Health

Being of the Utmost Importance,
An Investigation of what

RADAM'S MICROBE KILLER

Is, and What it is Doing

May be the means of preventing much suffering and a premature death.

Why are children dying of Croup and others of Diphtheria and Bronchitis? A death has not yet been known of these diseases where Microbe Killer has been used in any reasonable time. Can any medical science or skill make such an assertion? Not so; the reason why, because they have not the means, outside of Microbe Killer, to destroy the microbe or germs of disease. Poisonous drugs will not do it; if so, why is there so much suffering and death in the face of such an army of medical men, who are prescribing them for every known disease with such lamentable results?

AN EXPERIENCED PHYSICIAN HAS SAID:

"We compound drugs of which we know little; we pour them into constitutions of which we know less, the effects of which we only know afterwards."

It costs nothing to investigate the mountains of proof we possess that this remedy is more than we claim for it. Thousands are using it, and the day will come when every individual will seek no other remedy for disease than Radam's Microbe Killer.
