

PRESS OF BRITAIN DECRIES POINCARE SPEECH AT SENLIS

French Premier Creates a Bad Impression by Address on Reparations.

SLAMS DOOR SHUT

Associated Press Despatch.
London, July 16.—A bad impression here was made by Premier Poincare of France in the address he delivered at Senlis yesterday, which is generally regarded as an indirect reply to the outline of Great Britain's reparations policy made by Prime Minister Baldwin in the commons last Thursday.

Must Maintain Entente.
The only favorable comment in this morning's papers is made by the Morning Post, which favors maintenance of the entente at all costs. It declares that the only policy promising satisfactory results for Great Britain is whole-hearted co-operation with France to force Germany to pay. The Daily Mail, another pro-French paper, does not comment.

The Times thinks that M. Poincare's speech was unfortunate and protests his assumption that Great Britain no longer supports the treaty of Versailles, declaring that this government differs only from France in selecting the best method of settling the treaty.

The Daily News fears there is little hope that France will receive the British proposals favorably, but deprecates an attitude of despair. The Daily Express regards the speech as putting an end to "Great Britain's high hopes."

The Daily Chronicle treats the speech as finally slamming the door against Great Britain's ally. It charges that France is seeking nobody's interests but her own.

Withdraw All Support.
The Daily Herald, the Labor organ, demands that Great Britain withdraw all support from France, force Italy and Belgium to pay her debts, press France to pay hers, and urge the United States to join an international conference to decide the amount of Germany's payment, abandoning, however, any claim to the British share.

The Daily Telegraph's diplomatic correspondent advises against treating the speech as a definite and comprehensive answer to Premier Baldwin.

KING, QUEEN RECEIVE FAMOUS CLAN CHIEFS

Take Up Residence in Holyrood Palace in Edinburgh.

London, July 16.—King George and Queen Mary paid a royal visit to Scotland last week, taking up their residence in the famous Holyrood Palace in Edinburgh.

The leaders of Scotland's famous clans gathered in the city for the occasion and attended one of the courts to be received by the king and the queen.

The strictest etiquette is observed at these courts, the clan leaders insisting upon their rights of precedence. Out of respect to the Scottish lineage of the new Duchess of York, she and the duke accompanied the monarchs, appearing with their majesties on all occasions.

SEEKS ENLIGHTENMENT ON FUNNY KIND OF SNAKE

If you saw a snake with a gray-green top and a wonderful shade of the brightest orange on the belly, what would you call it? This is the question of an old resident of Harrogate, who came into the office this morning. He found the snake in the hay field, and, pursuing it with the proverbial hayfork, brought its earthly career to an abrupt termination.

He says the snake was about fifteen inches long. The belly was quite flat, and the back divided into little ridges. Though living in the district for nearly sixty years, he has never seen a snake like this one, and wants to know just what kind of reptile it was that came wandering on to his farm. Can any zoologist tell him?

Tire Explodes Crushing Skull

Special to The Advertiser.
Ingersoll, July 15.—Joseph Peters of Toronto, incurred a fractured skull yesterday about noon in the village of Thamesford when an automobile tire which he was picking up preparatory to placing in the rack at the rear of his car, exploded in some unaccountable manner.

Peters had a blowout on the road near the village and stopped at a garage to have the tire repaired. After the tire was again inflated he stopped to pick it up when a sudden report was heard and the rim and tire flew to pieces in his hands. A fragment of the metal rim struck him on the head, crushing a large section of the skull. He was rushed to the hospital here, and an operation performed at once to relieve the pressure. He is conscious today but his condition is regarded as extremely critical.

ATHLETE OF OLD DAYS DIES IN CITY, AGED 87

William Butt, Veteran of the Crimea, Had Fine Record on Track.

William Butt, a well known character of London died on Saturday morning at his home on Thames street in his 87th year.

