CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over thirty years, has borne the signature of and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Barn and Silo Roofed with Brantford Asphalt Roofing.

Resists Fire, Sheds Water, Wears Long

Flying sparks and embers from a burning building often cause roofs near by to catch fire, especially in a dry, hot season. Under like conditions, roofs covered with are in no danger from flying embers, because any that fall on Brantford Asphalt Roofing die out harmlessly. Build a bonfire on a roof of Brantford Asphalt Roofing and the fire will not spread and the boards underneath the roofing will be protected in a surprising manner.

If a fire starts in the interior of a building Brantford Asphalt Roofing acts as a retardant and keeps the fire from spreading. Fire chiefs and insurance companies endorse its use in the most congested cities.

Brantford Asphalt Roofing does not absorb water, but sheds the heaviest rain with ease. Acid proof and alkali proof. Reliable, durable, economical. Three weights—60 lb., 70 lb., 80 lb. per square.

Brantford Rubber Roofing

is the same quality as Brantford Asphalt, but has a smooth, rubbery surface instead of the sand. It is particularly suitable for verandah decks and floor coverings. Three weights—40 lb., 50 lb., and 60 lb. per square.

Standard Mohawk Roofing

is made of the same materials as Brantford Asphalt Roofing, but is lighter in weight. A thoroughly reliable roofing at a low price. Tested for years and has given entire satisfaction. Sanded on one side. One weight—40 lbs. per square.

Mohawk Rubber Roofing

The same quality as Standard Mohawk but with a smooth surface. Used for all classes of temporary work—sheds, bunk-houses, camp sites, even dugouts in the trenches. 35 lb., 45 lb., and 55 lb. weights.

Leatheroid Roofing

Slightly lower quality than Mohawk Rubber. Used for same purposes. 35 lb., 45 lb., and 55 lb. weights.

Samples of any of these roofings and prices will be furnished on request.

A PIECE OF LUCK.

How Germans Were Captured by the Fijian Police.

The man who declares there is no such thing as luck had best not be too emphatic in proclaiming his belief when Captain Harold Tantram, late Deputy Chief of the Fijian Constabulary, is within ear range. The captain, who has been travelling through Canada, holds a directly contra opinion, and has apropos experience to cite in proof of the soundness of his position.

His story is that of the capture of Count von Luckner and seven of his compatriots, part of the crew of the infamous German raider Seeadler, which some months ago terrorized the southern seas. These, armed to the teeth, amply provisioned and munitioned, and mounting a first-class modern machine-gun on a strategic point on one of the smaller islands of the Fijian group, were not long ago made captive by the colony police, aided and abetted by undisputed and indisputable luck.

"Beware of the wooden horse," the Trojans once were told. A device even simpler, nothing more than a small drove of cattle accidentally lined up on the deck of a police boat, resulted in the taking of the eight Germans without bloodshed and without so much as a pretence of resistance on their part.

The others of the Seeadler's complement of officers and men have disappeared as completely as if the earth had opened to swallow them. Although many vessels have unprofitably hunted them through the hundred archipelagoes of the Southern Pacific, they may even yet survive in some coral-ringed islet up to date unexplored.

The first news of the presence of Count von Luckner and his companions among the islands received by the Fijian police reached them by word of mouth of a half-caste who came into Suva with the story of a strange party of men who wore some sort of uniform, and whose movements had quite mystified the native inhabitants of one of the islands quite off the track of even coasting craft.

An investigating police expedition eventually was ordered. Through some inexplicable folly the force went out unarmed, probably anticipating only a pleasant excursion—as they had investigated native reports many a time before, only to catalogue them later as fairy tales.

The bright idea struck someone shortly before the sailing hour that advantage might be taken of the opportunity to deliver a load of cattle to one of the neighbor islands, and so the animals were got on board and lined up on the deck. In a little bay described by the half-caste news-bearer they located the German party, who promptly engaged in a parley, for the count spoke excellent English. Surrender was demanded, and the party capitulated.

