Those who attended the Irish picnic yesterday say that too much credit cannot be given the various officials of the Lake Erie conductors, engineers, agents, etc., who put in a long and hard day's work and handled the large crowds without accident or mishap.

The Lake Erie altogether carried to the city yesterday 4,300 people without a mishap. Of these about 1,200 were from Chatham, 1,400 from Blenheim, 800 from Ridgeway and the rest from smaller surrounding places.

The Inland Revenue collections at Chatham for the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1900, were $26,565.29,

The lacrosse club will play Blenheim here to-morrow. These teams are old rivals and a fine struggle should result. The Chathams have been practicing diligently and should give a good account of themselves.

Owing to the jam at the Eau yesterday afternoon several passengers for the Urania, who went down on the boat train were so slow in elbowing their way through that the steamer went without them. The Lake Erie, though not to blame in the matter, brought the disappointed ones back to Chatham, and refunded their fares.

MURDEROUS MOB

Breaks Loose and Slaughters Negroes in New Orleans.

Inoffensive Blacks Killed Where Ever Found—The Police Helpless.

New Orleans, July 26.—(All night until 3 o'clock this morning, mobs of young boys under 21, without leaders, ran riot in this city on a hunt for negroes, and the unfortunates who fell into their grasp were either killed or so badly wounded that they were left for dead. After the mobs got started, the negroes became terrorized and ran to their homes and the out-houses of white people, who protected them, so it was only the unsuspecting and inoffensive negroes who were the victims. The police were powerless, as fast as they dispersed a crowd in one section it only reformed and moved to some other point to continue its devilish work. The movement started from a gathering of men at the Lee statue, corner of St. Charles avenue and Howard street, and gradually grew in fury to the point of desperation. In Morrison square, on Washington avenue and Franklin streets, near the scene of the assassination of Capt. Day and Officer Lamb, they listened to a speech from a man hailing from Kenner, and then started out to waylay the negroes.

Most of the colored population had taken warning from the excitement of the night before and kept indoors, but some were returning to their homes from work. Alex.
Ruffin, a Pullman car porter, was in a crowded Henry Clay avenue car, near the square, and when the mob saw him they dragged him out, firing one shot in the car.
He was cut and shot and beaten over the head. There was another negro with him in the car who hid under the seat, and escaped their anger.

J. Cluny, the conductor, and F. G. Davis, the motorman, on the Peters avenue car, were shot in the feet. The car was riddled with bullets. Frank Shepherd, a white man, who was in the crowd, was shot in the right arm.

The authorities were helpless.
T. P. Sanders, the colored porter of an insurance agency, heard the indignate shouting, and stepped out of his gate on Jackson avenue to see what it was about. The mob stabbed and shot him in the back and left him for dead. His watch was stolen. A dozen or more of the mob went out to the rear of town and met a negroess, named Esther Fields, standing in her door, and she was beaten.

At the Poydras market a negro watchman, George Morris, was shot while trying to escape. When he fell with two shots in the back, one of the young fiends stabbed him to finish him. He is seriously injured.

On Villiers street they saw a negro in a crowded street car. They hailed the car, pulled the trolley back into about 20 passengers out and then murdered the black. He was dragged out and filled with lead, being instantly killed. He was evidently a laborer. His name is not known.

They met an unknown negro on Decatur, between St. Philip and Ursulino, whom they proscribed beat into an insensible condition and left for dead. He was discovered an hour later and died shortly after. He had been pulled from a street car, which he was driving to the French market.

The mob found another negro in the market and promptly put an end to his existence. He is not known.

The porter of the Louisville & Nashville pay car was chased up the levee.
He ran into the customs house, where he was protected by the night watchman at the point of a Winchester. The crowd sukked around for a while and then gradually dispersed.

Others were also hurt and several white men were injured by stray shots.
Scores were also looted to obtain firearms.

On Dauphin street they found Baptist File, an old negro, 75 years old, whom they beat and shot a wound to death. Out towards Franklin streets, where they passed a negro seated in front of a barroom, whom they promptly shot. He was Dan White, a toastmaster, and got a bullet in his right wrist.

A BOER DEFEAT.
London, July 26.—Roberts reports to the War Office, under date of Bulmoral, July 25, as follows:

We marched here yesterday without seeing the enemy. The Boers, on July 24, engaged French and Hutton six miles south of Bulmoral. While Alderon's mounted infantry attacked the Boers' right, French made a turning movement around their left. Seeing their retreat threatened, the Boers broke and fell. French and Hutton followed, and proposed to cross Gilphant's river to-day at Naauwpoort.
Our casualties were one wounded.