Mr. Butt was one of the old timers of London, and fought in the Crimean war, the Fenian raid and in the West Indies. In his youth he was one of the best athletes in the country and has won many prizes in field and track events.

Many exciting and interesting experiences are told by his few surviving old friends. "Old Man Butt" as he was termed by his fellow soldiers joined the 69th infantry regiment in 1854 to fight in the Crimean war. He was with that unit for over 20 years. Mr. Butt was an old time Liberal and has seen many a hard fought election in this city. He, together with W. James Maule street, celebrated the first anniversary of Dominion Day in this city. In recounting the life of his friend, Mr. Butt told of the prowess of William Butt upon the athletic field.

"There never was a man in Canada who was as good as a runner as William Butt," said Mr. Butt. "While in Dublin, out of a field of over 40,000 men Butt took first prize in running every year, jumping and running he was unbeatable. Mr. Butt could throw a cricket ball well over 120 yards."

Mr. Butt is survived by his wife and two sons, James and William, and one daughter, Mrs. E. Fletcher.

POSTPONE INQUEST ON JAMES JOHNSTON

Death of London Man at Port Stanley To Be Further Probed in August.

A preliminary inquest into the death of James Johnston, aged 26, colored, of 101 Clarence street, was held in St. Thomas Saturday morning.

Johnston died early Saturday morning at Amnash Wood hospital in St. Thomas as a result of injuries received when a motor car in which he was driving skidded and overturned in a field near Stanley. The car was driven by Ezra Tetzelt, an automobile salesman of St. Thomas.

The strictest inquest will not be held until August as the coroner, Dr. McCrimmon, will be away on his holidays until that date.

FINES M. GOOTSON $5 FOR ABUSIVE LANGUAGE

Alice Harris Complains 'Accused Hit Her and Called Her Names.

Once more Meyers Gootson made his appearance in police court, and pleaded not guilty, this time to a charge of using insulting and abusive language to a girl.

Alice Harris, who laid the complaint, told the court that Gootson had come into a store where she was working and had hit her and called her profane names. Her story was substantiated by Laura Harris, who was present at the time the offense occurred.

Gootson, in the box, denied the girl's story, and said that he did not either hit or swear at her.

Deputy Magistrate Gladman fined him $5 and costs.

As police court adjourned, Gootson was waiting for the magistrate and told him he wished to lay an information against the girl for assaulting his daughter.

Mary Burbeck, charged with having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling, appeared this morning and was remanded until tomorrow, to give her a chance to refresh her memory and tell the court where she purchased the liquor. She said that she had bought a bottle on Friday from some man. A prescription which she claimed she had a month ago will also be investigated. An interpreter was used to tell the woman of the charge laid against her, she claiming that she could not speak English.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Winnipeg, July 16.—With the result of the official count of the votes cast in this city in the referendum on the beer and wine bill made known and later complete returns from several constituencies, the majority last night against the proposal of the Hotelkeepers' Association stood at 37,170.

VETERANS WAIT NEXT CONGRESS TO GRANT BONUS

Enter American Political Arena
With 33-Item Legislation Program.

SEEK BUREAU PROBE

Special to The Advertiser.
Washington, July 16.—Disabled veterans of the world war today entered the political arena with a 33-item program of legislation which they demand be given prominent consideration on the legislative slate of the next congress. In the list is a demand for the passage of a bonus bill.

The program formulated by the disabled veterans of the World War Society at its recent convention at Annapolis, seeks, aside from the bonus, the facilitating of disabled soldiers for disabilities incurred in military service.

Major items on the slate are: Creation of a committee on veterans' affairs in the House of Representatives.

Passage of a bonus.

Ask Hospital Care.

Enactment of a law providing for hospital care for all ex-service men, regardless of the origin of disability.

Retirement of disabled emergency officers on the same basis as regular army officers.

Adoption of all new methods of treatment of disease and injury developed outside the field of medicine of surgery.

Immediate completion of the permanent hospital building program, on which $41,000,000 has already been spent.

