Gambling at Homburg.

The luck which some persons seem to have in hitting the succ most singular. Rapidly, however, as money may be sometimes won at the roulette table, it is as rapidly lost. From eleven o'clock in the morning till eleven at night, the rattle of the marble is to be heard incessantly from year's end to year's end, on Sundays and Saturdays alike. The number of turns in the hour averages about forty; and supposing the establishment to win only a turn, the gains throughout the year would, at this rate, amount to £14,600. The sums gained by the bank on Sundays throughout the year must be very large, for the roulette table is always crowded on that day by persons from Frankfort. The chief and highest players at Homburg are generally Germans, and high stakes are sometimes seen laid down by Germans very ommon in appearance. The French and Russians, who are often great players, genname of Garcia. Two years ago he won, by the most daring play, at Homburg alone, £70,000. His winnings at other place during the year rose, it is said, to £30,000. so that, in that one year, Dame Fortune had smiled on him to the value of £100. 000. The reckless man, however, contin ued to play; the fickle goddess deserted her votary, and all his gains were lost last year more rapidly than they had been made. He is at present to be seen at Homburg on the scene of his former triumphs; but as is the ease with all fellows who have lost their money, the world of gamblers and gazers point him out as a fallen hero. Occasion however he tries to win back the smiles of Fortune but she continues cov. and will not listen. When he plays, it is thought to be on commission, or as the agent of small knot of players. Many English play at Homburg, but few lay down high stakes The sum of money, however which they contribute to the bank is, perhaps, by no means inconsiderable. One of the chief characters at the roulette table is a Russian ady of high rank, once a brilliant ornament of the Court of Alexander. She is an excellent, a kind-hearted, and most lady-like woman; but her pass:on for roulette is Her tall figure, with the large brown straw wide awake on her head, strikes all strangers as most singular, as she stands over the roulette table and scatters floring upon the numbers. She gains often but on the whole she loses heavily. She plays, however, like a gentlewoman, neve ses her temper, never says anything tha may wound the feelings of even a croupier. and never claims any stake that does not belong to her. The filching of the money of other people is one of the industrie actively carried on at Homburg, and even English women have been known to try their hands at this disreputable trick. The arrival at the table of a greenhorn, or the inattention of a player, are the occasions on which these light-fingered gentry ply their vocation. In the evening, when the tables are crowded, a player must keep a sharp lookout on his money, or else it may vanish whilst his back is turned. The managing body of the establishment exercises a des potic power over all persons who come within the rooms. Any person suspected of cheating in any way is watched, and if found out, he is either drummed out of the town or handed over to the civil authorities of the place. But the utmost vigilance cancharacters .- London Review.

A Mysterious Crime.

FIFTY YEARS AGO The last number of the London contains a remarkable story of the mysterious disappearance of Mr. Bathurst, a British Euroy Extraordinary to the Court of Vienna in 1809, and the recent discovery of a probable clue to his murder, which is supposed to have been committed by order of the first Napoleon. We condens the account as follows :-

On Saturday, the 25th of November. 1809, Benjamin Bathurst, Envoy Extraor dinary of the British Government to Aus tria, arrived at the house of the postmaster of the little Prussian town of Perleberg ions, and on the high road from Berlin t Hamburg. He was accompanied by a Ger man courier, named Krause. Mr. Bathurst and this courier alighted, and gave orders for the immediate continuation of the jour ney, and while the horses were being harnessed to the carriage, went into the hostelry, adjoining the postoffice, to take some arrived of the horses being about to be harnessed to the carriage. On receiving this appeared, Mr. Wagstaffe, a King's messen welcome intelligence, Mr. Bathurst left his ger, was siezed and robbed of despatches few seconds, but was astonished not to find his master in the place where he thought and justice. him to be. He waited and waited for minutes, for hours, but did not see him make greater importance, was very likely effected his appearance. The Hon. Benjamin Bath. also with much more circumspection. There of the most picturesque and poetical descrip-on arriving at Perleberg found that the if it were proved to a certainty that the bullet holes; but on examination by competant judges it was established beyond doubt ple are rather accustomed than otherwise and not while on the person,

