

25
C 202942

- 2 -

helps to make for peace. Having regard to the extent of its trade, this government has gone further, I believe, than any other government in existence to-day towards promoting trade with other countries by reducing tariff barriers and getting rid of trade restrictions of one kind and another. . . "

(House of Commons, February 19, 1937,)