SUGGESTIONS TO DAIRYMEN

Here and there among our dairymen are such splendid results attained that one can only be astonished at the commonplace with which other so-called dairymen continue to be content with the pitifully small average yields of milk per cow. Why do the huge differences exist?

Just a few miles from here is one of those poor herds, six cows with an average of only 3,338 pounds of milk; the highest yield only 4,900 pounds.

In contrast to that, two good herds in Western Ontario indicate the possibilities for the man whose eyes are open to what milk records have to teach. One herd of 12 grades average 10,657 pounds of milk and 317 pounds of fat; the second herd of 22 grades average 10,512 pounds of milk and 350 pounds of fat.

These marvelous differences in herd yields drive home hard facts. Men differ in their methods of feeding and handling cows, feeds differ in value, cows differ considerably in their inherent capacity as milk producers, they are not all cast in the same mould.

In the above two good herds the constant use of milk records has provided an excellent lever in raising the production. Cow testing pays.

Vigilance the Price of a Good Complexion

To retain the natural beauty of the skin only proper care and treatment is needed. Our skins are naturally clear and healthy, but the demands of everyday life and unnatural living quickly spoil their freshness and beauty. So necessary is this care that no woman can afford to neglect it. The Nyal people have just issued a new booklet, "Your Complexion," which contains most useful and interesting information on how to care for the complexion in such a way that its beauty and freshness will be preserved for many years. It also includes directions for best methods of massage. The constant use of some good preparation, such as Nyal's Face Cream, is absolutely necessary to keep the skin really clean and healthy. It is a nourishing, oxygenated, greaseless skin-food which leaves no shine. Get a 25c or 50c jar and rub it gently into the skin. See how quickly it is absorbed, leaving the skin pleasantly refreshed and delicately fragrant.

All Nyal preparations are justly famous, and none more so than Nyal's Face Cream, which we unhesitatingly recommend. Call or telephone us for your copy of this book, which contains most valuable information.

GETS OUT OF GERMANY

CANADIAN STUDENT DESCRIBES FEELING OVER THE WAR.

He Says the Public Holds the Kaiser in High Regard, But That Germans Consider the Crown Prince "a Bit of a Fool"—He Blames the Situation on the Military Caste, Who Have Dominated Sentiment.

In contrast to the well-filled university classrooms of Canada and Great Britain, the great German seats of learning are figuratively boarded up until the close of the war. At one of these, the University of Marburg, studied Rev. A. P. Menzies, graduate of Queen's University, Kingston. He arrived in the Dominion a few days ago, bringing with him many unusual observations of Germany in the grip of the war fever.

"The difference in feeling between the English student residing in Germany, and the Canadian citizen forming his opinions at long range," remarked Mr. Menzies in an interview, "is that the former places the blame on the military caste partially excusing the Kaiser, while the latter concentrates his fury upon the Kaiser first, and all other factors are a sorry second. Although a great deal of evidence may be cited to the contrary, the impression of most English-speaking persons whom I met in Germany was that the Kaiser's personal preference were strongly for continued peace. To one who has seen anything of German militarist pride and the arrogant impatience that arises from a conviction of mastery, there is nothing surprising that a war should have come when it did come. How the vast German military establishment, whetted on the expectation and desire for war, kept up to fighting pitch by what amounted to a promise of real conflict, could have been held back so long is beyond my explaining. Most decidedly, the preparations of the German nation were for war, not for the everlasting preservation of peace.

It is an interesting fact that while practically all Germans have the highest regard for their Emperor and have little of our resentment for his autocracy, they view the succession of the Crown Prince with misgivings. Underneath the surface of good-natured toleration for him as a young, high-spirited fellow, is the rock-bottom opinion that the prince is 'a bit of a fool.' I remember, for instance, hearing many German students and others remark when they saw the flags flying in honor of the Crown Prince's birthday: "Well, we hope he'll have more sense before the flag goes up again." While the Emperor, his father, has never outwardly encouraged the caste of fire-eating militarists, and has acted with dignity and reserve in his relations with them, the Crown Prince, since he identified himself with the most rabid of his aristocratic soldiers and became their leader in what was a truly vicious propaganda. Until one meets the German officer in his own garrison towns, one has no conception of the grotesque depths to which militarism can go. Not only is the professional soldier's mind immersed in a solution of iron and gunpowder, but he has the most benign contempt for any person or persons whose time is not devoted to the trade of destruction.