Here was another complication of the mystery. A reward of five hundred thalers hundred in a Prussian fortress. was at once offered for the discovery of the whereabouts of the missing man, but a month's investigation left the case as dark as before. Meanwhile, the English and French press, having become acquainted with the fact of Mr. Bathurst's disappear- en prisoners another million. After he had ance, began to discuss the subject. Times of January 20, 1810, had the following paragraph in large type, which subsequently went the round of the English papers :- "There is too much reason to fear that the account of the death of Mr. Bathsymptoms of insanity on his way through Bathurst left Berlin with passports from the British Government, and in excellent health, both in mind and body. He was to proceed to Hamburg, to embark for this country; but Hamburg he never reached triumphantly. Three times has he made triumphantly. Three times has he made At some town near the French territories he was seized, as is supposed, by a party of French soldiers. What happened afterwards is not accurately known. His panta-loons have been found near the town where he was siezed, and a letter in them to his wife, but nothing more. The Prussian stretches all the way from Suffolk to Colora-government, upon receiving the intelligence do, and back to Mobile, and the tattered large reward for the discovery of his body. mirthfulness. It is always to be obe this information is not stated; there is, outwitted by this dashing cavalier. however, reason to believe, from the prominent manner in which the announcement of the foray, it is difficult to say. He takes was brought forward, that it was derived no prisoners, destroys, little private or pub-Russians, who are often great players, generally present Baden. The greatest player who has been known of late years at any of these establishments is a Spaniard, of the paris; for the French government, greatly incensed at the accusation of having kidnaphane of Garcia. Two years ago he won, by ped or murdered Mr. Bathurst, launched of the Potemae on the peninsula, his incurforth the following reply in the Moniteur sion into Pope's lines at Catlet's Station of January 29th :- "England alone, and now his equestrain tour into Pennsyl among all civilized nations has renewed vania and Maryland, are all marked by the the example of paying assassins and eneouraging crimes. It appears, by the accounts from Berlin, that Mr. Bathurst was deranged in his mind. This is the cus tom of the British eabinet-to give their diplomatic missions to the most foolish and most senseless persons the nation and most senseless persons the nation public if the correspondents and telegraph-produces. The English diplomatic corps is ers would be a little less chary of their the only one in which examples of madness are common." This reply, it cannot be denied, was very lame, and tended to foste confirmed these suppositions. The French official journal, in a threatening tone, laid it down as a positive rule that Mr. Bathurst must have committed suicide, and the severe displeasure of the government was called upon the heads of those who should dare to think or speak otherwise. There upon the German press, who had mildly greatly sobered down by the remembrance order of Napoleon for having published harmless little pamphlet on the state of the Fatherland.

Mrs. Bathurst instituted a careful search of the neighborhood of Perleberg, employing several hundred men in the work, and finally, despairing what to do next, she went to Berlin, and from thence, in a fit of frenzy o Paris, to see the Emperor Napoleon himself, and obtain from him, if possible, the account of the fate of her husband. Emperor received Mrs. Bathurst with the greatest affability; but declared his ignorance of the whole affair, and in proof of it offered his assistance for any further inquiry on the subject. Whether this offer was ac cepted or declined is not known, but certain t is that it led to no result of any kind. It seemed as if the dark crime of Perleburg anything that has heretofore emanated from would remain a mystery forever.

Not many months ago, however, an unex pected light was thrown upon the affair. It wall was pulled down, and behind it, in a small recess, was found the skeleton of a man in upright posture, the hands fastened advance and the Potomac fords. It seems be that of Mr. Benjamin Bathurst, long chivalry of Lee's army. Well, he has won supposed to have died somewhere near Mag-his laugh, and let him have it to the full deburg." This conjecture seems to be gen-A CLUE FOUND TO A MURDER COMMITTED erally admitted at present among those who have been discussing the matter in Germany as the most probable. At the time of Mr. Bathurst's disappearance, the fortress of Magdeburg, as is well known, was in the hands of the French, and became the prison f many unfortunate Germans and other poitical offenders opposing the sway of the reat Napoleon. It cannot be denied that he thick walls of the old feudal stronghold, gained with French gold in 1806, and held is a sort of Bastille by the conquerer of the ountry, were uncommonly fitted for holdog a British ambassador, and pressing from him, by slow torture, whatever tongue Now brace up your sinews, give play to your lung will tell in the agony of death. It seems a Keep open your eyes and keep silent your tongues: close to the frontier of the Prussian doming very probable conclusion, therefore, to sub and follow with cautious and stealthy tread ions and on the high road from Reglin to but that Mr. Rathurst's death was the cont that Mr. Bathurst's death was the consequence of a crime planned by French brains and executed by French hands In fact, an attentive consideration of th whole mysterious affair and all accompanying circumstances scarcely leaves room or any other explanation than the one now suggested. The French government alone refreshment. The meal was soon finished, had an interest in the possession, as well as but various arrangements, particularly the the necessary power for obtaining the per the local indentification of passports in the name of "Merchant Koch" and "Fischer," and that the Emperor Napoleon was unscruprotracted the departure of the travellers pulous enough to resort to any means to intil a late hour. It was not till towards obtain his own ends there are thousands of nine in the evening that the news at last examples to prove. Not far from the very life and all its more pleasing associations, by room and went into the street, as his servant few years before; and another British sub- lakes on the waters of the Mississippi and thought, for the purpose of taking his seat ject. Sir Geo. Rumbold, was openly kid in the chaise. The courier followed in a napped at Hamburg by the same imperial