Extension of the three-year period required for establishment of the presumption of tuberculosis incurred in service.

Would Admit Nurses.

Authorization of a sales campaign to sell all veterans government insurance.

Admission of women nurses of the war to soldiers' homes.

Amendment of the civil service law so that disabled veterans who obtain passing grades in examination shall be placed at the head of the eligible list.

The program was capped by a demand that the federal government investigate the United States Veterans' Bureau by the select committee of the senate authorized to investigate it, and a plea that all persons or firms found guilty of profiteering or irregular practices should be prosecuted and convicted.

RACING PAPERS ON SALE DESPITE NEW RULING

There is no news other than racing news. It is refused admission to the mails and brought in by express and seems to be prohibited under the federal act.

Exhibit B is a racing paper of a breezier, colloquial type. It contains picturesque comment, but none the less all the statistical information and authoritative guidance sought by bettors.

Both papers have been sold openly for the last two weeks. It is said that it is the function of the province to prosecute. Failure to take action is attributed to the delay in the issuance of official notice of the enactment. The new attorney-general will have that notice. The tenor of the Ontario law is by this time well-known.

The situation is complicated by the proclamation of the Ontario betting information bill, which takes effect today. This declares it illegal to publish "tips, selections, choices, odds, winning money prices, prices paid to winners, pari-mutuel payments." As a result, Ontario daily papers today will contain entries and results without prices. It is said, however, to be legal to mention in a certain horse was favorite, or second choice, etc.

Rests With Police.

According to officials in the attorney-general's department, the act respecting the publication of betting information is beyond doubt in force today as proclaimed. The responsibility of enforcement, however, rests with the regular machinery of the province as represented by crown attorneys and police forces. If papers are coming into the province carrying information such as tips, odds, selections, winning money prices, etc., anyone who wishes to do so may lay a charge against the person who publishes the information. It will be the duty of the crown officials of Toronto or any other municipality to prosecute in the regular way.

It was pointed out to officers of the attorney-general's department that the United States papers came into Toronto this morning carrying information which is prohibited under the act. The answer was that it was for the crown attorney and the police department of this city to say what action will be taken. The Advertiser sought an interview on the subject with Mr. W. F. Nickle, K.C., who along with other members of the new cabinet, will be sworn into office this afternoon. Mr. Nickle was found in the company of the attorney-general, who has been Mr. W. E. Roney.

They were both coming out of the attorney-general's office and the best of good humor seemed to prevail between the two. The outgoing and incoming ministers. The Kingston member was being introduced to the crown attorney, the former chief lieutenant in the U. F. O. government was doing the courtesies. Mr. Nickle smiled graciously, but gave serious and doubtful, according to "Why, you better ask the attorney-general," said Mr. Nickle, catching his breath.

"Well, will he be attorney-general in a few hours?"

"But those few hours have not passed yet," Mr. Roney is here," he replied laughing.

"Yes, but this is the 16th, the day when the new act begins to operate, you will be attorney-general, and when—?"

"I'm sorry," he answered, "but it is too soon for me to say anything."

TALK OF CIVIC STRIKE AROUSSES MAYOR VENICE TO DEMAND ACTION NOW

concerning the civic administration in which the mayor has been both praised and condemned, in the same issue, I think that, as mayor, it is only my duty to issue a statement over my signature.

First of all, the citizens of London elected me last December as the chief magistrate for the year 1923, and by the large majority that was given me I took it for granted that they wanted me to carry out my platform, which was printed in the daily press.

At the various meetings, and in my printed platform, I repeatedly stated that I would carry out this program, provided the citizens in the different wards would elect the aldermen who were in favor of this platform; and right here I want to say to the electors that they did fairly well, but made a few selections that have been, in my estimation, a business man's stumbling blocks toward the advancement of our city, and not at all times working in the best interests of the city. But the majority of aldermen that you have selected are working for the best interests of the city as a whole.

Will Name Block.

