This Furniture is becoming more and more popular, owing to the beautiful grain, as well as its serviceable and lasting qualities-and the Smallman & Ingram store confines itself to Furniture that survives, because of fitness. We will always find plenty of good Furniture to meet the demand, yet much elimination is necessary in making selection, for there is about one hundred per cent more indifferent stuff on the market than there ought to be. We first eliminate the maker who makes a hobby of this cheap class of Furniture, and in all our selections this is the guiding principle of our Furniture organization. Thus the survival of the fittest theory is operated, much to your advantage.
