The Star sets up the absurd theory that the men are discontented, not because their wages are in arrears, but because they have been reading the reports of their own sayingsin The World. A large number of barns thruout Canada, but more especially in Ontario, have been struck by lightning during the past season, and in most cases totally destroyed with all their contents, including the newly harvestcontents, including the newly harvested crops. It would be interesting to ascertain how many of these barns were furnished with protection in the shape of lightning rods, and also, where a barn on which were one or more lightning rods was struck and burnt, to find out whether the protecting rods in that instance were out of order, we distinct the protecting rods in the cleant of the proposal now under discussion has been disclaimed by those immediately concerned. Even in the case of There has been for some years past an inclination on the part of the farmer 'to look on lightning rods with contempt and as a waste of money to invest in them, while the term "as low down as a lightning rod agent" was considered a suitable expression to use towards one guilty of the meant to use towards one guilty of the meant acts. This grows from the arms of the case of the case of the case of the suggestion that the colonies should contribute towards the support of the imperial navy it is recognized that the claim of the colonies to control their thru the efforts of C. When the storm came these poorly built and poorly erected rods proved to be not only no protection, but an excellent medium for the lightning flash to pass along and destroy the building. The facetiative reaction came and lightning rods fell into disrepute.

There is no doubt, however, that lightning rods properly constructed and lightning rods fell into distributions are recognized by the imperialist party are workable or not is a question for open and fair discussion. All are admittedly tentative, and that the colonies are to remain free self-governing communities in as full a sense as they now are. Our point, therefore, is that to introduce into the controversy an allen element and one peculiarly susceptible of ment and one peculiarly susceptible of misconstruction casts a very sinister reflection on the position manifesto, means nothing at li. Mr. Ross and his Ministers have been sitting up nights devising schemes to help them out of a very bad position. And when I say this I do not mean that the other fellows are not in the same boat. #### MUNICIPAL MATTERS.

When the first fall frosts begin to nip the vines and maple leaves, the ronto alderman is prone to bethink him of being more wary of his words and votes in Council and committee than was his wont in the earlier months of the year. Press and public are taking closer interest in him. Ratepayers are allowing their minds to revert to their tax bills. They generally do when the coal order for the winter comes under considera tion. In the good old summer time any half reasonable excuse from a commit tee or the Board of Control will satisfy Council about an extra item of expenditure if the law but allows it In the cool and lengthening evenings of late September, however, the alderman grows quite conservative. He likes to have (whatever raises of salary he promised to support forgotten by that time. His thoughts abide with his constituents and he prefers to talk about parks for them rather than anything else you could possibly suggest.

There is an uneasy feeling around the Hall concerning the pretty big salary stipulated for the new City Architect, Robert McCallum. It is consilered rather late in the year to have the ratepayer's mind encumbered by details of either new or increased salaries. Several of the heads of departments have had substantial increases this year. All the Johns have been pegged up a notch on the pay roll. John Jones, John Chambers, John Thompson. Their business is over and disposed of; but the last has not been heard about the financial provision made for the new Architect. He is to be one of the high salaried officials of the city. Leaving out the Legal Department there will only be the following drawing ary stipulated for the new City Archiing out the Legal Department there will only be the following drawing better pay than the new Architect: The Mayor, the Treasurer, the Assessment Commissioner and the Engineer. The City Clerk will get less by $1100 than the new official. The Assistant than the new official. The Assistant City Clerk will not draw even half as much. The Chief Accountant and the Assistant City Treasurer, the Assistant Engineer, will all stand away down in comparison.

The appointment of a City Architect The appointment of a City Architect is the most unfortunate confessin the Council of 1903 could make concerning itself. The necessity for it, if necessity there is, must be found in the St. Lawrence Market muddle. The Council in dealing with that episode passed from architect to architect and gave in to pull after pull until not a shred of responsibility could fairly rest upon one architect or expert more than another. sponsibility could fairly rest upon one architect or expert more than another. Or if responsibility could be brought home, the Council was obviously afraid to enforce it. The easiest way out has been found in the creation of the new office. In the administration of the city's business, discipline and efficiency are best served by showling practical appreciation of employes who have good service to show for themselves. There are many of the lesser officials at the City Hall who merit more than the heads of departments. Their work is heavy and the pay small. The creation of new and only vaguely defined offices at salaries which many dare not aspire to is somewhat discouraging. Almost the whole Council championed the latest office made at the City Hall because there are few among the sitting aldermen who can discour some share of the general blame of the market muddle.

Will there be a political fight for the Mayoralty? This question has yet to be settled. The World has heard from a settled. The World has heard from a good source that ex-Mayor Howland is practically determined to come out, and that his wish is to have a clear contest with Mayor Urquhart. When questioned Mr. Howland simply said that he had so far announced nothing, and that when he was ready with an announcement it would be made to his

for any position. He utterly repudiated the association of party politics and municipal concerns. He is only a type. But this type does not by any means represent the average elector, in whose judgment Mayor Urquhart stands well as a man with a sound record, fond of work and energetic in the city's interests. The platform and character of the third candidate may be the deciding factor as to whether Mayor Urquhart shall be honored with a second term or not. If the third man can make an effective appeal for the workingman's suffrages he will come between the wind and His Worship, but if a Conservative comes forth Mr. Howland will be handicapped. From all The World hears the race is not to be left between two. But this type does not by any means that he had so far announced nothing, and that when he was ready with an announcement it would be made to als friends.

The four controllers in office are a unit in regard to one thing. They believe, each on his own account, that the people will send them back to the board. Unless the Mayoralty should beckon one of them from their bearings they will run confidently against carolidates coming from the present Council or from outside. Two of this year a aldermen intend to test their popularity for controllerships. Henceforth the position will be worth $1000. An additional $300 will be added to the Mayor's stipend, bringing it up to $4700, and next salary in the city's service to the Treasurer's, $5400 per annum.

The name of a third candidate is freely mentioned at the hall; but much will depend as far as he is concerned upon the way events may shape themselves a month hence. Mayor Urquhart believes that the ratepayers will not deay him a second term. To do him bare justice he is the most active Mayor who has ever held the position.

Editor World: In your Saturday edition, Sept. 26. I noticed re "Man of Hook at St. Paul, Minn., and the Efforts of the Police Surgeons," that he worked half an hour taking the fist hook out. As an expert in fish hook and fishing tackle, the idea struck mechanical working of an ordinary fish hook.

I hereby give to the world at large not deny him a second term. To do him bare justice he is the most active Mayor who has ever held the position. He takes his work so seriously that he has aged considerably within the past nine months. The cares of office had the same effect upon Mr. Howland, who, however, possessed only in a slight degree the capacity for hard work of the present chief magistrate.

The prospects of a political campaign are being talked about on every hand. The electors of Toronto have hotly resented on more than one occasion an appeal to their political leanings for the direction of their civic judgment. The World was speaking yesterday to a veteran municipal politician, a gentleman who probably never voted for a Liberal in his life for any position. He utterly repudiated the association of party politics and municipal converse. He is only a type of hook is done without mutilating or tearing the first hook.

I hereby give to the world at larg a novel and very simple method of a novel and very simple method of a person in case of accident. It is impossible to draw the hook back it is impossible to draw the hook back the same road it entered the fiels. This is where many make a mistake in trying to pull it out, and make mattern worse.
