An Irreconcilable Brother.

An Irreconcilable Brother.

Brother J. O'Farrell, of Ottawa, has favored the press with another letter—we were going to say, on the separate beneficiary question, but this would not be strictly correct, for it is a strange compound of varieties. He is a most deadly opponent of financial or any other sort of separation from our American brothers; and, summarized, his arguments appear somewhat in this shape: A person who was six years ago an employee of the RECORD office opposed the return of the Meredith party to power, (a very plain duty we performed a year ago as well) therefore separate beneficiary is all wrong; the publisher of the RECORD favors the scheme, and he has a couple of relatives who hold like views—therefore there is a conspiracy to smash up the society, and all men should, in consequence, hold up both hands in favor of the closest union. The publisher of the RECORD, likewise, aspired to the position of Supreme President, but was not successful, and, as a consequence, separate beneficiary is a thing that should not even be mentioned amongst the brothers. He should have gone a little further, and told us that, in consequence of the revelations in the Public Works Department, and the defeat of Balmaceda, it would be advisable to dash the life out of the separate beneficiary business.

he sent us some time ago, Droise 'says:

"Brother Coffey held such a high opinion of my previous correspondence that he would have willingly published it, but only on such conditions that I could not agree to."

The reason why we did not publish Brother O'Farrell's letter was because he dld not confine himself to the question at issue. Had he, like Brother Smith and others, dealt with the matter in dispute on its merits we would have been only too glad to give him all the space he required.

Brother O'Farrell insinuates that our course has been dictated because we wish to advance the interests of our relatives; and a little further on he adds that we have received a monoply up to this of whatever is to be done for the association in Canada. There is surely something wrong here, because if we have secured a monopoly of everything, what could we gain were separate beneficiary or total separation granted or taken by Canada? He concludes his arraignment by declaring that because of Brother Cofley's action "Canada lost separation by a vote of 14 for and 17 against, whereas, otherwise, the vote should have been 16 for separation and 15 against." We have turned this matter over and over in our mind and must confess it is a puzzle we cannot solve how a minority of three can be changed into a majority of one by a single vote.

Another Reference to Canada.

The Detroit Weskly accuses us of want of fraternity because a few weeks ago we made a very plan statement of the case as between the United States and Canadian jurisdictions. We are told that Canadian aspirations for Home Rule are dictated by selish motives, that we should all pull together in loving embrace and eschew any considerations of filthy lucre. This is no doubt a very lovely principle; but it is strange, in view of many transactions on the part of our American brothers, that such a condition should be so strongly set forth by them in theory, while in practice it has been deplorably ignored. Notwithstanding that Canadians have ever been loaded heavily with fraternity towards all wearers of the pin, our neighbors to the South have placed on it a very heavy export duty. It matters not how the separate beneficiary clause found its way into the constitution. We found it there and we were justified in making the demand it permitted. If we grant that Canadians are actuated solely by selfish considerations in making the demand for local autonomy, why should we be singled out for censure when Americans have acted in like manner. Previous to 1888 Pennsylvania had a very light death roll, and thought it was about time she stopped paying away large sums that never came back to her. Hence her demand at Cleveland for separate financial life. In 1890 at Niagara Falls the delegates of that State voted manimously to wipe away the clause altogether. The two years from 1886 to 1890 were for her disastrous years financially, and she made up her mind to stay with the parent trunk. Her action on this occasion may be termed fraternity, but the hard fact we have just mentioned will unquestionably lead to the conclusion that this fraternity is resting on a financial base. New York is bubbling over with purest love for all outside jurisdictions. She fondles them to her bosom with a mother's tenderness, but when we call to mind the fact that her payments have never yet balanced her expenditures—tha solicitous about us, met secretly in a hotel parlor and divided up the offices amongst hem, not one Cannek finding a place on the slate. Is this fraternity? They smuggled into the constitution a clause demanding the custodianship of the medical certificates, a strategic movement instituted for the purpose of embarrassing us beyond measure were we ever to entertain aspirations for independence. Was this fraternity? For years they compelled us to get our supplies from Buffalo, notwithstanding the fact that we time and again represented the injustice done us because of the heavy duty, and permission to get them in Canada was at last given most grudgingly. Was this fraternity? At the last meeting of the American Grand Conneils the expulsion of the separate beneficiary clause was discussed and resolved upon. How came it that all these councils should have taken the matter into deliberation at one and the same time? Is it not reasonable to suppose that word was passed around amongst them, and that it was still another strategic movement to handicap Canada? How came it, too, that Canadians knew nothing of the movement until it suddenly burst over their heads at Niagara Falls? It was an all-important departure, and Canada was tricked out of an opportunity to discuss the question in its own little Parliament. Was this fraternity?

