Good Things Coming to Theatres of St. John

"GANDEN OF ALLAH," A GREAT LOVE STORY

A boarding-house does not sound like a very "romantic" spot wherein to place the greater part of the scenes in a motion picture, but Director J. Eearle Dawley and Billie Burke together have injected into "The Mysterious Miss Terzy," the star's latest picture for Paramount, all of the charm and romance of Southern Italy, or any one of the snots.

Among the easy reach of practically every this sound are the realism. Among the source will be a sound are sung in this act are "I Want To Go Home," and "We Beat You At The Marné," written by Lieuteng to Gitz Rice of the First Canadian Regiment.

Where the Germans Passed. (Kenneth L. Roberts, in N. Y. Life.) The Germans passed this way
In Nineteen-Seventeen;
Masses of filthy clay
O'er spread the fields, once green;
The homes, once snug and neat,
Are naught but rubbish piles; Empty the village street; Empty of hearts of smiles.

Devils in green-gray suits,
Creatures of darkest night,
Lowest of all the brutes,
They came like a dreadful blight.
Honor they held as naught,
Right was beyond their ken;
How could our God have wrought
Such fiends in the shape of men?

Pleurette, the young and fair,
They fouled and flung aside;
Old Jacques, with snow-white hair,
They beat until he died;
Of Jean they made a slave,
And shipped him o'er the Rhine;
And others, in the grave,
Can tell worse tales than mine!

Our trees lie on the ground; Our fields are sown with shells; Ruin and death abound.

Ali, all is foul decay;

There's scarce a thing that's clean,

For Germans passed this way

In Nineteen-Seventeen!

(From Poems of the War by Wm. Letts)

Blood-sodden and unkempt,
As never in his young carelessness he'd That he could pray.

He prayed;
Not that the pain should cease,
Nor yet for water in the parching heat,
Nor for death's quick release,
Nor even for the tardy feet
Of stretcher-bearers bringing aid.

Cast neipless on the bloody sod:
"Don't trouble now, O God, for me,
But keep the boys. Go torward with them, God! O speed the Camerons to victory!"

The kilts flashed on: "Well played,"
he sighed, "well played."

Just so he prayed.
