish to avoid publicity just now are in St. Kitts this week. They picked out a site near the N. E. St. Kitts, Buffalo and other outside points, and expect that the new track will be ready by next year. The three day racing track, which has been turned into a site for manufacturing concerns, consequently a new track will have to be made.

The Columbus Grand Circuit meeting was productive of many new records, there being no less than seven trotters and as many pacers to take new marks around the track. The list appended shows the horses, with their times and new records:

The correspondence in connection with the Mann Cup games and controversy was submitted by request of Mr. Nelson, governor of the C.A.A.U., and Mr. Hewitt, secretary of the O.H.A., and these gentlemen unquestionably uphold the contention of W. H. Hall, secretary of the C.L.A., the council, who, the St. Catharines Athletic, with the players who won the C. L. A. championship, were properly qualified to contest for the trophy.

When Hugh McIntosh presides over a boxing function, he causes to be passed among his selected and intelligent clientele, so to speak, a nifty little gift-edged folding card (not unlike our dance tags), with pencil attached by a blue cord, and a blank space opposite the number of each round, wherein the spectator can jot down his impressions. Printed in gilt letters on the back of the card is this rather neat bit of a jolly: "This card represents a new and it is hoped, desirable feature of boxing. The man in the seat is often a clever and impartial critic. It is only wonder Mr. McIntosh has not been going through the British Empire."

The Royals started their bowling season with a grand opening last night. Joseph Russell, M.P., and Thos. Phalen, the popular alderman of Ward 10, were the guest of honor. The city father claimed the M.P. should carry weight for age, and as this was done, Joseph was declared the winner. Mr. Russell made a neat little speech, as did also Ald. Phalen and Mr. Walton, who is again president of the Toronto City Bowling Association.

Jack Atkin at 10 to 1 Wins $10,000 Handicap

Mistake by Jockey McCahey Costs John Reardon the Race—Olanbala, Favorite, Third.

FORT ERIE RACE TRACK, Oct. 4.—(Special.)—This was the opening day of the fall meet of the Niagara Racing Association. The big event of the day was the running of the $10,000 Dominion Handicap, which was won by Barney Schrelberg, who was on a head in a hard drive. It surely was a horse race—much better than any of the others. Olanbala was the favorite, and was heavily backed at even odds, closing at 4 to 1. Every horse in the race was backed, and the rest could be had at six and seven to one.

Starter Dade did not keep the field long at the barrier, and to a good break Jack Atkin was first to show passing the stand, with Donald MacDonald next and John Reardon third, the others close up, Olanbala trailing the field. They kept this order to the middle of the back stretch, where the field closed up on the flying Atkin. It was just before reaching the turn that Jockey McCahey made a false move on John Reardon, that likely cost him the race. The horse seemed full of running at this stage, and headed Jack Atkin for an instant, but McCahey made the mistake of pulling back again, instead of running Jack Atkin to the ground. The order was then: Reardon and Olanbala, were driving hard all down the stretch, but Barney Schrelberg's game horse, well ridden by Archibald, managed to stand off John Reardon, to win by a head, with Olanbala a short length away, and closing fast. The time, 2:04—a new Canadian record—showed at what speed the horses were traveling.

The winning of Jack Atkin was a sore blow to the form players. His race at Toronto, where both Love Tie and Olanbala beat him at a mile, made him a looker, and he was expected to win at a mile and a quarter. But credit must be given to Johnny Powers for the condition he was in, and to the fact that he was a big disappointment to R. F. Wilson, as the race looked a gift to the big son of Ormus. He had been running along well, and with this big race in view, and at Toronto, when it looked as if he could have taken the two big races of the meeting, his owner scratched, so that he would not take up any additional weight. He had this no excuse to drop. Got away well, but he was not in the stretch, and when Jockey Glass called on him to make his bid in the stretch it was a weak effort, and that old dash and fire were missing. His best was a mile and a half, and King James in New York. The big son of Ormus has likely staid off from his many hard races this summer.

The day was threatening and a light shower fell during the afternoon, but enough to lay the dust—but aside from that the day was ideal for racing.

Three favorites were first past the post, and the layers had much the best of the day with the bettors.

Archibald was the winning jockey, riding three winners—Jack Atkin, at 10 to 1; M. Camion, at 20 to 1; and Aroite, at 6 to 1. The other two were from the Carman Stable.

Onager took Sempronius into camp in the first race. The Carman horse was 1 to 3 in the betting.

Tom Hayward ran a good race in the third event, carrying 117 pounds. He ran the three-quarter in 1:22.5.

Donald MacDonald had worked well for the big race. He ran a mile in 1:32.4, but was just new out of that money.

Funteroy, shipped from Saratoga, and running under the colors of a 4-year-old, ran a fair race, finishing behind Donald MacDonald.

Arctic and Neithemost had a duel all down the stretch, both finishing on the outside, right under the judges' stand.

For first money in the big race, Jack Atkin took down $250; John Reardon $150; second, Olanbala $75; third, Donald MacDonald $250, fourth.

Heavyweights in Training.

The heavyweights in training for the city amateur boxing tournament. Thanks to the weather, the training was greatly disappointed on learning that Roy Day will be an absentee this fall. At least two men were in training to beat the Scotchman.

The class promises to be unusually large, and should furnish an interesting contest, as the smaller divisions. Day has secured a position as house painter, with one of the theatres and cannot take the time to train.
The registration committee of the C. A. A. U. will give out a list of the ineligible to-day or to-morrow.

Humberside and Riverdale, and Malvern and Oakwood are the High School League games slated for to-morrow.

T.A.A.C. will practice to-night at Bayville Park, rain or shine.

Chaucer Elliott is satisfied with the way his Montreal boys are showing up, and expects to win over the scullers on Saturday.
