

Sandlot baseball isn't at a dead end no matter what the sign says. "And it's a strike," calls umpire Ted Raymond as Stanford Williams, 10, swings at the ball pitched by Faye Taylor, 14. Just carrying on a good old tradition.

Elizabeth Walling, 6, demonstrates for her sister Sandra, 2, the fine art of making mud pies. Her cooking class took place last week at Syeston Court and Twinmaple Drive. Photo by Ray Saltz.

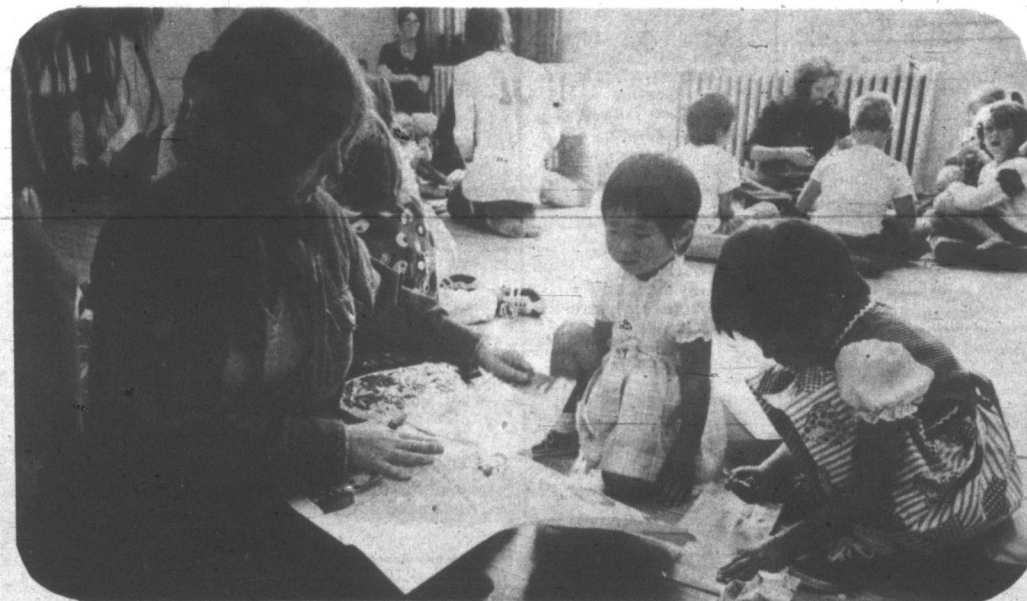

phocus

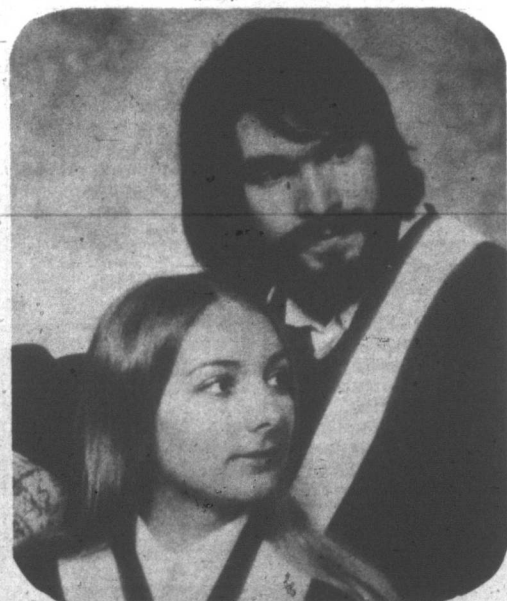

Mr. and Mrs. William Bruce McCrie are shown after their wedding at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Port Credit. The bride is the former Mary Ellen Burnie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lloyd Burnie, Port Credit. See story page C 12.

Business was booming when David Pattison and Jim Harvey sold blooming gladioli at the corner of the North Service and Cawthra Road. Mr. and Mrs. Hans Endl stopped to buy some of the flowers.

Last Thursday, eight students on an Opportunities for Youth grant presented a puppet workshop at the Burnhamthorpe Library. The students are visiting different areas performing puppet shows and then helping their young audience make puppets. Trish, one of the puppeteers starts Amy Oyama, 3, and sister Grace, 5, at the beginning with paper mache.

Geoff and Katie Cudmore, graduates of Brock University, will leave shortly for Montreal where Geoff will study technical production at the National Theatre School and Katie will continue her English studies at Loyola University.