NOTED ENGLISHMAN
AUTHORITY ON SPORT

The Earl of Lonsdale, who is one of the greatest sportsmen and authorities on sport living. As Hereditary Admiral of Cumberland and Lord Warden of the West Marches, he is virtually king of the north-west corner of England, and is fabulously wealthy.

DOPELETS BY FULLERTON

Anxious—Yes, we recall Steve O'Donnell. He was the other fellow Peter Maher knocked out.

Peep into the past—Forty days ago Jim Gilmore announced that in forty days organized baseball would meet its Waterloo.

Admiral Pillsbury calculates that the Gulf stream flows 30,000,000,000 tons of water per hour. What a grand estimate of baseball attendance his ads would make.

The Boston Globe wants to know what a Halcyon day is! One on which both home teams win, of course.

THE TURF

Records Smashed at Cleveland.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 21—Records fell right and left at the second day of the Grand Circuit harness races at North Randall this afternoon. In the first heat of the 2:05 pace, Dr. Burns, Jr., forced William, champion three-year-old pacer of 1913, to a mark of 2:02, which is a record for a four-year-old pacer. William did the second heat in 2:02-4. The two heats are the fastest ever paced by a four-year-old or by a stallion. In the third and final heat of the Ohio stakes, the day's classic, Star Winter established a new mark of 2:06 for the event, and also trotted the fastest mile of the year on any track.

Lee Asworthy captured the Fasig three year old trot, 2:12 class, in two straight heats. The final heat was done in 2:08, and the first in 2:08-4, the fastest heat and two heats the event was ever run in. Aside from the setting of new marks, the chief excitement of the day came with the first race, for 2:12 trotters. The other events were all captured in straight heats. In the first race, after Sterling Hall had won the first heat, Duchess finishing fourth, Duchess took the next three with little trouble.

RIFLE

At Blaisy.
The first series for the Kolopore Cup was shot yesterday.

The Mother Country and Australia have each scored 258 on the three hundred yards range; Canada made 265; India, 250; and Guernsey, 241.

AQUATIC

George Meehan of Charlestown, Mass., is the proud wearer of the amateur long distance championship crown, if the Marathon swim from the Battery to Sandy Hook on Sunday carried with it the title, and the New York Tribune advertised it as a titular event. There will always be more or less discussion between the friends of Meehan and Sam Richard of South Boston, however, as to who is the logical champion, and the friends of the South Boston man will argue that because Meehan won the Battery-Sandy Hook swim his victory does not entitle him to the title.

Swimmers point to Richard's record of five hours fifteen minutes from Charlestown bridge to Boston Light to his unequalled performance of swimming from Charlestown to Boston Light and return, and to the duplication of his feat of last September when he negotiated the Battery-Sandy Hook swim for the second time, and in practically the identical time of last year.

RING

Harry Pollock, who is the manager of lightweight champion Freddie Welsh, will give ex-champion Ritchie a chance to win back the title in six months providing he agrees to conditions that cannot be classed as wrong. Ritchie cannot find any fault with the demands, writes Daniel Sanders in the Boston Globe.

The fact that Ritchie stated after he was defeated that if Welsh would box him again he would wage $25,000 may be the cause of no match being made. That is a lot of money for any one to wager on a scrap, and it is doubtful if any one in the game, Ritchie included, will put up such an amount. This is likely to be another case where a boxer, wanting to give the public the impression that he has a big bank roll behind him, has made a statement which may react against his chances.

Manager Pollock realizes that another match between Welsh and Ritchie would draw a pot of money, especially in Ritchie's own state, and is trying to arrange the match.

1—Ritchie must give Welsh the same terms Welsh conceded to Ritchie in the Olympia contest, namely, $15,000 guarantee, with the privilege of getting 50 per cent of the gate receipts, and $10,000 in cash for relinquishing his interest in the "movie."

2—Ritchie must make the $25,000 side bet he states he is willing to make.

3—Ritchie must box at the weight where he won the championship from Walsgat, namely 128 pounds ring-side.

Welsh will (1) meet Ritchie in California; (2) accept a Californian referee, and (3) agree that Ritchie shall have the match within six months from the time he fulfills the stipulations as to the purse and side bet.

Outfines Bonaparte.
The French people have become wild over George Carpentier since he defeated Gunboat Smith. A French correspondent cables the following about the return of Carpentier to Paris:

"When Napoleon Bonaparte came back to Paris from Austria the frenzied populace whooped it up considerably, but the noise made for Napoleon was nothing compared to that which greeted Georges Carpentier when he returned after his battle with Gunboat Smith at the Olympic in London.

"Paris people went mad over their first world's champion pugilist on whom they literally rained kisses. Extra police were called out to save the fighter from the oscillatory reception accorded him."

Levinisky Beats Flynn.
New York, July 21—Batting Levinisky, of New York, outbatted Porky Flynn, of Boston, in a ten round bout here tonight.

"A STRANGE MELODY"

It is said that "Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast." Here is a man, a gambler, and one of the wickedest of his kind, he had killed and would kill on a slight provocation. There was no sentiment or softness in his heart, he was simply a brute, but he had a passion for music. One evening a gift, coming to him to plead that he would save her brother from the gambling fever, played a sacred air. The brute was charmed and offered a big price if she could teach him to play it. The price she wanted was the reformation of her brother. The gambler gave her a chance and she succeeded so well that at last she deceived him to the organ loft of the church, there in the quiet Sanctuary of holiness he fell in love and begged her to tell him how he could make him self worthy of the love of so sweet a girl, she told him to change his life from wickedness to worthiness and he did. The sacred melody had saved a soul, made the brute a man and won a Christian wife. The leading roles were played by Carol Holloway and Joseph Smiley.

"The Janitor's Revenge"
A scorchingly funny Biograph farce with an all star cast.

"The Mystery of the Milk"
Another comedy by the Biograph Company, 'HIS, I SMELL A CLUE.'

Players We Know

Pat Duggan, formerly with the Fredrickson Pets and now operating with the Haverhill club in the New England League, has just one point to make to reach the 300 hitting mark. His average including Saturday's games, was .259. Reed, last year with Bangor, now with Pittsburg, in the New England, is swatting at the rate of .312.

Pitcher Stone of Worcester, who has been seen on the local diamond, has a perfect pitching record this season—he won the only game in which he heaved. Frank Harrington, now with Fall River, in the Colonial League, is leading that aggregation in stick-work. His mark of .948 is eight points better than the next competitor. Other former N. B. and Maine Leaguers are well up in the standing, including Jacobson, of Brockton, with .887, and Murphy, of Woonsocket, .888. Harrington's pitching average is .938.

MARTIN DELANEY MAY GET BIG HONOR.

Known the world over as a great trainer of athletes, Martin Delaney may be asked to train the American team for the next Olympic games. Delaney who is now with the Chicago Athletic club, has had great success with that organization, his teams winning most every track meet in which they were entered.