The seizure of Mr. Bathurst, being of far urst has not reappeared up to the present was no particular difficulty in laying hold tion—taking within its scope all natures of Mr. Bathurst as soon as, in the dark No Kruse, the courier, after a fruitless search vember night, he had quitted the door of for Mr. Bathurst, went on to England and the Perleberg inn; and, after having him dering its deep, busy tone, to the tiny trebles reported the mysterious circumstances of gagged, thrusting him into a ready carriage; of a hundred rivulets swelling fitfully on the the case. The family of the missing envoy to be conveyed forthwith to the not very (among whom was Lord Bathurst, pro-tom- distant fortress. Whether Mr. Bathurst pare Secretary for Foreign Affairs) imme died in his prison a natural death, or but yearns from the deepest recesses of his diately set to work to unravel the mystery. whether he was actually murdered by his memory to go back. What is all our pleas-Mrs. Bathurst at once resolved to proceed jailers, is a question, however, which would to Germany in search of her husband, and be difficult if not impossible to decide, even authorities had already undertaken an in- cently discovered body was that of the lost vestigation. The search of the officers had discovered, in a piece of woods in the neighborhood of the town, a pair of pantaloons, which Mrs. Bathurst immediately examination, but was put into a box and literary is voted a bore compared to a few recognized as having belonged to her husband. These cantaloons were riddled with ery of a corpse in a place like Magdeburg, it seems, is an occurrence to which the peo that the bullets had been fired at the empty and of which, consequently, no distinct nopiece of dress as it was lying on the ground, tice is taken. If, as the proverb goes, there is a skeleton in every house, it cannot perhaps be wondered at that there should be a > Warfare in the days of Cæsar was mere child's play. In nine years he had conquered three hundred tribes, eight hundred cities, slain a million of men, and takbecome master of the world he entertained frost making crisp, natures own carpet, are bloom afresh in angel's bowers, the whole Roman nonnlage at twenty-three the riggest to the feast of enjoyment.

>
> By them and Christ beloved? the whole Roman populace at twenty-three thousand tables, furnished with every that is awaiting you and your company when luxury:

urst, late British envoy to the Emperor of great interest the model of a new gun in-Austria, inserted in a Paris journal, is cor- vented by a young mechanic by the name of rect as to the principal fact. It was stated Palmer, in Lakeville, Conn. It is managed those deep-embowered lakes which form so as an article of Berlin news, the date of with a crank, and the charges fall success- prominent a feature in our Canadian scenery. Dec. 10, that Mr. Bathurst had evinced fully into place from a hopper, and are What a host of physic and Doctor's bills to the Rev. Mr. Geddes, for the pluck he exdriven out through four revolving barrels that city, and that he had subsequently fallen by his own hand in the vicinity of Perkeberg. Information, however, has been time. The gun may be made so light as to be easily managed by two or three men and received within these few days which for the casily managed by two or three men and received within these few days which for the casily managed by two or three men and received within these few days which for the casily managed by two or three men and received within these few days which for the casily managed by two or three men and received within these few days which for the casily managed by two or three men and received within these few days which for the casily managed by two or three men and received within the casily managed by these raids into and around the lines of our safely, and in the best of spirits, to the im army. In fact, the entire force is put in the very best of humor, a continuous laugh evinced the deepest regret, and offered a squads forget their woes in their present success, however, has yet attended the that this good humor does not extend with in the lines surrounded by Stuart, or among From what source the Times received those who are watching the army so cleverly Stuart is after unless it be the mere hazard same characteristics of dash, recklessness, and consummate knowledge of the country passed through and of the disposition of his enemies therein. His career extorts the admiration of all observers. It would be a relief to the press and promises to "bag," "capture," take and desburdened with them. The telegraphic accounts are full of them. These are born of conceit and brag. They are not utterances prudence or discretion They worry editors and they disgust readers. Compare the results, however, today, by the latest despatch, and the fulsome predictions which have crowded the news about the Stuart liscussed the subject, became very quiet, raid since Saturday. Over and over again. o'clock, P. M., and as the company filed an in every form of iteration, and from nearly of Pal.n, the Nuremburg bookseller, shot by every telegraphic station in the infected region, there comes the same hopeful but bareless story, "bagged before night." "not a man gent class of " folks." as a Glasgow citizen to escape," &c., &c. As if to further stultify the public, the same absurd brag reach us from Washington, and not to be behind the Chambers - Mercers - and Gettysburg tales and Federal capitol sends out the announcement-"General McClellan telegraphed the War Pennsylvania should return into Virginia." This caps the climix and ought to perforate the wind bag and allow its contents to ex-War Office. He has not learned his bulletin business either in the school of Stanton him. He may have telegraphed that Pleasanton would or should intercept Stuart, but further than that he probably did not go. having become necessary to execute some How keenly McClellan detected the rebel repairs in the citidal of Magdeburg, a plan of march may be seen from the fact that he sent a force at once to the Monocacy in hopes of interposing a force between their This conjecture seems to be gen- Some of these days, as the telegraphers con-