It was later disclosed that the Germans were fully convinced the cattle masked a battery of machine guns. Had they not read all about such camouflage in the manual of arms.

Thus, instead of being very promptly blown to pieces the police heroes returned to Suva with their prisoners. The Germans were found to be in possession of accurate maps, charts and photographs of the islands. They were abundantly provisioned and well armed. They had selected an admirable position for either defensive or offensive movements, and might have held their ground for months but for the accidental location of their camp by the half-caste—and the accidental co-operation of luck and that drove of cattle.

Our Troops.

Since the outbreak of the war, Canadians have been constantly annoyed by American claims that half the force of Canada is composed of men born in the United States, and by English claims that more than half are British-born. A statement prepared by the Department of Militia and Defence classifies the 364,750 men of the C.E.F., who went overseas up to March 31st, 1918, according to country of birth, as follows:

Canada, of British descent	147,595
Canada, of French descent	16,263
England	121,571
Scotland	37,496
Ireland	12,557
Wales	3,574
Other British possessions	3,648
United States	12,000
Other countries	10,031
Total	364,750

Some of the United States recruits gave Valcartier or other Canadian addresses on their attestation papers, but the number of these is comparatively insignificant. Many Americans were allowed to transfer to the United States army as soon as it was mobilized in France.

A Patriotic Jap.

A Japanese resident of Vancouver recently enlisted in a British Columbia battalion, and, before going to the front, wished to sell a small marine engine. He wrote to a possible purchaser, as reported in the Vancouver World, the following letter. Its English may be unidiomatic, but it makes his meaning clear and his spirit infectious: "I was educated in most excellent high school in Japan, and in high hope of my condition bettering made my resolution and embarked for this nation. But things do not find themselves thus. Bad time eventuated. I have signal honor to fight for this land and am distributing my property before I depart to encounter common foe, dam Hun, excuse me I beseech you my colloquial phraseology. Price 95 dollars. Ask for K—T—, private."

A Champion of Women.

Evidences of the high esteem of the fair sex should descend upon John Farrell, of Forest, in a plenary shower. Mr. Farrell has just publicly declared that in preference to seeing women working in the fields of Canada he would take a lantern and do the work by night.

Goat Milk is Valuable.

Milk from the goat has probably been used for food purposes ever since the advent of the first "Mrs. Gotee," and the chances are that it will until time is no more. In Europe the milk goat is one of the most popular of domestic animals, and more and more its popularity is growing in this country. What thoroughbreds we have are kept on feather mattresses, almost, and fed the best and choicest that the market affords. We are just beginning to see what the "baa baa" can really do and what it is actually worth.

The Irish "Long Car."

There was a time—and it was only as long ago as the last century, too—when the Irish traveled about their country on odd little cars. They were called "long cars" and they were not very different, really from the "outside cars" which are still commonly used in Ireland. But the outside car carries no more than two persons on seats, while the long car carried sometimes as many as sixteen passengers in all. The luggage was piled up in the middle.

AN ALWAYS READY PILL—To those of regular habit medicine is of little concern but the great majority of men are not of regular habit. The worry and cares of business prevent it, and out of the irregularity of life comes dyspepsia, indigestion, liver and kidney troubles as a protest. The run-down system demands a corrective and there is none better than Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. They are simple in their composition and can be taken by the most delicately constituted.

William Hardwick, a thresher of Ilderton, writes:—I have been a thresher for 15 years and I have threshed the best crop of wheat this year in that time, as we threshed for Archie Hodgkins, eighth concession of London township 54 bushels to the acre; Joe Patrick, eleventh concession, London township, 51 bushels to the acre off a 21-acre field.

It is alleged apparently on sufficient authority, that eighty per cent of the cattle killed by lightning, were struck when standing near wire fences. Protection from this danger can be had by running wires into the ground every three or four rods.

Several carloads of onions have already been shipped from the Marsh onion fields intended for immediate use. Some of these, it is understood, sold as low as $1.50 per bag.
