REVIEWED

Pale women are those who suffer from lack of blood. Doctors call it ANEMIA.

They are weak, languid, listless, easily tired, short of breath, nervous and dejected.

Their lips and skin are pale and bloodless—their faces an ashen hue.

Young women are more subject to this condition of weakness than others.

The causes are mostly from close confinement in shops, factories or offices—sometimes overwork, anxiety or fatigue.

The right remedy for all these conditions is Dr. Arnold's Toin Pills for Weak People.

They are a natural tonic—perfectly harmless to the system, do not contain a single ingredient of a dangerous nature.

They create new rich blood, increase the vitality, build up the body and act as a rampart against attacks of GERMS.

To keep strong and be able to resist disease you should follow the advice given here by a sister who was once as pale, weak and nervous as you are:

A STORY FOR GIRLS.

How Miss Ida M. Kobkirk of Toronto Overcame Her Difficulties.

The Dr. Arnold Chemical Co., Limited, Toronto.

Geniuses—The following details of my case may interest you, and as I think you should know them I send you this.

In 1896 I took a position in a downtown store. My work was rather hard, but not more than I could have been able to perform under ordinary circumstances, but my health seemed to give under me. I gradually grew thinner and thinner, was distressed with a persistent headache, alternating with dizzy spells. My tongue in the mornings would be coated and feel dry and harsh. I was weak, languid and dull, and took no pleasure in work or play.

My sister, who had used Dr. Arnold's English Toin Pills, advised me to try them, and I did so. I took them three times a day, after meals, and I could hardly state that improvement began almost immediately. Day after day I grew better, until today I am in better health and stronger and feel better than I have for many years past. To Dr. Arnold's English Toin Pills, for this change is due. Yours,

"MISS IDA M. KOBKIRK," 124 Harbour-street, Toronto.
