Opinion of Great Liberal Chieftain on Reciprocity

(By Sir George W. Ross, great liberal leader and former premier of Ontario.)

"The British market is a steady market and not subject to the fluctuations of the Chicago corn exchange, nor to the manipulation of speculators. It is not liable to be closed against us by the expiration of any treaty or the manipulation of any trust. So long as the British Empire endures we may expect the British market to be accessible to us. If we have any favor to bestow that is the market with the strongest claim, or if we anticipate any favor such as a preference over foreign traders, it is in the British market that these favors are most likely to be obtained, we certainly would not look for them in the markets of the United States. One thing is certain—we cannot have reciprocity in the west and British preference at the same time. (Applause.)"

"Then again the British market has always been our base of supplies for every large national and industrial undertaking. It was with British capital we built our railways and dug our canals. Nearly every large municipal work in Canada was carried out by loans in London. British capital is now building two transcontinental railways. It lights our streets, lays down our sewers, builds our waterworks and carries us from continent to continent. In the last five years according to The Monetary Times, the sum of $805,453,886 has been invested in Canada, of which $27,500,000 have been invested in enterprises for the development of the country. Mr. Parish, an eminent London authority on finance, says that Canada has absorbed £300,000,000 of British capital."

"In considering further investments would British capitalists be as likely to decide for Canada, if our trade were directed to the United States, for that is what reciprocity means. Just now the current is with us. If we proceed with the construction of the Georgian Bay canal and the enlargement of the Welland canal and the Hudson Bay railway, not to say a variety of smaller enterprises, we will need two or three hundred millions in the next two or three years. Where are they to come from? Certainly not from the United States. Capital is sensitive—but we give it a jolt in this important stage of national development."—Sir Geo. W. Ross to the Toronto Board of Trade, Nov. 3, 1910.

The Only Means of Preventing the Consolidation of the British Empire

Sir Charles Tupper, the veteran Canadian statesman, has written a letter to Mr. J. T. Bessene, of Montreal, wherein he denounces the reciprocity agreement as a danger to British institutions in the Dominion. The ex-prime minister's letter is as follows:

"My Dear Sir,—I was very glad to receive your letter and to learn that a great many of the most influential liberals were taking an active part in opposing the reciprocity agreement, which I consider fraught with danger to British institutions in Canada. The open avowal of the President of the United States that it is the only means of preventing the consolidation of the British Empire by mutual preferential trade ought to be sufficient to arouse the active hostility of all loyal British subjects against it. Now that the question is referred to the electorate I hope this will induce all who value connection with the crown to show their determination to stand by the empire. With kindest regards and best wishes,
Yours faithfully,
CHARLES TUPPER."

Mr. Facing-Both-Ways

At the fourth annual banquet of the Canadian Club at Ottawa on April 1, 1907, R. Hon. James Bryne, the British Ambassador at Washington, being the guest of honor, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said:—"I have seen, and you have all seen, in an American newspaper published in New York just a few days ago that we are yearning for reciprocity with the United States. Now I tell you that the editor of that paper is about 25 years behind the time. At that time we would have given our right arm for such a thing, but it is now a thing of the past. We have in 1907 a changed condition of things. We are turning our hopes towards the old Motherland. We have introduced the doctrine and policy of a preference to Great Britain and towards all the British Empire, and this is the policy by which we stand at the present time. Not for my part that I do not value the American trade, nor for my part that I do not value all we would have to gain if our relations were on a better footing, but this is a matter on which we shall have no more pilgrimages to Washington, and this is simply the message I have to convey to your guests tonight."

Was this the message Sir Wilfrid Laurier delivered in Charlottetown?

24,000 Employees Are Made Ideal.

York Manufacturing Co. at Biddeford, Me., Closes from Lack of Orders.

Biddeford, Me., Aug. 29.—It was announced from the counting room today that the York Manufacturing Co. will shut down from August 31 until September 11. The corporation has been running four days a week through the summer. About 24,000 operatives are affected.

The Union Pacific Railroad is laying off some 2500 employees, the Southern Pacific Railroad some 5,000, the Pennsylvania R. R. and Coal Company is intending to discharge from 10,000 to 20,000 hands. The closing down of the cotton mills in New Bedford throws some 7,000 people out of work, 5,000 operatives in the cotton mills and iron works in Providence are idle owing to the closing down of the works. Do the farm and some sum-re of Canada wish to share in the business depression of the so-called 90,000,000 markets?

Taft or Canada. Which?

"I have said that this was a critical time in the solution of the question of reciprocity. It is critical because unless it is now decided favorably to reciprocity, it is exceedingly probable that no such opportunity will ever again come to the United States. The forces which are at work in England and in Canada to separate her by a Chinese wall from the United States, and to make her part of an Imperial commercial base reaching from England around the world to England again by a system of preferential tariffs will derive an impetus from the rejection of this treaty, and if we would have reciprocity, with all the advantages that I have described, and that I earnestly and sincerely believe will follow its adoption, we must take it now, or give it up forever.—From the speech of President Taft at the joint banquet of the Associated Press and the American Newspaper Publishers' Association held in New York on April 27th, 1911.

Raw Material vs. Finished Products

The Dominion Government pays bounties to go about to-stricting farmers as to the ruinous effect on the farms of exporting hay instead of feeding it to their own stock. And yet the Laurier-McIntyre are trying to force through a deal to encourage the export of hay to the United States. They are quite willing to ruin Canadian farms in order to please Mr. Taft.