The students of the German universities are nearly all serving at the front. They are not regarded as ordinary privates for the reason that students are made officers of the reserve after their period of service in the army. Their efficiency is maintained by periodical drill, studies and examinations to keep them up-to-date and in close touch with their men. Scores of professors, men of magnificent ability, are serving in the trenches in this war and, without a doubt, chair after chair in the great universities will have to be filled with new material when the time comes to resume studies.

"I have been asked what the Germans think of the Belgian treaty violation. They simply do not think of it at all. To the German mind it is inconceivable that Germany should perpetrate a great wrong. If it looks wrong in the eyes of others—that is foreign hypocrisy," they tell you. Any act that Germany does is for the good of Germany and therefore for the good of the civilized world; such is the national viewpoint. Moreover, the causes of this war have been interpreted to the German people through the biased channels of the German press—and newspapers in that country appear to be completely under the heel of the military masters. I have seen it stated with an air of child-like innocence that, as the Belgian treaty stood in the way of the Fatherland's military plans, therefore no moral responsibility for breaking that treaty appertained. It is as if the German masters felt entitled to vamp and revamp the standard codes of Christianity, and that God stood ready to initial any and every caprice of the General Staff. Surely militarism, as found in Germany, has reached the zenith of insolence.

"Of the atrocities to Belgian peasants, I do not doubt the truth, but I would attribute part of the blame for ghastly tactics in warfare to the principle of conscription. Every male creature able to bear arms is gathered in and forced to fight his country's battles. Side by side one finds the best and the lowest types, musicians and mercenaries along with persons lacking the decency of dogs. Small wonder, therefore, that in a state of anarchy such as exists at first in a conquered country, these frightful occurrences should be reported."

Clothes. "Clothes don't make the man," quoth a sage. "They made me!" said a retired tailor. "And where should I be if it wasn't for suits?" chided in a lawyer's clerk.

BASEBALL

Town Wins from School

The large score of the first game of the season may have led some to believe that baseball was a joke here but it is now evident that practice was all that was needed. In a fast snappy game on the diamond yesterday the town won from the school by a score of 12-7.

The school went to bat first and brought in three runs, the town in their half tallying two. In the second the students did not see first while their opponents ran in three.

In the second, third and fourth innings the school failed to get around the bases and in the fourth the town followed their example.

Crawford and King did excellent work for the town and Bracken and Kirkland played sharp steady ball. Roddick went into the box for the last two innings, and showed splendid style.

Some clever base-running caused some excitement at times calling for some very close decisions from Umpire Holmes. The batting was good but the fielders played the game, very little overthrowing resulting.

L. B. C. Play

The girls have started the season in indoor baseball, the first game being played last night after six o'clock. Darkness came too rapidly for a long game but each team made seven runs.

The players were: Spry, Quigley, Taber, Connerty, Hollingsworth, Hull, Harvey, Berry.

Rockwood, Percival, Bariow, Howard, Stone, Moore, Halladay.

The town has found that the forming of two teams is an impossibility owing to the scarcity of players. Many players who are working every day cannot attend the games. While nine men can be brought together easily the number required for the two teams could not be found without borrowing several players from the school. We therefore suggest that, a new schedule be drawn up which will allow one town team to play the school on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

The town team should play some new men each game so that the players will have a chance to win a place on the League team to be formed later.

The diamond will be rolled at once. A rough diamond is the cause of much fumbling which no one likes to see and which is not fair to the player.

The departure of Lawson has left the town with only one pitcher while the arrival of Roddick has strengthened the school.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Wm. Mott

In her 76th year, Mrs. Wm. Mott passed away at her home here on Thursday last.

Before her marriage she was Miss Louisa Stewart and was born in Scotland, coming to Athens when about 25 years of age. She for many years conducted a millinery business here and was a very industrious and energetic woman until advanced years and failing health interfered. During this time she was always interested in the work of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, to which she belonged.

Deceased was a patient at the Brockville General Hospital most of the winter. Her husband survives her.

On Friday the funeral was conducted at St. Paul's by Rev. Wm. Usher and Rev. George Edwards. Interment was made in Athens cemetery.

Mrs. Erastus Rowsome

As the result of a fall down the stairs at her daughter's home, Mrs. Erastus Rowsome passed away on Thursday at the age of seventy.

A few weeks ago her husband died at their farm at Wiltstown. Since then she had been living with her daughter Mrs. Ernest Chivers on Main street.

