THE STRAW BRAIDS

The unusually beautiful Straws, which are in so many cases a trimming in themselves, are the first factors in Hat making this Spring. Never before has the straw goods manufacturer deserved such praise. Shadings and color combinations are exquisite, and the texture of the of the straws is soft, silky and pliable.

The "gusher" oil well, which was drilled in Leamington about a mile north of the town on the Wales farm, is considered to be the best yet struck. It is flowing now fifty barrels an hour, and in twenty hours flowed one thousand barrels. This is the second gusher that has been struck on this farm, and the owner of the farm, Mr. Wales, is consequently greatly elated. — Tilbury Times.

SATCHEL OF THE SATELLITE

Bonnie Brier Bush was good, but just wait for the Wizard of Oz.

Mrs. Chadwick was a sort of witch of Owes.

To-day was a pretty nice first of April, whereby it may be imagined that this first of April was no fool.

You'll probably have noticed that the Liberals are taking no chances of a contest for the vacant seat in Toronto.

There's no place like home during the housecleaning season and most people are grateful that it only happens once a year, like Christmas.

Wonder how the Wizard of Owes avoids his creditors. I think I'll ask him for the receipt when he comes to the Grand Opera House on April 17th.

I saw smoke coming out of the chimney of the Canada Flour Mills Co. to-day so I know the flood is down low enough for commercial purposes.

The house cleaning days are approaching when you have to step out in the back yard with your squeegee in one hand and a carpet beater in the other.

The mere fact that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has no recollection of any reference on the part of the late Rens Government to the handing over a portion of Kewatin Territory to Ontario makes no difference to the B. Mistake and it foolishly says things that the facts don't warrant. Yes, there is a much shorter way of saying this.

THE BEST YET

Crowded House Greeted Bonnie Brier Bush—It is a Production that Holds Popularity on its Merits.

The Bonnie Brier Bush needs no recommendation and the crowded house last night testified to its popularity. Last night's production has to credit the largest house of the season and the show itself has the honor of being the best that has appeared here this season. Manager Briscoe deserves every commendation he received for bringing such a splendid company here. Never was there a more delighted audience in the Opera House. Everybody had a good word to say for the Bonnie Brier Bush and there was every reason why they should. The play is dramatized from the stories of J. M. MacLaren, and in it we find many of the characters we love in this author's stories. The play is based on the stern and enthusiastic Christian, Lachlan Campbell, whose love for his daughter is only exceeded by his love for the Bible and its teachings. He was willing to crush his love for his daughter for the sake of his idea of what was right and what his duty as an elder in the Kirk required, although he crushed himself in the effort. Finally, however, his parental love triumphs and he takes his daughter back to his heart and home. Postie, Archibald McKittick, the character we all love, is very much in evidence. His love of children and his bottle and his good heartedness are all faithfully portrayed. Postie's tipping is robbed of all the harshness and vulgarity of a common drunkard. Kate Carnegie, the Rev. John Carmichael, Margaret Howe and Thomas Mitchell are all characters that in MacLaren's books stand out prominently and they have not been forgotten. After all, however, Lachlan Campbell, his daughter Flora and Postie are the characters that stand out prominently and they were faithfully portrayed last night. It is both refreshing and instructive to see such a production and its teachings are not soon forgotten.