Now then, I have made every effort, have certainly spent the most of my time, in civic matters; and can assure you that I consider the best of the people, and not of special benefit to the few or selected (this is one of the reasons why the mayor has been condemned by some). That was my promise to you, and that is what I intend to carry out to the end of my term. I have no objection to the obstructionists in the council, which, thanks to the wisdom of the electors, they are in the minority, and, at a later date, I will name them, as I view them from the mayor's chair.

Much has been said in the last few days regarding the city hall salaries, and some of the city hall salaries, the council are trying to use this as a lever on the mayor, but so far without success.

The situation is just this: When the estimates were struck, about $5,000 was included in them for information bill, which takes effect today. This declares it illegal to publish "tips, selections, choices, odds, winning money prices, prices paid to winners, pari-mutuel payments." As a result, Ontario daily papers today will contain entries and results without prices. It is said, however, to be legal to mention in a certain horse was favorite, or second choice, etc.

Agricultural Expert Reports
On His Work at Ridgeway.

Richard Sands, B.S.A., M.S.A., was a caller at the offices of the Department of Agriculture this morning. Mr. Sands is connected with the experimental farm at Ridgeway where he is in charge of the research and investigation work covering plant diseases. He reports that he has been busy since he began his work up the diseases attacking the commercial garden and field crops of Kent and Essex counties.

An interesting feature of the summer work was the discovery that the disease known as "timber rot" has been found in the hands of the commercial cucumber plantings.

Mr. Sands is an O. A. C. graduate of 1915. He has been at Ridgeway since 1915.

REPORT FOOD PRICES STILL ON DOWN GRADE

Retail Quotations Decline,
While Wholesale One Remains Steady.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, July 16.—The decline in average retail prices of food, which began in April continued, the figures for June being lower than for May, owing chiefly to a seasonal fall in the prices of dairy products. The average cost of a list of 23 staple foods in terms of the average prices in some 60 cities was $10.23 at the beginning of June, as compared with $11.16 for June 1921; $16.92 for June, 1920 (the peak); and $7.49 for June, 1914.

In wholesale prices, the general level was little changed, increases in some articles being offset by decreases in others, as indicated by index numbers calculated by various authorities.

The world's total wool production at the present time approximately 2,000,000,000 pounds annually.

ICE CREAM STORE WRECKED WHEN FIRE BREAKS OUT

Early Morning Blaze in the Majestic Building Gives Firemen Battle.

FOYER DISCOLORED

A fire which gutted the basement of the Majestic Ice Cream Parlor in the Majestic Theatre Building on Dundas street, and wrecked the premises occupied by the ice cream parlor, gave the fire department a work-out in the small hours of the morning.

The alarm was turned in at 2:55 this morning, and the crew and equipment from Central fire hall were on hand in less than two minutes.

Just before the firemen reached the scene of the fire, the flames and heat which had been pent up in the basement burst open a door at the rear of the store, and the store filled with smoke and gas, which blew out the large plate glass window in the front of the shop.

Smoke Is Dense.

The fire, which started in the basement, burned fiercely, consuming a large quantity of orange crates and excelsior, which gave rise to the dense cloud of smoke and gas. The firemen had to work in the smoke and gas, and the flames were subdued in twenty minutes, and the danger to the theatre and surrounding buildings was removed.

The damage was confined largely to that caused by smoke and water. The only portion of the building destroyed being the wooden stairway to the basement, the main staircase at the rear of the store, and the broken plate glass window.

For the short time which the fire burned, the damage is unusually large. The whole interior of the store is covered in soot, and the cases, fixtures and other equipment of the store are ruined, as well as the stock of candy and confectionery.

Found Small Blaze.

Fire Chief Aitken says: "For a small blaze, that was the means, we have had for a long time. The smoke and flames which kept bursting up from the cellar hindered us in getting to the root of the trouble. Once we got into the basement, there was nothing to it for the fire only included the boxes and refuse in the cellar and the stairway."