Some time since we suggested that it would be advisable to discontinue the discussion of Canadian and American relations until the next meeting of the governing bodies; but it seems that the Supreme Council and their friends on both sides of the line are determined to carry on the war. We would advise them to desist. It will be better for all parties and better for the society at large. If they have resolved to remain combative, they need not be surprised if they receive blow for blow.

WEDDING BELLS.

KELLY-CONLON.

KELLY-CONLON.

On Thursday, 17th inst., occurred the event of the season. At the church of Our Lady of the Holy Rosary, Thoroid, Miss Margaret Conlon, eldest daughter of Mr. John Conlon, of Thoroid, was united in the bonds of holy matrimay to Mr. John J. Kelly, of the Crown Lands Department, Toronto. The bride was led to the altar by her father, and during the ceremony was atended by four maids: Miss Mary to nolon, her sister; Miss Mamie Conlon, her cousin; Miss Kelly, sister of the groom; and Miss Gillan, of St. Catharines. The groom was supported by Mr. Hugh Kelly, Mr. Th. F. Conlon, Mr. Th. Nihan and Mr. D. Kelly.

The ceremony was performed by the rev. pastor, T. J. Sullivan, assisted by Rev. Father Egan, of Thornhill. Honoring the occasion, Very Rev. Dean Harris, of St. Catharines, was present; also, Father Harold, of Niagara, who, being a former instructor of our choir, presided at the organ during the celebration of the nuptial Miss. The choir manifested a peculiar delight and very properly attended in full force, as the bride was for some time organist, and latel, its instructor.

It is for society to mark and admire the amount of celat on such occasions. For the Catholic it is a joy and an edification to witness the proper celebration of an event so important in the Christian life. This union was a truly Catholic wedding, celebrated with all the pomp and ceremony of the Church, We wish the contracting parties, fortified by the grace of the sacrament, a blessed and prosperous union.

A pleasing incident to have to record after the interesting ceremonies which took place on the occasion of Bishop Dowling recent visit to Arthur, was the union in the holy bonds of matrimony, on Tuesday, the 22nd September, of Mr. Timothy Foley, son of Jeremiah Foley, one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of Peel township, and Miss Anna Maria Fitzpatrick, only daughter of the late Thomas Fitzpatrick, only daughter of the late Thomas Fitzpatrick, of the village of Arthur. As the bell tolled the hour for Mass at 9:39 a. m., the bride, greeted with sweet strains of music. proceeding from the gallery, entered the church leaning on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Edward Fitzpatrick, and accompanied by Miss Foley, si-ter of the bridegroom, as bridesmald, who was supported by Mr. W. J. Hushen, of Adjala, as groomsman. The Rev. Father linehey, of Hamilton, officiated at the nuptial ceremon. and also celebrated Mass for the oscasion. The bride, who was attired in cream-colored satin, with court train, wearing a flowing white veil ornamented with bridal blossoms, presented a very lovely and charming appearance, as did also the bridesmaid, who was similarlyettired, save that she wore a hat suitably trimmed, and in every respect in keeping with her other attire. After the ceremony they proceeded to the restdence of the brides mather har hur, where a number of friends awaited them and pattook of a rich dejenner. After having spent a few pleasant hours there in company with their friends, the happy couple, laden with the biessings of their numerous friends and acquaintaces, drove to Fergus, where they took the train for an extensive wedding tour in the east.