Stuart's Cavalry Ride.

Werald.

CARLETON PLACE Wednesday, Oct. 22, 1862.

In the Woods. The foresters foots'eps wherever they lead.

Now uncouple the bounds! right onward they fiv. With outstetching limb and with fire-flashing eye On the track of his blood hey are winging their way They gain on his traces—he stands at bay.

The crack of the rifle and bay of hound is now wakening up the echoes of th forest in all directions. The hunting fraternity of this Village and vicinity have been making the backwoods their home for couple of weeks, and getting a new lease Madawaska Rivers. Who that has spent a police, in defiance of all international law week in the backwoods of Canada, especially in this Northern section of the Province. where the characteristics of the scenery are phases, from the boisterous cataract thunbreeze, or dying away in Æolian murmers, ures of the study-where are all the intellectual attractions of our book-shelves : Shakespeare is ignored—the latest novel is thrown aside as lumber, ard the leaves of old 'Ebony' are innocent of the paper-knife,—everything days study of the great book of nature, as presented to us for our pleasure in the Canadian woods in the month of October, with all its ripe and mellow associations. The anticipation of a "good time" is the first pleasures,—the exciting preparation—the brushing up of the favorite "shooting irons" -the joyous whinning of your dogs, as if they were aware of the coming jubilee-the tree stops with her silvery dawn, the sharp camped on the hunting ground under the That our fond hearts may follow them, A NEW Gun.-We have examined with wide-spreading, evergreen branches of some mammoth hemlock, on the bank of any of (the "Herald") have appreciated for some Gen. Stuart is the most successful circuit days gone past, and the way in which the rider in the rebel army. His route is a wide one and over many fields, but he bears himself brilliantly and boldly, and thus far "Rattler," "Poly," "Fleece'em," and their than three musical teachers practising their of Co. G., 27th Ohio 1nfantry, U. S. A., to ecstacy, had he been living and present, and residence in this village as a teacher of the ed this place that Capt. Lynch had fallen in the unerring rife of "M." went to the mark piano, and a marked progress, among the the battle of Iuka,—one of the most dread-coarse village—Pembroke. In the comin such a way that left starvation out of young ladies of the village, has been the rethe question, and the style in which 'Charlie' sult of her labours, thereby creating a taste at rest. However, he was wounded, having several candidates for the responsible office attendary to the culinary department, after among the younger branches of our populaone finger blown away, and struck with a remarked upon. Whatever Mr. Andrew the sport of the day was o'er, would have tion, which had been previously laying dor-shell on the knee, while his company suffer- Irving's abilities may be in the details of an made the celebrated "Soyers'" mouth water mant. The next Teacher, who has a large ed severely. In remarking on the deprece and the "sauce" with which his artistical and respectable number of classes for the ation of Confederate courage, he says "I prepared venison steak was accompanied study of this charming branch of education, never want to hear our folks say that the of Renfrew, and any person who has paid would have "knocked the spots off," as he is that well-known and popular Carleton Rebels won't fight. I have never read any the slightest attention to Canadian politics says himself, of any thing this side of the Place institution, Mr. Joseph Docherty,- thing in history to equal their bravery. "Trois freres" in Paris. The renembrance who is at the present time entering on the Capt. Lynch will be remembered in this point the "Clear Grit" correspondent of the is a pleasure, and we mean to repeat the pleasing duty of initiating his second gener- vicinity by many of our readers.

