Township Roads

What Judge Meredith considered an important point in the law regarding the liability of municipalities to keep their roadways in a safe condition, was decided by him at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, in a suit against the townships of Minto and Normandy.

The question was whether on raising the level of a road by means of an embankment, the municipality is bound to protect it by a guard rail, and on failing to do so, is liable in damages. Judge Meredith holds that it is so liable and assesses $1,500 damages against the two townships for failing to provide the guard.

The plaintiffs in the case are Albert Plant, a farmer, of Egremont township, and his wife.

While driving this spring their horse bolted and took them over the embankment on a road on the line between the two defendant townships.

Spraying Potatoes

The American Agriculturist, in speaking of an experiment carried on last season by Vermont Experiment Station in the spraying of potatoes to prevent rot, says that in the Station's experience 8 per cent. of the crop on the sprayed area was rotted, while 80 per cent. of that grown in the unsprayed area was lost by rot.

The net gain was 261 bushels per acre, as a result of spraying with bordeaux.

The spraying was done August 9th and September 5th, with bordeaux-paria green mixture (six pounds copper sulphate, four pounds stone lime, 1-2 pounds of paris green, 40 gallons water); one-third was sprayed solely with paris green.

The late blight (which directly or indirectly causes most of the loss from the rot of the tubers), was first seen on unsprayed potatoes August 21st.

It spread very slowly, but, when the tops were killed by frost September 23rd, fully 90 per cent. of the foliage on the unsprayed rows was dead, being mostly killed by this disease.

No late blight could be found at this time on the sprayed rows where fully 90 per cent. of the leaves were alive.

Control of Automobiles

The automobile people of Great Britain have done something which the motor drivers in Ontario might copy with advantage. The secretary of the British Auto Association has offered a standing reward of £100 for the identification of drivers of cars who cause injury to other road users, and then run away to escape the consequences.

Auto drivers here have it in their own power to allay the feeling which has been aroused against them, and by applying the above suggestion one means can be found to this end.

In the United States automobile drivers have gone to still greater extremes than they have here. One case is reported by the New York Tribune, in which a man actually had his machine geared so that it could not run at less than 25 miles an hour, even through the crowded thoroughfares.

In another case a scorcher refused to submit to arrest, insolently declaring that he was employed by a millionaire, and would not stop for anyone. As a result of a number of similar cases the Tribune declares there should be more strenuous dealing with these impudent scorchers.

Impudent, it says, would be a more fitting penalty than a mere fine.

She'll be here soon,
For far and wide,

For in the gloom
He now doth spoon.

He brave, she fair,

Tired Mothers

It's hard work to take care of children and to cook, sweep, wash, sew and mend besides.

It makes a shop of the home—a shop, too, where sixteen hours make a day and yet there is much working overtime.

Hood's Sarsaparilla helps tired mothers in many ways—it refreshes the blood, improves the appetite, and assures restful sleep.

Measles and Marriage

Brockville, June 9.—Mrs. and Mr. Orvall Wright are a young couple married last night in the country section of Fairfield, four miles from Brockville, under unique circumstances.

The groom, though a native of the same section, is employed as a cheese-maker at Lombardy. While on route from Smith's Falls to Fairfield, he was taken very ill, and with great difficulty reached the home of his uncle A. doctor diagnosed the case as measles.

All this time guests were arriving at the home of the bride's parents, and the absence of the groom was causing a stir. The bride was not to be disappointed, and, accompanied by the bridal party and the clergyman, she drove to the residence where the ceremony was performed, the groom being too ill to leave his bed.

The wedding was afterwards celebrated at the home of the bride's parents, and next morning she returned to the groom's sick chamber for the honeymoon.

The bride is a daughter of one of the wealthiest farmers in Leeds County, and preparations had been made for the wedding on a grand scale.

"Raffles" Stories in The Mail and Empire

Mr. E. W. Hornung's stories of "Raffles: the Amateur Cracksmen" are universally admitted to be the most fascinating tales of criminal adventure ever written. The character of Raffles, the gentleman burglar and jewel-robbler, is one new to fiction; the story of his exploits excel in vigor and thrilling interest the work of any other modern writer. The Mail and Empire will begin publication in the Daily on May 13th and Weekly edition on May 18 of Mr. Hornung's new series of "Amateur Cracksmen" tales, which have never before appeared in periodical form.

The first of these tales, "The Idea of March," introduces Raffles and his faithful companion, "Bunny," in their first and most exciting burglary of the great jewelry store. One of these new tales will appear every Saturday in The Daily Mail and Empire, as well as in the Weekly edition for the next three months.

Orders taken at the office of this paper for The Weekly Mail and Empire and Athens Reporter to be mailed to any address in Canada, Great Britain or the United States from now until Jan. 1st, 1906, for 75 cents.

Life

The poet's exclamation: "O Life! I feel thee bounding in my veins," is a joyous one. Persons that can rarely or never make it, in honesty to themselves, are among the most unfortunate.

They do not live, but exist; to live implies more than to be. To live is to be well and strong—to arise feeling equal to the ordinary duties of the day, and to retire not overcome by them—to feel life bounding in the veins.

A medicine that has made thousands of people, men and women, well and strong, has accomplished a great work, bestowing the richest blessings, and that medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. The weak, run-down, or debilitated, from any cause, should not fail to take it. It builds up the whole system, changes existence into life, and makes life more abounding.

We are glad to say these words in its favor to the readers of our columns.

Brockville Cheese Board

By a vote of 65 to 43, Brockville Cheese Board decided at their last session that the meeting day shall continue to be Saturday. After discussion, further consideration of the clause making compulsory the sale of cheese on the board was postponed until Saturday next. A total of 6,281 boxes was offered and nearly the whole board was cleared at the ruling price of 9¢.