When questioned as to what he considered the cause of the fire, he said: "I can't say. Very likely it was caused by spontaneous combustion, as there seemed to be a lot of rubbish in the basement, and fire start up from the rubbish when rags and paper stand in corners, and heat up through dampness and fermentation."

The amount of damage cannot be estimated, until the stock is checked over, but a rough estimate by those who have the work in hand place it at between $2,000 and $3,000.

It is understood that both stock and buildings are insured. The Majestic Theatre Trust, which owns the building, has been notified of the damage, and a door leads into the candy shop.

The building is the property of the duffell estate.

WOULD HAVE CITY HALL ON THE MARKET SQUARE

Mel. Cater and Allan Towse
Submit Scheme to the Mayor.

Another new city hall proposal has been submitted to Mayor Wenig.

Mel. Cater and Allan Towse unfolded a scheme to the mayor this morning in the mayor's office. The suggestion is that the new building be placed on the market square. The plan would be on the second floor while the first floor would be open for market purposes.

From the mayor's report of the proposal, it would seem that the market space would be available for traffic of all description. Wagons or cars could be driven in, he states, in which they conduct things, and it would have to be approved first by the people.

ATTORNEY HAS NO WORD OF RETURN OF MURRELL

J. C. Elliott Reports He Has as Yet Received No Word.

Crown Attorney J. C. Elliott is still in the dark as far as the return of Sidney Murrell to this city is concerned.

Mr. Elliott told The Advertiser that he had received no further information regarding the extradition of the man who is wanted here on a charge of murder and bank robbery, and who was arrested in California some weeks ago, although the warrant for his arrest and return has been placed in the hands of the British consul in San Francisco.

That Murrell's return is imminent is evidenced by the fact that Governor Eyrton Dawson of the county jail has returned from a week's holiday, although he was entitled to two days. The governor, however, stated that he would try to arrange to have them before Murrell was brought back in order that he might personally assume the responsibility for his safekeeping in the jail from which he escaped two years ago.

HELD AS ASSAILANT OF CONSTABLE MILES

William Poyle Remanded For Alleged Fight on Pegler Street.

William Poyle found a charge of disorderly conduct turn into one of assaulting an officer while in the execution of his duty, this morning, when evidence was given in police court that he had kicked and fought with P. C. Miles, who was endeavoring to arrest him on a charge of being disorderly in a house at 9 Pegler street, Saturday night. The information was ordered laid by Chief Birrell.

According to the evidence of Sergeant Middaugh, he, together with P. C. Miles and Williams, answered a call to the above address where they found a large crowd standing around the house. Asking what the trouble was, they were told it sounded like murder. Ordering the crowd to disperse, the officers entered the house by way of the kitchen and there found Poyle, John Lammpan, and Gordon Coulter, all talking very loudly and profanely. On entering the room, Poyle, who was armed with a knife, attacked Miles who was trying to handcuff him, kicking him on the knee and arm, and trying to throw him from performing his duty. Poyle and Lammpan were under the influence of liquor. Lammpan had on all his clothes off his mother in an attempt to lock her in another room and her screams were what aroused the crowd.

P. C. Miles told the court about Poyle's conduct and was then ordered by Chief Birrell to lay information against him. Williams told about having dispersed the crowd and then helped in the arrest of the three men.

Gordon Coulter, the only one of the trio who pleaded not guilty to the charge of disorderly conduct, stated that he had just entered the house a few minutes before the officers and was preparing to leave when he saw them come in. He had been handcuffed together with the others and brought to the station.

Coulter and Lammpan were each fined $15 and costs or days to be served in jail. Williams was fined $15 and costs or days to be served in jail. This is the second time Legg has been found guilty on each offence, the other occurring more than three years ago.

Charles Prestwick, who was with Legg at the time, faced the same start when he was charged with driving the liquor and admitting the driving of the car, he was fined $25 and costs for being intoxicated.
