flags from innumerable flag poles along miles of sea front. And it did our heart good to see "Old Glory" proudly waving defiance to Kaiser Bill along with the rest. On Friday, April 20th, there is to be an "American" day in the British Isles, when the Star-Spangled Banner will float from every public building in the land.

The fraternal messages to the American nation from the King, Lloyd George, and other prominent British statesmen are fully indersed by the man in the street, and our pro-Americanism is in better favor today than it was in those scul-trying days when von Tirpitz was ruthlessly kicking Uncle Sam's dawn around. President Wilson has fully satisfied the British public that he will remove all the surpus st from the bosom of the pants of the gets arman war lords before he gets rough with them. More power to note Sam's boot.

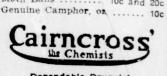

The stirring news from the western cont seems to indicate that the British army is causing von Hindenburg onsiderable anxiety, and the splendid success of the Canadians at Vimy ridge has won unstinted praise for the lads from the land of the Maple Leaf.

History repeats itself and the "Day of Judgment" is rapidly drawing near for Kaiser Bill and his war lords. Yours as ever, FRED YOUNG.

There were plenty of amusing things during the evening. The crowd did not go into the city hall, but remained outside, where the evening was spent in speeches, and more speeches as the society reporter would have it. There were speeches with the punch too. Things were said about the aldermen, and their methods of doing business. "Send down Ald. Dyer," one man shouted. "Bring him down, and let the workingmen have a look at him. He will get the busiest evening that he ever had." Ald. COAL PARADE NOT

PRICE OF COAL The great "coal parade" held in London was a ready weapon to move the city council to take steps to attempt to bring down prices, but it had a deeper meaning than that. The movement was born of the ersal protest against uncontrolled and exorbitant prices. What the city will be able to buy coal for remains to be seen, but the fact that coal is high and the price not explained satisfactorily, and that people suffered for lack of it, brought the cry of pain from the city. This cry of pain will be heard eatable that is handled by commodities. Speculation in wheat, in sugar, in canned goods, in every eatable that his handled by combines, guilds and trusts, must be faced by some body of legislators. If the parties are not big enough to respond to the need, then the people will take the matter in their own hands. London is in the lead. Antagonism to the coal dealer is not the question. The matter has to be investigated, and those who have the power to control the price of commodities are inert and spineless. Prices are searing again. Bread Prices are soaring again. Bread has just gone up one more cent, and will go higher unless the Government sets a price for wheat that is not born of the desire of men to become rich by gambling. While the people are tightening their belts the gamblers are busy with their dice. The Advertiser has interviewed housewives, grocers and others, who realize the vital necessity of food control. The United States adopted food control, and Canada may be aroused after three years of lethargy.

WHEAT IS BEING HELD Elevators Full While Speculators Wait For Rise

in Price. Little hope for lower bread prices was expressed by local bakers today in discussing the increase to 10 cents a loaf which went into effect here after the rise in Toronto on Monday. The steadily-increasing price of flour is given as the reason for the rising bread prices, but whether the high quotations on this principal ingradient are due to a real shortage or to speculation and "corners," the majority of them claimed they were unable to say with authority. A number of them stated that they would be in favor of Government control, or at least an investigation. Some of the bakers claim that they are no longer able to make contracts for flour, and point to this as an indication that the flour is being held for higher prices. Quotations on barrels of flour are now at $15.50 and $16 and the bakers ex-Quotations on barrels of flour are now at $15.50 and $16, and the bakers express themselves as unwilling to buy a large quantity at this figure even if it were obtainable. A sudden drop in prices if they had a large-sized stock on hand would mean a loss of hundreds of dollars to them. A drop of 40 cents a hundredweight only a short time ago gives foundation, they say, to their fear that the bottom may drop out of the market. market.

If Properly Handled.

One of the larger breadmen was of the opinion that there were no "corners" here. "If wheat is being held by anyone, it's by the Allies' food commission," he said. "Would Government control of the supplies here improve conditions here?" he was asked. "I should think so, if it were properly handled," he replied.

That a Government investigation of the causes of flour shortage would produce much good even if it were not followed by control of the product was the opinion held by another baker. He thought it possible that thousands of bushels of wheat might be held in the large grain elevators of the West possibly because of inadequate transportation facilities, but more likely in the hope of still higher prices. The majority of the bakers, however, would not commit themselves to similar statements, as they were in touch only with the smaller millers, and had not the opportunity to study the larger markets.

Many ingredients Rise.

Other ingredients as well as the flour have increased several times. Potatoes are now $5 a bag, a price at which the bakers say, it is impossible to use them in bread making at a profit. This has If Properly Handled.
