

These Chips and the Old Block, Himself Make Scrappingest Family In Whole U. S. A.

(By Hugh S. Fullerton) Here are six Chips and the old block off which they came.

No one yet has been able to knock the block off the old Chip either, or many chips off the block. They are the fightingest, scrappingest family in America—and if anyone of the six Chips thinks he can lick the old man he'll take them on at catch weights out back of the woodshed and take all their titles away from them.

and the boys think he will be the best boxer of them all in a short time. Charlie, Paul and Ignatius all are boxers. Jimmy Dime, impresario of the prize ring has adopted the entire Chip family and is their official manager. All six of the boys are in active training under the management of Dime and he can arrange one of the loveliest little boxing shows in the country without leaving the dinner table.

The father is an active athlete and was a boxer in his youth and still loves to don the gloves for a friendly bout with the boys. One might imagine that a real family now in the Chip family would be great—$50 worth of fighting free—but as a matter of fact they are one of the happiest and most peaceable of families, and devoted to each other. If anyone swung on Ignatius there would be an air full of chips in a minute—and probably a dime or two mixed in for Jimmy, as he has fallen in love with all and considers himself a member of the family.

OH, SEE THE FIFTY MEN FIGHTING. WHY DO THEY BEAT AND KICK EACH OTHER AND CHEW EACH OTHER'S EARS? THEY ARE BOXING FANS. BUT I THOUGHT PRIZE-FIGHTING WAS FORBIDDEN. IT IS. THE LAW FORBIDS BOXERS TO FIGHT TO A DECISION SO THESE FIFTY MEN ARE FIGHTING TO DECIDE WHICH BOXER WON A SIX ROUND BOUT WITH SOFT GLOVES.

Nervous Prostration and Heart Troubles.

Nervous Prostration, or Neurasthenia, is one of the worst forms of nerve trouble and brings about a general weakness of the whole nervous system. The symptoms presenting themselves are headache, a feeling of depression, disturbed and restless, unrefreshing sleep, often troubled with dreams, fright when in crowded places, dread of being alone, horror of society, irritability at travelling, muscular weakness, sense of fatigue upon effort, etc.

JESS WILLARD NEXT CHAMPION?

Jack Curley Sure of it and Tells How it is Going to Happen

The following article makes it clear that Jess Willard's manager, intends to boost him so that he will be a good drawing card when he meets Jack Johnson for the heavyweight championship of the world next month. Jack Curley, Willard's manager says: "I know Jess Willard will be crowned for not taking on a lot of big fellows before the fight. They say he is afraid of getting whipped. Ain't that right? Afraid of getting whipped! Hasn't the big fellow whipped every man he has ever met? Didn't he hit Dan Delo so hard that he didn't come back until the following morning? The same happened to Rodeo, Kearns and Bull Young. Poor Young never did come back. Just suppose that something would happen to that fellow's hands just before a fight of this importance. A man who hits the terrific blow that he does might injure his hands for all time.

LESTER PATRICK HAS FAITH IN HOCKEY

Big Coast Player Uses Brains on Ice and in Executive Capacity—Boomed Game in West.

As hockey promoters and players the Patrick brothers, Lester and Frank, are known to hockey followers right across Canada. Frank Patrick's position as president of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, his three seasons as president of the eastern clubs and his innovations in the playing rules have kept his name up, but none the less Lester, the younger brother, who plays and captains the Victorias is a big figure in the winter game.

Lester has been at it for fifteen seasons and is still a great player. Last year he had a record for long that the stories of his prowess which came out of British Columbia before the Stanley Cup series last winter were seldom taken at par. Toronto found him a great stick-handler, a good shot, and an effective check.

His rushing was the peculiar good point in his work. He usually went from end to end. He might seem to lose the puck in a mix-up as he went along, but his quickness, strength and length of arm usually scooped the disc back to his stick. He would follow, follow, follow the puck even when an opponent had stolen it and was circling around for a start back. Before the crowd would realize it he was under way for the Toronto goal again. Cameron and Marlett could not bodycheck him away from the puck, for he carried about 180 pounds of bone and muscle. Jack Walker, with his famous poke and square checks, had a real hard proposition in the smooth sneaky veteran.

Lester's first fame was as a player with the Westmont Club in Montreal fifteen seasons ago. He must have been quite a youngster then for he is about thirty now. He started as a cover-point and has stayed there. Soon he was with the Wanderers of the years before the famous "Little Men of Iron" won the Stanley Cup. He was with the Brandon team ten years ago when Joe Hall was with the home town. Then Lester got into the lumbering business with his brother Frank in British Columbia. The two boomed hockey around Nelson, B. C., and three seasons ago were ready to put the Pacific Coast on a big half of the hockey map.

The Patricks got law and a decision about exempting the class AA clubs from draft, the adoption of a playing schedule for next season and a discussion as to the probable dissolution of the national commission, which is being advocated now.

As a Guide to the Soldier How does the British soldier come to be known by the nickname of Tommy Atkins? The name which we have come to use as a term of affection and honor was first given in 1815, the time of the battle of Waterloo, when the army forms bore the signature "Thomas Atkins, his mark" as a guide to the soldier in filling up the particulars required. At that time there were many soldiers who could neither read or write.

Mr. McGovern, a heavyweight gentleman of London's East End, who had never been known to work, suddenly became heroic, and enlisted, says Judge. The following dialogue took place between Mrs. McGovern and a lady, Mrs. McGovern being happy and complacent in the receipt of the 37.6 from the war office. Mrs. McGovern—Good morning miss. Lady—Good morning, Mrs. McGovern. I hear Mr. McGovern has gone to the war. Mrs. McGovern (cheerfully)—Yes, miss. Lady—Well, Mrs. McGovern, what do you think of this terrible war? Mrs. McGovern—Lord, lady! I hope it will last forever!