Born at Lyn in 1835 she lived there until her marriage. Her maiden name was Miss Clow. Since her marriage she had been a continuous resident of this section and was held in high esteem by a wide circle of friends.

She is survived by two sons, Henry of Athens, John on the homestead and one daughter, Mrs. Ernest Chivers.

Rev. George Edwards conducted the funeral service in the Methodist church on Friday. The body was taken to Elite cemetery.

Anglicans Asked to Abstain

At a meeting of the House of Bishops of the Church of England in Canada, held at Fort William on April 14, the following resolution was adopted:

"The Bishops of the Church of England in Canada strongly recommend the members of the Church throughout the Dominion to abstain entirely from the use of alcoholic liquors as a beverage during the present war, and also to refrain absolutely from treating others."

"And further they urge the Provincial Governments to take steps to shorten the hours during which the liquor may at present be sold."

"Each Bishop is requested to furnish his clergy with a copy of the above resolution, together with an instruction to them to place it before their congregations in as public a manner as possible. (Signed) S. P. Rupert's Land (Primate)"

Brakeman Carter Gets Medal

J. J. Carter, a brakeman on the C.P.R. running between Smith's Falls and Trenton, was presented with the Albert medal last week in Montreal for his brave act in saving a little girl's life at Tweed last May. She was playing on the track and seemed to pay no heed to the warnings to her sounded from the locomotive of an approaching train. The engineer applied all the brakes but when it was seen that the train could not be stopped before it came to the child, brakeman Carter sprang to the front of the engine, jumped ahead of the train, snatched her and rolled down an embankment to safety. It was a thrilling incident and Carter's heroic act was widely commented on.

In recognition of it, he has been awarded the king's medal, known as the Albert medal, H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught presenting it. The presentation took place at the home of the late Lord Strathcona, where the Gov. General and party are staying, and a number of C.P.R. officials and distinguished people of Montreal were present. John McWhorter of Smith's Falls who was the conductor of the train Carter was on, was also there to witness the honor to his friend and fellow employee.

Here's Proof That ZUTOO Cures Headache

Mr. E. F. Tomkins, Ex-Mayor of Cooks, Que., proves it. "Your Tablets are a safe and effective remedy for headache."

Mr. Geo. Legge, Editor of the "Granby Leader-Mail" proves it. "Your Zutoo Tablets deserve to be widely known as a cure that will cure."

C. Hanson, B.A., K. C., Colonel of the Hussars, proves it. "I use Zutoo Tablets and find them a very satisfactory cure for headache."

NEW HYMN BOOK

Dr. Herbert Sanders, organist and choir leader of Dominion Methodist church, Ottawa, has been appointed associate editor of the new Methodist hymn book. With him will be Mr. W. H. Howlett, organist of the Centenary Methodist church, Hamilton.

The last hymn book for the Methodist church was printed thirty-five years ago. For the last four years, committees have been working on the new book, eliminating undesirable hymns and picking up the best from other hymnals and new hymns which have been submitted.

The duty of the associate editors will be to revise the tunes, put them in suitable keys, write tunes for hymns for which there are none, and to classify the hymns. They will start on their work without delay and it is expected they will be a year doing the work.

PROHIBITION PLEBISCITE FOR NEWFOUNDLAND

St. John's, Nfld., April 22—In the Colonial Legislature to-night the Premier announced that the Government intended to introduce a bill during the session providing for a plebiscite next November on the question of prohibition of the liquor traffic, and in the event of the temperance policy winning, the colony will become dry on July 1, 1916.

Kempenville has been without lights or power since Friday of last week, caused by the placing in of the stoplogs on the various dams on the river, preparatory to the opening of navigation. Rideau lakes were five feet lower than normal, and the water in the river lower than usual, and if a great deal of rain does not fall this spring trouble may be expected all summer in the supply of electricity furnished in Kempenville.

It's false economy to starve the shingles by neglecting to give them a timely coat of some reliable preservative. The best way to make them last is to treat them thoroughly with

Anchor Shingle Stain

It is made from coal tar creosote oil, famous as a preventative of decay in wood, combined with permanent colors. There is another important ingredient; the creosote and colors are held firmly to the surface of the wood by our Special China-Flaxseed Binding Oil; thus Anchor Shingle Stains have a permanency unknown to average stains.

In them you get a rare combination - thorough protection of the shingles and lasting colors, hence greater and more enduring satisfaction.