North Bay Times, Sept. 17.

On Sunday, 6th, the Rev. Joseph Bloem, pastor of St. Mary's church, preached his farewell sermon, taking for his text Eph., 3 xviii., xix., before a very large congregation, even standing room being at a premium. A solemn procession through the church concluded the ceremony. On Tuesday morning, 8th inst., after the daily Mass, Mrs. Lynch presented the pastor with a purse of 825 as a token of respect of the Ladies' Altar Society. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock a number of the most preminent members of the Catholic congregation assembled at the church, when J. M. McNainara, Esq., presented a purse of 875 in the name of the men and read the following address:—

address:—

To the Rev. Joseph Bloem:

REVEREND AND DEAR FATHER—Your parishioners of North Bay have heard with deep regree that you have seen fit to send in to His Lordship the Bishop of Peterborough your resignation as our parish priest, and that you intend shortly to depart from amongst us to join the Order of Redemptorist Fathers.

During the several years in which you have had charge of this parish the greatest friendship has always existed between yourself and your flock and if, instead of leaving the diocese altoge, her, you were simply removed by our Bishop from one parish to another, your zoing would not be with the consent of your parish loners and not without our raising strong to heart of your parish forers and not without our raising strong to heart of your parish in the parish since you came amongst us, and we are sorry indeed that you cannot remain and continue the god wor so well begun.

We are convinced that you would not take the step you now contemplate without serious cons deration, but our hearts do not readily yield assent and we would fain bid you stay. We have always greatly admired your abilities as a speaker, and your instructions have a ways contained excellent advice and been to us great source of consolation. We feel confident that with your great talent in this regard and with the grace of God, which will accompany you, you will become prominent as a missionary priest even in so great an order of preachers as the Redemptorists.

Accept, dear Father, the slight token of our regard. We are sorry the purse is not larger, but trust it will be received in the good spirit in which it is given. In bidding you farewell, we humbly ask you to sometimes pray for your parishioners you now leave behind, and hope that you may come among us sometimes in the capacity of a missionary Father, which you now go to prepare for.

Signed on behalf of the congregation Michael Brennan, Bunyan & Flannery, John Bourke, John Blanchet, Win. McDonald. Thos. Long way, Win. Doran, J. A. Crawford, Edward Lynch and t

The rev. gentleman thanked all present in feeling terms and rlso asked a few Protestant gentlemen present to convey his thanks to those of the North Bay citizens who do not belong to his church for their constant kindness and their broad and tolerant spirit. Rev. Joseph Bloem left town the same day, en route for Peterborough, where he made a full report to the Bishop, of the temporal administration of his church. The Right Rev. Dr. O'Connor, Bishop of Peterborugh, then definitely accepted his resignation and gave him leave to enter the Order of the Redemptorists, who in November, 1887, March and Angust 1891, preached the missions in the Catholic church of this town, and appointed Rev. Eugene Bleem as incumbent of North Bay congregation and Rev. Father Nolan, of Lindsay, as his assistant. Rev. Joseph Bloem has been taking leave of his clerical friends in Toronto. Peterbourgh and county of Waterloo and intends to go to Annapolis, Maryland, via Montreal, Boston and New York.

Annapolis has a large convent of Redemptorists serving at the same time as noviciate, for the preparation of candidates to the entrance into the Order of the Most Holy Redeemer by profession, viz., By vowing perpetual poverty, chastity and obedience. The founder of this society was a Neapolitan nobleman and layman, St. Alphonsus of Liguori, who created the first establishment in the neighborhood of Naples, Italy, about 1745. The order has about eight thousand members, and houses in Toronto, Montreal, St. John, N. B., Quebec and Ste. Anne de Beaupre, Que, and in more than thirty cities and towns of the United States.