COMPLIMENTARY SUPPER AT ALMONTE

Given by the Operatives of the Woolen Fac-tories to their Employers, Mesers. Mc-Intosh and the Rosamonds, pere et fils.

One of those pleasing and convivial as ther the different classes of society! than all the long-drawn wise-saws and sayings of the ready-made Solomons of our rising and protroy. These promises and prophecies have gressive country, took place at "Coles' Hobeen multitudinous during the war gener-Further notices in the Moniteur still more at present. The wires from Maryland are day evening last, being a Complimentary Supper tendered to the Proprietors of th Woolen Factories of Almonte, Messrs Mc Intosh and the Rosamonds, as an acknow ledgment for abridging the working hours in their respective establishments.

The hour for assembling was half past six attendance, they appeared to our critical sion, as a hale, hearty, well-dressed, intelli would say, and as they trooped into the supper room of the Hotel, the coup d'eil presented was highly creditable to all connected with the arrangements. The room was neat ly decorated with evergreens, and under the Office to-day that not one of the rebels in illuminating power of our native petroleum the "spread" was enough to make an an chorite turn traitor to his vows, consisting hale. We venture the assertion that Gen. as it did, of everything in season, in the se McClellan never sent such a despatch to the lids, accompanied with a profusion of side dishes, and fruit in abundance, not forget or Pope, and this dispatch is utterly unlike ting the liquids, which were multitudinous all of which were calculated to suit the de licate palate of the most "dyspeptic," [although there did not appear to be any of that class of biped present] and also that of the robust imbiber of "half-and-half.

There were 36 persons sat down to do bert Cannon officiated as Toastmaster. Imceived, and responded to the company-Song by Mr. Towe-" Hard place called Charleston, where General Mctimes come again no more-Song and Reci- Clellan commands in person. There does tation by Mr. Donnegan.

" The Governor General"-Songs by Mc-Intosh and Ainsworth.

Toast of the evening-" The Proprietors of the Almonte Woolen Factories," with 3 times 3-responded to by Messrs. McIntosh will be a drawn game. and B. Rosamond-Songs by Messrs Towe

" The Press"--responded to by Mr. Scott Songs by Messrs. Towe and McIntosh.

"The Operatives throughout the Provnce-responded to by Mr. Hunter in speech of considerable ability and knowledge of the class to which the sentiment referred showing the great benefit to society, a thor ough understanding and confidence between employers and operatives entailed, and po intadvance the mental and physical condition his workers, was returned to him by an inreased desire on their part to forward his material interests, any improvement in which as a natural sequence, would be participated in by them. - Song by Mr. Beck-recitation by Mr. Towe.

The next toast was-" The Ladies."-re sponded to by Mr. James Rosamond-Song

The evening's amusement closed by th whole company singing the national anthem and the chorus of this grand old hymn rolle out on the still night air in such volume to warrant the fact that Oueen Victoria still eigns supreme in the hearts of the people in then separated after a decided success.

Melancholy Accident. On Tuesday, the 14th inst., a most dis youngest child, a little girl not quite two years old, while passing through the back kitchen, stumbled and fell into a pot of ho lye, and though instantly taken out, her left side and arm were so severely scalded that notwithstanding all that medical skill and aid could do, the little sufferer lingered only about twelve hours, when death termin ated her sufferings.

"Why should we mourn these fading flowers Thus severed from their parent stem Our babes go on before, To that immortal shore.

husical.

ation of pupils into the science, and one cannot spend an hour with more pleasure than within the walls of the School-house. on one of his evenings, when a goodly share friends, for the Fall fashions. There is a the youth of both sexes within the bounds of Philadelphia. decorum, has always a most civilizing and polishing effect, and the vacuum of many ong, gloomy Fall evenings are advantageously filled up under Mr. Docherty's charge. There is also a Mr. Lasher teaching a day and night School in Music, and has a highly respectable number of pupils. He appears to possesss all the requisites for an efficient teacher, and is bringing on the juveniles of Carleton Place very well.

