A BOY'S TEMPTATIONS.

Professor Henry Drummond, of Glasgow, says: "You liave heard of the old castle that was taken by a single gun. The attacking force had only one gun, and seemed hopeless to try to take the castle; you cin take the castle,' and he pointed the cannon to ono spot and fired, and went on all day, never moving the camnon. About nightfall there were a few grains of sand linocked off the wall. He did the sime thing the next and the next. By and-by the stones begnn to come a way, and by stendily working his gun for one week by stendily working his gun for one week he made a hole in that castle big enough for the army to walk through. Now with a single gun firing away at every boy's life, the devil is trying to get inat one opening. Tomptation is the practice of the soul, and if you never have any temptation you Whin never have any practice. A boy that attends fiftyy drills. in a year is a much twice. Do not quarrel with your temptations ; set yourself resolutely to face them.

DFMORALIZING THE YOUNG.

A boy entered a saloon with pop-corn. The bar-tender offered to buy the corn if the little fellow would take his pay in drink. The boy refused, saying that he used his money to buy bread and clothes for himself and little sister. The saloon-keeper bought some corn, and the boy started on his way to the door. The keeper of the den called the boy back, and gave him a glass: of Whiskey mixed with sugnr and water, saying that it was good for colds. The saying that it was good for colds. The boy pronounced it good and went awiy. Then this fiend in human shape said: "The Prohibition cranks are injuring us, and, unloss we continue making customers out of the young, they will soon have them all on their side. If that boy keeps them all on their side. If that boy keepps selling corn on this side of the river, it selling corn on this side of the river, it won't be three weeks till he will buy drinks of me. They lenrn easy when young," and he laughed heartily. Then the monster wont .on to enumerate the many boys he had taught to drink. One was a six-year-old son of a widow, whom he taught to drink from spite.-Golden Rule.

A BARGAIN FOR TWO HUNDRED.

Wo have purchased two hundred sets of Chambers' Journal, comprising the first nine months of 1889, bound in boards. This makes a book of six hundred and twenty double column pages, beautifully printed on good paper, and containing most interesting matter. Every article is complete except one continued story which opens in the last monthly number. The monthly numbers of this magazine sell at the book-stores in Camada for twenty cents each, making the cost of the nine numbers, $$ 1.80$. We offer them on these favorable conditions. Wo will send them post free to the first two hundred subscribers or workers who send us two new subscriptions to the Weckly Witness at one dollar each, one of them, at the least, being a new one, and ask for Chambers' Journal. We believe this to be an excellent opportunity for two hundred subscribers to the Witness or Messenger to get a selection of choice reading matter for nothing but doing two hundred kind turns to tho Witness, and to one or more hundred who are induced to become subscribers to it.

THE MESSENGER.

The Messenger is a good paper that is doing much good. Every additional subscribor obtained increases the good done by it. By increasing its circulation you participate in the good being done. The Messenger will heartily welcome you as a co-worker.

PRIZE BIBLE STORIES No. 3.
We purpose in this course of Bible study to follow up the different poriods of Bible history, and by the time we are done have our young students familiar with the זives of some of the most prominent char acters in each period. Wo began with Abraham. Nearly three hundred young people sent in written sketches of his life. Next a big jump of centuries was taken and still more young people for two or thireo weeks set themselves diligently to the study of the life of Esther and sent in to the Messenger a set of papers for which they deserve great credit.
Now wo propose to go back agnin and take for this time another of the patriarchs -Joseph. In chosing this charaoter we have thought it best to offer move than three prizos and to make the conditions somewhat different. Perhaps no person in the whole of the Old Testament history $i_{s}$ more universally attractive to children than Joseph. On this account we expect very many more of the younger ones to join this study of his life, and therefore think we must offer them prizes for themselves.

four prizes,

instead of the three, will therefore bo given. First and second for those between eighteen and fourteen years of age and tho same for thoso of thirteen and under.
For each of these four prizes handsome Bibles will be given containing references, concordance and maps. If any prizo winner should already possess such a Bible he or she will be consulted as to whint shaill oo given them instead.
So now, boys and girls, send us within four weeks from the date of this paper, the very best short account of the life of josepir
which you know. how to write. Write on one side of tho paper only, using either note paper or foolscap, each half sheet of which must be cut into four, so as to be noar noto-paper sizo; sign your name, Post-Office address and age last birthday aently on the upper right hand corner of the first page ; and pin the sheets together at the upper left hand corner. Do not fold or roll when mailing them but send them perfectly flat. Any other way of sending makes them more difficult for the examiners to handle and also spoils the appearance of each. In julging for the prizes accuracj of history, style of composition and neat ness will all be taken into consideration.
The essays must not exceed six hundred words in length. Address