We wish Rev. Joseph Bloem God-speed and great success in his new career.

Mr. Lister, M. P. for West Lambton, moved in the House of Commons on Tuesday for a Committee to examine into charges which he enumerated against Mr. Haggart, Postmaster General. The charges are that Mr. Haggart had an interest in a Government contract on the Canada Pacific Railway between the years 1879 and 1881, and that he prefited thereby. It was also alleged that members of the Ministry received money from the contractors on the same work, known as section B. Mr. Lister thought the case could be disposed of in three or four days. The Government took the view that the case, being one of violation of the independence of Parliament Act, pertains to the courts, and is outside the jurisdiction of Parliament. Sir John Thompson added, however, that he waived this view of the case, and opposed the motion on the ground that there should be a limit to the time when charges of this nature should be brought against a member. It was under time when charges of this nature should be brought against a member. It was under another Parliament that the alleged transactions took place, and elections have taken place since, by which the accused received a new mandate from the people. He therefore moved that the House was not called upon in the public interest to exercise jurisdiction in the matter. Sir John Thompson's amendment was carried by a strict party vote of yeas 102, nays 78.

Germany and France.

Germany and France.

The strained relations between Germany and France not only continue to exist, but scarcely a week passes without something new to add to the irritation existing against each other in the two countries. Only the other day the Kaiser created a sensation by his sarcastic illusion to Napoleon I, as "the Corsican parvenu," which has been softened in the official report into "the Corsican conqueror." But the Grand-Duke of Baden has been still more open in his references to an impending war between the two powers. A correspondent in Baden writes to the Dia-neuviene Siscle saying that after the recent manacuvres of the Southwest German Army, the Grand-Duke said:

"Since the last manacuvres of our army the situation in Europe has been modified. The sacrifices which Germany has undergone in order to guarantee peace will not be hindered by the culpable proceedings of our neighbors, who are only awaiting a propitious occasion to again open an era of bloody conspiracy. We must regard the future with energy and resolution. The time is near when Germany must again masheath her sword in defence of her independence against an enemy who has learned prudence by bloody defeat. It will be the duty of the valiant corps of Baden to support the first-caset, to fire the first shot, and to carry the palm of victory."

The German press has not published this speech, but its authenticity is said to be undeniable. German papers, however, have since denied it. There is this remarkable difference between the irritating utterances in France and Germany, that those of France are made by an irresponsible press, while those of Germany come from the highest official sources. President Carnot and his Ministry appear to know the wisdom of silence, whatever may be the sentiments of their hearts.

"German Syrup" Here is something from Mr. Frank

A. Hale, proprietor of the De Witt House, Lewiston, and the Tontine Hotel, Brunswick, Me. Hotel men meet the world as it comes and goes, and are not slow in sizing people and things up for what they are worth. He says that he has lost a father and several brothers and sisters from Pulmonary Consumption, and is himself frequently troubled with colds, and he Hereditary often coughs enough to make him sick at Consumption his stomach. Whenever he has taken a cold of this kind he uses Eoschee's German Syrup, and it cures him every time. Here is a man who knows the full danger of lung troubles, and would therefore be most particular as to the medicine he used. What is his opinion? Listen! "I use nothing but Boschee's German Syrup, and have advised, I presume, more than a hundred different persons to take it. They agree with me that it is the best cough syrup in the market."

DEAR RECORD—Please tind enclosed 83, which you will put to my credit on RECORD account. I am more pleased with your paper every week. It is well and brightly edited, always sound in principle and solid in character. Among our Canadian Catholic papers it is certainly facile princeps. May you only meet the success you deserve.

Yours truly,

A. E. BURKE, P. P.

GENTS,-I took a sovere cold, which settled in my throat and lungs and caused me to entirely lose my voice. For six weeks I suffered great pain. My wife advised me to try MINARD'S LINIMENT and the effect was magical, for after only three doses and an outward application, my voice returned night, a privilege I had been unable to enjoy