Our Village. suppose, the recipient of such corporation- thronged the place. like favors would be likely to get would be A week after, on my return, I happene their sympathy, extended with countenances to stumble on the Fall Fair, and here there of lugubrious outlines. We trust, for the upwards of eighty of these changed hands. sake of the bones of our lieges, that our cor- Mr. McLachlin, M. P. P. for the County poration fathers will direct this to be smend- seemed to be endowed with the spirit of ing nuisance up.

honor to the occasion, when Mr. Thomas the Seat of War across the lines, so much to the back. Many were the speculations that Pleasanton, though a hard rider, was Watchorn, took the chair, assisted by Mr. so that the daily papers of Toronto, which prietor among them with so enterprising a prietor among them with so the prietor among t the surmises set affoat, until at last the the sacred soil with his booty and his rol- Peter McDougall, as Vice, while Mr. Gil- devote a large space to the news. have spirit, untinetured with selfishness, and s only a few lines editorially. It is stated mediately following the demolition of the that the Confederates in Kentucky are in viands which had been placed before them, retreat further south. On the Potomac ment and progress, innate selfishness. tinue to prophecy, "he will be bagged."-N. the following toasts were given, heartily retheatre it is stated that the Federal troops "The Queen"-National anthem sung by | Harper's Ferry, and taken possession of a not appear, however, any design at present among the Federals, to attempt Richmond again. Perhaps the idea is beginning to dawn upon their minds that the end of all this bloodshed and social misery and terror

> Notwithstanding the ominous croaking of Notwithstanding the ominous croaking of playing second on a base viol, practising the some of the papers through the Province, Caledonian set of quadrilles, varied every regarding the good faith of the present Ca- now and then with a choice cotillion or binet towards the City of Ottawa as the walts or Schottish. On enquiry I received seat of Government, the Hon. T. D. McGee, in a speech which he delivered at that city tonished to see Mr. Lyons so lively and in lately, declared their determination to fulfil Pembroke that he was laid up with rheumthe decision of the Queen to the letter, and that not only should Canada be the capiital of the United Canadas, but that the time was fast approaching when it would be o'clock it cleared up, with dark, black, dis the capital of British North America. The mal clouds overspreading the sky. At 11 latter idea, however, is rather large.

Distinguished Arrivals from the Backwoods.

We have to chronicle the arrival at the Herald Office, in this Village, on Saturday was then served by R. Lyon, Esq., and it evening last, from the interior of the coun- was a lunch indeed-if I said a dyenner try, of several distinguished strangers, consisting of four antlered monarchs, with five be much nearer the mark. It was indeed a female attendants, forming a company of 9 Deers, who were dropped by the rifles of Mr. Poole of this Journal, and two companions.

the death-bed of a member of the Episcopa Church in Toronto, between a Roman Catholic Priest and the Rev. Mr. Darling, elergyman of the English church. Those unseemly death-bed scenes are becoming mmon. Deathbeds appear to be the favorite time and place for exhibitions of religious differences and prosilytizing.

Richmond Fair took place on Tuesday Cattle and Horses: very few sales were ef part with their stock. Everything passed with silver and crystal, relieved at intervals off quietly, although the usual amount of with amber colored Sherry and purple Port. imbibing took place.

ty in Hamilton; Stoves, Mayor's Chair, and otting and cricketers was the order of the all the other luxuries belonging to civic dig-nity, and even the pictures presented by the oth of November next, being on that day

nia. It is stated that The Fall Fair will take place here on on St. Andrew's night.

We have been allowed the perusal of a Our villagers are a singing, musical peo- letter dated "Corinth, Miss., Oct. 10th, apanions, was enough to have profession. About a year ago, Miss Cheney, his father, Patrick Lynch, living in the writer is unblushingly palpable, and consists whelly and broadly in puffing and be-

Godey for November is in hand, and dis

Correspondence.

To the Editor of the C. . Herald. SIR-It had been my intention some time frew, to give you from time to time, a brief sketch, something intended to be spicy even if I failed to sprinkle the sketch with any, just the smallest particle of Attic salt -it was the intention to chronicle some the sayings and doings of the people in the County of Renfrew, in your journal as it is neutral and more generally read in this County than other periodicals—that remark-In the improvements which are going on able luminos ty the Pembroke "Observer" to the contrary notwithstanding. Well sin in Carleton Place, we observe one item to begin with Arnprior; when I passed which ought to be placed in the catalogue of through this interesting village, about the doubtful. On the street leading from the end of last month, there was an Agricultural Bridge to Beckwith, an excavation has been most everything one would think of or cor Exhibition, and it was a rare success. Al made for a considerable length close to the ceive, were shown; from the stately prancedge of the very narrow plank-walk, intended, we suppose, to carry off water, but and well fed pig. All sorts of needle and the predatant was a signing a kind of certificate to a parpable largencome.

Signing a kind of certificate to a parpable largencome.

