The work of another year, with its joys and sorrows, its failures and successes, its hesitating doubt and triumphant faith, its fitful and feeble energies, and its constant and patient perseverance in well doing, is registered on high, and God's estimate of that record is final and irrevocable. While we all acknowledge that in the Sabbath School we have been unworthy and unprofitable servants, let us remember for our encouragement that we serve Him who has said, "Whosoever shall give to drink unto one of these little ones a cup of cold water only, in the name of a disciple, verily I say unto you he shall in no wise lose his reward."

The work done during the past year has been, on the whole, earnest, painstaking, and effective. What the actual spiritual results may be we cannot be expected accurately to estimate; but as we know that it is God who giveth the increase, we can with confidence expect His blessing. We are not altogether left to faith and expectation, however, as to the spiritual results of the years' work, for nine from the Sabbath School have, during the year, declared their allegiance to their Saviour, and have, in uniting with the Church, made public profession of their faith in Christ.
