

LAPOINTE HOLDS MEIGHEN TO BLAME FOR DOUCET STATEMENTS

FORMER JUSTICE MINISTER OPENS ONTARIO TOUR

Criticizes Advice Given Governor-General on Dissolution Matter

Canadian Press
BRANTFORD, Ont., Aug. 27.—Declaring that he did not hold A. J. Doucet, responsible for his statements concerning the launch Margaret, but rather Premier Arthur Meighen, who had been on the platform, when Mr. Doucet's statement was made, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, former Minister of Justice, opened his Ontario tour last evening.

He spoke in the interests of W. Ross Macdonald, Liberal candidate in Brantford, and T. Scott Davidson, Liberal-Progressive candidate in Brant. He was accompanied by Hon. J. A. Robb, Senator A. C. Hardy, and Senator Archie McCorr, all of whom spoke briefly.

Stating that the important issues of the campaign were those which the citizens themselves decided, Mr. Lapointe recalled that the Liberal administration, after the last general election, had been called a "rump" government. But it was not a "shadow" government, he said, with but one minister sworn in. And the "rump" government, he said, defeated the "shadow" government three times.

ASSAILS MEIGHEN

He recalled that Mr. King had asked for dissolution which was refused. Mr. Meighen was called and accepted the task of forming a government, thereby assuming responsibility for refusal of dissolution to Mr. King.

Six gentlemen, he said, were sworn in as acting ministers, but the House decided the government was not properly constituted and voted it out. The House was dismissed the next day. He held that this was the issue—not the dragging in of the Crown, as the Conservative charged. The constitution, he said, had been violated. Liberals denounced Mr. Meighen and his friends for they were the usurpers, not the Crown, for they recognized that the Crown could do no wrong.

It was the advice given by Mr. Meighen, he was criticizing.

WRECKAGE IDENTIFIED AS THAT OF OVERDUE BOAT SADIE A. KNICKLE

Part Owner of Missing LaHave Schooner Sees Name on Barrel; Captain of Arieux Sure Vessel Has Foundered and Broken Up

HALIFAX, Aug. 26.—Messages reaching this city tonight confirmed the fears current during the past fortnight that the LaHave schooner Sadie A. Knickle had been lost with her entire crew of 22 Nova Scotia fishermen.

The message came from the Department of Fisheries patrol cruiser Arieux, which was despatched to Sable Island from Halifax yesterday with orders to identify the wreckage believed to be from the missing schooner.

According to information wirelessly to North Sydney tonight and relayed on here, Captain Parkes, part owner of the Sadie A. Knickle who accompanied the Arieux, was able to identify the schooner's water tank and four barrel which had been washed up on the bar four miles from the northwest light.

NAMED MARKED ON BARREL

"Sadie Knickle, La Have," was marked on the head of the barrel in blue pencil.

Special despatch to a local paper from its correspondent aboard the Arieux stated that Captain Parkes was sure the Knickle had foundered and broken up owing to the fact that the four had been stored below deck. The Arieux would continue her cruise tomorrow when it was expected that the bulk of the ill-fated schooner would be located.

The beach was strewn with wreckage for miles said the despatch.