Of these men I thought I had a right to expect better things—I have on more than one occasion befriended both of them, and have given them no just cause for the predatant through through the predatant through the predatant through the predatant t than a trap in which to receive serious and onions, flowers from the hill and flowers physical injury—the slightest miss-step on a from the village, clover seeds and pumkins. citrons and cheese, wheat, oats, ploughs, dark night on the side walk, would plunge harrows and farming machines-all things an unfortunate into the vawning gulf that animate and inanimate were well displayed gapes at his side, and all the amends, we impartially judged, and noticed with admir ation by the large concourse of people wh was a good display of horned cattle, and ed, or perhaps the "boys" may fill the glartive, healthy physique, appeared gifted with the essence of locomotion, for he was every where. He purchased forty-nine head him There has been nothing important from self, and spoke a kindly word to every one as he passed. Well would it be for every village in Canada had they a landed pro arge and as warm o ately the majority of landed proprietors are possessed with that bane of modern improve Hearing that a Cricket Match upon large scale was to come of at Arnprior on the had advanced south about ten miles from 7th inst., I determined to make pleasure and sunshiny, which was taken as proof of and business once more meet, and be there a fine day. But as the time appointed for and see the sport. Accordingly arriving the the exercises drew near, black clouds might vening before at my worthy host's. Mr Robinson Lyon-a jolly good fellow, and the chef d'œuvre of a gentlemanly landlordwhere every thing is clean, tidy and nice, with no loafers lounging round the bar-room, and very few thirsty or seedy individuals trusting to Providence for a nip,-I put up for the night. On entering the door, my ear was saluted with the exhiterating sounds pal reason on this occasion was the falling of of joyous music, and there was our worthy host himself, with a genuine Cremona, and a Mr. B., with an incipient moustache for an answer that they were "practising for to-morrow nights grand ball. atism in the feet.

Next day was ushered in by a very inanspicious morning, and had the appearance of a continuance of rain, however, about 8 A. M., the Pakenham Cricketers arrived and in half an hour the wickets were pitched The first innings were won by the Arnprior ites, owing the good batting of Carss, Oak den, Cranston and a little wiry cut of a fellow named Munford, and the excellent bowling of Cranston and J. Oakden. Lunch la fourchette, with Turkeys, fowls, ducks. splendid collation-such as friend Lyon knows well how to get up. On the conclu sion of lunch, the game was resumed with the same good fortune for Arnprior and the same bad luck for Pakenham. Many a It will be seen by our columns to-day that "duck egg" was made by the latter, and as the wickets were by mutual consent drawn at 5½ P. M., the Arnprior Cricket Club claimed the victory, as they were 44 ahead.

The play stood thus :-FIRST INNINGS. Arnprior..... SECOND INNINGS. Arnprior.....

Majority for Arnprior15 Total majority for Arnprior, 44; 4 the Pakenham wickets to go down. After play a most magnificent dinner wa laid out in the new brick School-house up stairs. The room was beautifull lyighted and tastefully decorated. The table glistened It figuratively groaned under the good things piled upon it. There were four courses and the dessert beggar's description. The Sherriff has been selling City proper- and toasts were made and drank and crick-Prince of Wales to the corporation, fell un-beauty and crinoline were ushered into the room, and all "was merry as a marriage bell." Quadrilles took the place of bats and waltzes, Scotch reels and cotillions were substituted for balls and wickets. Every body Ottawa Branch of the Bank of Montreal was 21 years of age. Important coremonies and elevations will take place in Britain at that good feeling and good humor, and the dancing concluded a little after three in the

To the Editor of the C. P. Herald. SIR-In the last issue of the 'Perth Courier," I observe a communication signed "Ross," referring to the public offices of the County of Renfrew, in which the animus of spattering with sickening praise a person office. the well known characteristics of that individal forbid the possibility of him being for the past few years must be aware that the present Cabinet will not be likely to ap-Globe, who, through the columns of that veracious sheet, has done his little best to damage Central Canada, and all the interests connected therewith. The Hon. John plays its usual cabinet of novelties for our fair S. McDonald is not so verdant as the Hon. Ir. Cayley was a few years ago in the Cty. of Renfrew, and Mr. Irving's trumpeterof the youth and beauty of the village and vicinity are assembled. The mingling of per annum. L. A. Godey, 323 Chestnut St. candidate of the model village on the Ottawa will never receive the appointment. Mr Editor, I may as well mention that the most pewerful candidate at the present time for the Sheriffship of this County is Roderick Ross, Esq., of the City of Oitawa. Endowed with great natural abilities, along with an education fitting him for that high and responsible position, his calm and detergo, in passing through the County of Reninined temper points him out to the Govern-ment as the most fitting person for the office, for which at the present time there are 17 applications; and in conclusion, Mr. Editor. am surprised that the late recipient of Government favor, in Perth, bas so far for gotten himself as to endorse the grossly flattering portrait of Mr. Irving.

