The French war hero, Europe's leading boxer, will on that day engage Battling Levinsky, veteran light-heavy-weight, in a fifteen-round bout to a decision under the auspices of the International Sporting Club and Promoter Jack Curley virtually has been selected as Carpentier's American manager for the bouts in which the Frenchman will participate in this country. For this specific bout the International Sporting Club, according to Managing Director William A. Gavin, has assumed Curley's end of the contract with Carpentier. Curley will retain his connection with

Contract Not Interfered With.

The coming bout will not interfere with the contract said to be held by Charles A. Cochran, British boxing promoter, governing the ring activities of Carpentier. There is no possibility of conflict, according to Promoter Curley, who, in discussing this end of the match, said that Cochran's contract with Carpentier provides only for a bout between the European idol and Champion Dempsey. Carpentier, according to Curley, is free to arrange an yother matches he may think advisable.

Columbus Day has been definitely selected for the bout, but nevertheless the date hinges on the outcome of the struggle for the National League baseball championship. Director Gavin said that should Brooklyn win the pennant and participate in the world's series, the bout would be deferred, probably until October 26.
