CIRCUS GLORIES.

The Finest and Largest Street Spectacle Ever Organized. Presented by Ringling Bros. this Season.

Ringling Brothers' circus day will begin with the splendid street pageant, leaving the show grounds at 10 o'clock. This feature of the great shows is known here as surpassingly big and resplendent. The procession is always quick and span in every detail, and the people and animals are smart and contented looking. A large number of the animal cages and dens are open, and a huge herd of forty elephants, gaily caparisoned, lumbering patiently through the crowded streets, is a sight of a lifetime. The wild animal collection with this show is the most extensive and valuable in the world and requires 108 cages, dens and lairs to house it. Many of the specimens in this zoo are to be seen nowhere else; for instance, two giraffes, almost extinct; a real baby elephant, born in this country, thirty inches high and weighing 122 lbs.; the only rhinoceros in captivity; and a lion, or horned horse. The soldiers of the great nations of the world are represented by correctly uniformed companies equipped with colors and glistening accoutrements. Elaborately carved and emblazoned tableau floats serve as stages upon which are depicted the most allegorical typical phases of national life and character. These living pictures are artistic creations, minutely presented, and idealize in charming form and color their world-wide subjects. Each picture is made further attractive by the playing of characteristic music. Lilliputian vehicles, with fairy-land heroes and heroines, and squadrons of concealed ponies, terribled and cured delight the little folk. There are 650 horses with the show, and all of them appear in the street procession. More than 300 of these animals are of the finest breeding and education, and valued beyond price as performers. This number is more than twice as many as are owned by any other show. It represents a fortune itself, but is only in keeping with the other big and excellent departments of Ringling Brothers' extraordinary circus growth. Modestly groomed equestrians, gallant riders of knightly grace and style; daring horsemen of the plains and warrior fame; soldiers bold from every clime; expert duellists with every known kind of weapon, mounted and on foot, dancing girls with garlands; roistering students; severe church dignitaries; picturesque mountebanks; weird barbarians, crowned explorers; scientists, statesmen and potentates, and myriad other features of attractive personage, are woven into this magnificent street spectacle. Acrobats, clowns and musical "Merry Andrews" keep the fun rolling. All the characters in the gorgeous spectacle, Jerusalem and the Crusades, 1,200 in number, 300 dancing girls, and 200 choristers dressed in tenth century fashions, lend color and animation to the unwinding glories. This grand spectacle is the most colossal production ever made under canvas, and cost a fabulous sum. The Ringling Brothers have always had a progressive, modern and incomparably big show, but this year they have gone to amazingly extravagant lengths in every department, not only surpassing their best previous achievements, but undoubtedly have reached the limit of human possibility. It takes eighty-five double-length cars to carry the enormous show. Two exhibitions will be given here on Thursday, June 9, in the afternoon at 2 o'clock and in the evening at 8 o'clock. Reserved numbered seats and admission tickets will be sold at the downtown ticket office at exactly the same prices charged in the ticket wagons on the show grounds.

TALK PLAINLY.

Don't use big words or articulating superficial sentiments and philosophical or psychological observations, beware of platitudinous portentiousness. Let your statements possess a clarified conciseness, coherent consistency and a concentrated cogency. Eschew all conglomerations of flutulent garrulity, jejune babblement and asinine affections. Let your extemporaneous decantations and unpremeditated expatiations have intelligibility and veracious vivacity, without rhodomontade or thesaurical bombast, sedulously avoid all polysyllabic profundity, psittacous vacuity, ventriloquial vapidity; shun double entendre, prurient jocosity and pestiferous profanity, whether obscure or apparent.

In other words talk plainly, sensibly, and truthfully.