> To the Edutor of the U. P. Herald. SIR - In the Pembroke "Observer" of the 18th a; r, aided by his soi-disant correspondent, John haw, indulges in a set of lying charges against and erconal abuse of me, which, however, I can afford not," and would not on this occasion trouble you, were it not that I observe they have cajoled two can trace to my opposition, on public grounts, to a monopoly too long ceded to these prisons. They monopolize nearly every salasted office in the township of Wilbertorce, and this they continue to do year after year, through the influence of friends and mily connections, to the exclusion of all others. have no desire to conceal from these gentlemen that I am opposed to this state of affairs, as I know that until a fair division of the public offices in the township of Wilberforce is made, much dissat sfaction will be felt, and there will be but little good got of the public monies, and they may rest assured that should I have to do with their Municipal affairs in the future. they may expect to have at least helf a dozen docker from the list of their salaries. By their certificate of character given to John Shaw about assessments in the year, 1859 and 1862, they would have it beli-ve hat I had charged John Shaw with swearing falsely There is no such charge in any let er the lished, and why these men whose pretentions to piety are well known, should sign such an absurdity is more than I can understand. I cannot now affor o spare more time in noticing such silly effusions

but remain, sir,
Yours Respectfully,
ROBERT R. SMITH.

To the Edi'or of the C. P. Hero'd. SIR-The Anniversary of the Sabbath School, in connection with the W. M. Church in this village, was held in the W. M. Chapel on Thursday, the 16th inst. The mornbe seen in the west, until the whole sky was covered with vapors, which caused a shadow pass over the faces of those interested in the celebration. One o'clock was the time appointed for the exercises to commence but as is no uncommon thing in this village, it was after the appointed time before many were about the church. Perhaps the princirain, thick and fast. About half-past one o'clock when a goodly number were collected, the Rev. Geo. Bey non took the Chair and proceeded to open, by singing and prayer. The Rev. Mes srs. McKinnon and Spencer were requested to take the platform. The Rev. Chairman went on to show the beneficial effect Sabbath Schools have in general, but more par ticularly in his own experience. His remarks were short and to the point. Short : doubtless from the fact that the speaker has or is just recovering from long illness. The Superintendent, Mr. H. Neilson, then proceed. ed to examine the scholars present. chapter chosen for the occasion was the 6th of St. Matthew. The answers given to the different questions were prompt and correct. After the Superintendent got through with the exercises, the Rev. Chairman catechised the School. The questions were promptly answered in general, but some of the scholars in particular answered in a praiseworthy

The time for refreshments having arrived -a time looked for with some interest by the juveniles-a variety of the choicest cakes were spread before all, so that they might be strengthened physically. All having done ample justice to the good things set before m, and order being restored, then came the time for an intellectual treat,

The Rev. H. A. Spencer, having been called upon by the chairman, to address the meeting, delivered a very interesting address, principally on responsibility and honor con-nected with the S. S. Teacher and his duties, relating occasionally apprepriate anecdotes illustrative of his subject. The Rev. Mr. McKinnon was the last speaker. He delivered a very able address principally on the respect the scholar should have for his teacher but above all his respect for God and his Commandments. The usual complimentary votes of thanks having been passed, the Chairman was about to close. when a voice was heard to say, "We have something more." Sure enough, there was something more, for presently appeared great quantities of apples, candies and cakes, which were partaken of quite freely.

The benediction having been pronounced by the Rev. Mr. Beypon, all prepared for

It will not be forgotten the good service the band of singers, headed by Mr. D. Ham. ilton, did on the occasion by singing select and appropriate pieces, during the proceedings, which enlivened the exercises very

Yours, &c., Carleton Place, Oct. 18, 1862.

A New York paper says that the following is understood to be Gen. Lee's programme. It has the merit of probability, and is crtainly founded on the present posi-tion of the Confederate army: It is reported that one of the safes in the broken open on Wednesday night and a large sum of money in notes and specie abtime, and rejoidings throughout the empire. Ing of letter a little and rejoidings throughout the empire. Ing of letter and letter and rejoidings throughout the empire. In the letter and rejoidings throughout the empire. which a pretty little Jewess sues for $10,000