TO AVOID COAL STRIKE

Lockout for Indefinite Period Proposed

Anthracite and Bituminous Men Hold Conference—Action Involves About 400,000 Miners—Some of Mitchell's Demands Will Not Be Granted.

Pittsburg, Sept. 25.—As a precaution against the rumored coal strike it is proposed that the operators on April 1, 1906, close down every mine in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, West Virginia, and part of Kentucky for an indefinite period. A meeting of the coal operators of all these States has been called for Nov. 22 at Chicago. The meeting will be asked to discuss a plan to force the United Mine Workers to accept a reduction of ten tons to fifteen cents a ton in mining rates or force a fight for extermination of the unions. Anthracite operators are credited with being the advocates of such a policy. The bituminous coal operators favor advancing the price of coal, it is said, by closing down the mines to limit the output. The anthracite operators never hitherto have been willing to deal with the union, and have about 30,000 miners employed in Eastern Pennsylvania under individual contracts. All the wage scales in the States named, as nearly all the mining scales of the country, expire on April 1. The coal miners are getting better wages than ever before in the history of the industry. The bituminous operators want this reduced to seventy cents a ton, and the coal miners will have to meet this proposal at the coming January wage conference. The Eastern coal operators will not be represented at this gathering. The anthracite operators have been pining to coal and will do so all winter. The soft coal producers will fill their docks at both ends of the lakes and load every boat, barge and scow available. The bituminous operators have reached an understanding whereby no contracts are to be accepted for delivery after April 1. It is expected that on that date coal will advance at least fifty cents a ton. Several big Pittsburg concerns have been unable to make contracts for fuel before April 1. Storage facilities cannot be had on short notice. Francis L. Robbins, president of the Pittsburg Coal Company, who is also chairman of the Interstate agreement, heads companies which mine and ship more coal than the Reading, Erie and Lackawanna railroads, said:

"The consumer has been getting his coal too cheap. It is the fault of overproduction. The stockholder having his money invested in coal properties is entitled to get something out of it, which is not getting. The Eastern operators have already begun storing their coal. We have not the facilities to store our product, except to load the docks and our boats, which is a thing we do not want to do. There is a general agreement to shut down, not just what will be done at the Chicago meeting in November. John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, has made certain demands on the anthracite operators, some of which I know they will not grant. The miners want an eight-hour workday, recognition of the union in some shape, a minimum wage scale for unskilled laborers about the mines, and increased uniform pay for boys. None of our patrons would object to paying ten or fifteen cents a ton more for coal, provided the other fellow did not get his coal cheaper. An advance of ten cents a ton on coal would mean a net gain of $2,000,000 to our company, a nice dividend and enough for a surplus. The consumers will be asked to pay their end of the cost of mining, but here we will be up against the same proposition again. The miners in the Pittsburgh district believe in him. There are about 400,000 men employed in the coal mining industry who will be affected by the proposed shut-down. Taking the shipping crews into account, who would also be idle, would bring the list up to fully 500,000 men. The Pittsburg Coal Company employs 65,000 men. The output of the mines affected, estimated on the tonnage in 1904, is 23,186,782 tons a month. Soft coal has been selling as low as 82 cents a ton. Anticipating a shut-down, prices already have advanced, and $1.05 is being paid. The officials of the United Mine Workers say they will have good chance to hold out against a sweeping reduction in pay, as the coal miners have been working steadily for nearly three years, and have been getting better pay than before since 1890.

TOOK LEAD PENCIL FROM MAN'S APPENDIX

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Robert Hanners, a baker, 24 years of age, walked into the county hospital this evening and announced to the physician in charge: "Doctor, two years ago I swallowed a lead pencil, and it's bothering me a bit."

The doctor laughed at him, but Hanners stuck to his story and complained of a severe pain in his right side. His case was diagnosed as appendicitis, and as a case that required immediate operation. The pencil, five inches in length, and sharpened at one end, was found imbedded in the appendix as Hanners had predicted. He will recover.
