thorized Agenta—The following agents are authorized to canvass and collect for the Even-nes: H. Cecil Keirstead, S. K. Smith, Miss Helen W. Hallett, and J. E. Cogswell.

There has been another dreadful occurrence at Ottawa. The story is told with bated breath by the correspondent of the St. John Standard. The Ottawa correspondent of a Boston paper has dared to say that the alleged forty million dollars of graft referred to in the Gutelius report on the National Transcontinental had shrunk under analysis to seven thousand dollars, and that the whole affair was an attempt on the part of the Borden government to discredit Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues. This dreadful correspondent even appears to have had the hardihood to suggest that Mr. Borden himself was a party to the affair, and to the misleading summary sent out in advance of the report itself to be printed broadcast in the tory press of the country. Of course the sent at the course of the country. Of course the course of the country to the course of the country. Of course the course of the country to the affair, and to the misleading summary sent out in advance of the report itself to be printed broadcast in the tory press of the country. Of course the course of the country to the affair of the country. Of course the course of the country transportation is secured.

The company also leased a block on Spruce street, and spent upon it $55,000 the spent it open in $55,000 the province of British Columbia, observes his forty-seventh birthed to province of British Columbia, observes his forty-seventh birthed to province of the province of British Columbia, observes his forty-seventh birthed to province of the province of British Columbia, observes his forty-seventh birthed to province of the province of Rode ducation of the province of Rode and a medical graduate of McGill University. Since he took charge of the educational department of British Columbia as even years ago, he has developed to the educational department of British Columbia as even years ago, he has developed to the educational department of British Columbia as even years ag There has been another dreadful oc- hundred families. The self-contained summary sent out in advance of the report itself to be printed broadcast in the tory press of the country. Of course this is very scandalous. It is all right to charge Sig Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues with having distributed graft to the extent of forty million dollars, but to charge Mr. Borden or any of his saintly colleagues with even the desire to make political capital against the Liberals is a crime of the first magnitude. The Standard's correspondent says that a cabinet minister declares this matter cannot be allowed to pass. Of course anot. The wretched man who sent this vile slander to a Boston paper must be brought to the bar of the house and severely punished for his crime. If he had brought to the bar of the house and severely punished for his crime. If he had told the readers of the Boston paper that Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his friends were thieves and robbers, it would of course have been a meritorious performance, and he might even hope some day to be made the Ottawa correspondent of a tory paper; but now he must take his medicine, however bitter the dose may

FOR BETTER HOUSING

It is worthy of note that both Ontario and Quebec have adopted legislation to provide for the financing of importance of providing the immigrants pouring into the country with better environment, better houses, and a better education than many of them are tion to provide for the financing of improved housing enterprises, and that a similar measure is now being considered by the government of Manitoba.

The initiative was taken in the province of Ontario, where what is called the Hanna Act empowers city and town councils to guarantee the bonds of housing companies (with the Hanna Conditions in the Council of the Country with better environment, better houses, and bunch o' bobbies to arrest that silk-hated guy! What did he do?

The initiative was taken in the proving into the country with better houses, and bunch o' bobbies to arrest that silk-hated guy! What did he do?

To be fying the Militants. The initiative was taken in the province of Ontario, where what is called the Hanna Act empowers city and town councils to guarantee the bonds of housing companies (which are organized to improve housing and not for profit) to the extent of eighty-five per cent of the value of their land and buildings, the remaining fifteen per cent to be private capital, represented by stock of the company paid in cash. Any such company cannot pay more than six per cent per annum to its shareholders. This, as Mr. W. S. B. Armstrong, secretary of the Toronto Housing Company, Limited, of which H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught is patron, points out in a letter to the Times is in some respects an entirely new type of constructive housing legislation, and the governments of all the provinces should give it immediate consideration, with a view to the enactment of the same over a full-wavenum and the same over a full-wavenum and social conditions in some districts are very ways a self-confident race. This man working that conditions in some districts are very ways a self-confident race. This man tending had. One significant fact is that a working man's house of six rooms which the remaining fifteen per cent of the value of their land and buildings, the remaining fifteen per cent of the value of the company paid in cash. Any such company cannot pay more than six per cent per annum to its shareholders. This, as Mr. W. S. B. Armstrong, secretary of the Toronto Housing Company, Limited, of which H. R. of the same or a similar measure. Mr. Armstrong sends to the Times a copy of the first annual report of the Toronto Housing Company, Limited. It is entitled "Better Housing in Canada—The Toronto Plan," and begins with a foreword from Hon. W. J. Hanna, so well known in connection with the Ontario act to provide prison farms, and other legislation for the improvement of social conditions. Hon. Mr. Hanna says: Mr. Armstrong sends to the Times a other legislation for the improvement of social conditions. Hon. Mr. Hanna says:

"Canada should do more than banish the slums. The old countries are doing that. Society is responsible for the slums, and society must pay for their removal, which will require something in the nature of a surgical operation on the body politic. But better housing has a far wider application than the slum problem. It means better living conditions for the great masses of wage-earners, and will bring with it a toning up of our whole social and industrial system. Enabling legislation will be necessary in every province. We, in Canada, have made a beginning, and the results set out in this pamphlet, obtained under an act passed this year, would indicate that we are on the right track. I agree with the statement that every Canadian workman of steady habits ways be the starting point for strengthening and elevating the social conscience and the national life."

The report says that the Toronto Housing Company sought during its first year chiefly to understand its mission and get a well defined plan for work. It met with many difficulties, but made substantial progress. When legislation was sought, Hon. Mr. Hanna co-operated in framing a bill, which was unanimously adopted by the legislature, and which enables all cities and towns in the province to solve to a large extent the problem of providing houses at moderate prices. Civic aid, voluntary ecoperation, and administration by specially constituted bodies are the principles underlying the movement and embodied in the act.