Let Laurier Explain

If there is any other interpretation why does not Sir Wilfrid Laurier explain?

And Mr. Fielding did not explain from whence and from whom he got that mysterious $150,000. But he will have to explain it before the end of the campaign!

Again let President Taft give the answer:

"The bond uniting the Dominion with the Mother Country is light and almost imperceptible."
Couched in diplomatic language these are the reasons why the United States wants reciprocity, as given by President Taft, head of the republican party.

What do these two representative men, Taft the leader of the republicans, and Champ Clark the leader of the democrats, see in reciprocity? A means to an end. First, the severance of the commercial tie binding Canada to the Motherland—next, commercial union, and last the accomplishment of their supreme desire—Annexation.

Let President Taft answer in the words of his message to congress with the reciprocity agreement, January 26th, 1911:—"Ought we not then to arrange a commercial agreement with Canada, if we can, by which we shall have direct access to her great supply of natural products without an obstructing or prohibitory tariff? . . . The Dominion has prospered. It has an active, aggressive and intelligent people. They are coming to the parting of the ways. . . . Should we not now, therefore, before their policy has become too crystallized and fixed for change, meet them in a spirit of real concession, facilitate commerce between the two countries, and thus greatly increase the natural resources available to our people?"
Why now?

"* * * If we know the hearts and minds of our people, at present, I think I am not making too wide a statement when I say that the general feeling in Canada today is not in favor of reciprocity. There was a time when Canadians, beginning with the honorable gentleman himself, would have given many things to obtain the American market; there was a time not long ago when the market of the great cities of the union was the only market we had for any of our products. But thank heaven those days are past and over now. We are not dependent upon the American market as we were at one time. Our system of cold storage has given us a market in England which we had not before.—From speech of Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the house of commons on March 31st, 1899. See Hansard, page 302.

Impurities of the Blood

Anger, when mixed in measure with this treatment

Mr. Chas. Martin, Box No. 347, Kenosha, Wis., writes:—"Three years ago, while working in Hamilton, Ont., I was taken sick, and no one knew a bit about me. Every bit of food I ate I vomited up and consequently I became very weak. My husband told me that after that he thought as one time I was looked for for the cemetery. Walking down street one day I happened to see Dr. Fowler's Blood Purifier in a druggist's window so I went in and got a bottle. Before I had taken half of it I began to feel better, and in a week I was able to go to my land-lord and asked him what he thought of it. He told me it looked as if I had a heavy attack of cholera. Both he and his wife tried all they knew how to persuade me to stop taking the B.B.P., but it was no use. I had gotten so bad I thought it did not matter much whether I went under or not, so I got a second bottle and judge to my surprise to see the scales begin to disappear, and by the time I had taken three bottles I did not care for the best man in Hamilton. I am 61 years of age and am able to do a day's work with the best men, thanks to B.B.P."

Home-seekers' Excursions.

The Grand Trunk Railway has issued a circular authorizing all Agents in Canada to sell Home-seekers' Excursion Tickets to points in Western Canada. This is interesting information for those desiring to take advantage of these excursions on certain dates from April to December 1911. The Grand Trunk route is the most interesting, taking a passenger through the populated centres of Canada, through Chicago, and thence via Duluth, or through Chicago and the twin cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul. Ask Grand Trunk Agents for further particulars.

Said to be the largest tree trunk in the world is that of a tulip tree at Hilda, Mexico, which measures 145 feet in girth.

Minard's Liniment cures dandruff.

The rain and the hen have their work. And everything earthly must. The hen gets busy and lays an egg. While the rain is laying the dust.

Mr. H. Wilkinson, Stratford, Ont., says:—"It affords me much pleasure to say that I experienced great relief from Muscular Rheumatism by using two boxes of Milburn's Rheumatic Pills. Price a box 50c."

He—If you women did get the right to vote you couldn't in the nature of things keep it.
She (indignantly)—Why not Sir?
He—Because it is a secret ballot, you know.

Milburn's Sterling Hydrosol Pills give women prompt relief from a stubby pain and lastly no bed after efforts whatever. Be sure you get Milburn's. Price 25 and 50 cts.

"This doesn't taste like genuine maple syrup to me," said the suspicious purchaser.
"Probably not," replied the genial grocer. "After what you have been accustomed to the real article would naturally seem strange."

Minard's Liniment cures Dandruff.

Miss Fitt—Oh, Mr. Jones, wouldn't it be nice if you were not married? If you were not, what would you do?
Jones—I would go on the trail of Mrs. Jones again and annoy her until she consented, just as I did before.

HAS USED DR. FOWLER'S Extract of Wild Strawberry

For The Last Fifteen Years

Mr. Duncan Melvin, 62, 6th St. North, Brandon, Man., writes:—"It is much desired for me to say that I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry in my home, every Summer, for the last fifteen years."

"I have six children and have used it an every one of them.
"I use it myself and so does my husband. Last summer my baby, seven months old, was taken very sick with Summer Complaint, and we thought he would die. We got a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and started giving it to him in small doses and in three days he got quite well, so we kept on with the medicine for about a week or more and he became as well as ever."

"My little girl, two years old, was taken very bad with the same trouble, and I used two doses of the same medicine and she was completely cured."
"Myself and my husband think there is no other medicine so good for all bowel complaints."

"If anyone wishes to know what an excellent remedy Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is, I am willing to tell them what it has done for me."
