Only Half the Acreage, But the Yield Will Be Better-Canners Pay Good Prices, No Longer Fearing Reciprocity Strawberry Growing in Neighborhood of Toronto.

Now is the time of the strawberry. berry has been on the tables of those who are able to pay for the luxury of early fruit, but the everyday citizen who is not overburdened with this world's goods has perforce to wait till the domestic vine designs to yield its McBride Bros. expect a fair crop-enly. Some reports, they said, had been good, others bad.

Strawberry District Enlarged. The strawberry country of Ontario is gradually being enlarged and it is now found that strawberries grown around Toronto have just as good a market, and are worth as much, if not more, because they happen to be a week or more later in season than the strawberries grown at Clarksons, Oakville, Hamilton and the Grimsby country.

In many seasons the best berries for the general market, and for preserving purposes, are the late ones, and often the price is better at the close of the season than at the opening. There are large patches of berries growing all around Toronto now, and these seem to promise a large yield this year. The trouble about Toronto is in the picking, but there is every likelihood of the growers here developing their business so as to get enough women and children to do their picking in the summer season at good wages. The vines all round Toronto are thickly studded with blossoms and promise a good yield.

Conditions Necessary.

The strawberry crop depends on the grower's setting out new beds every Optical year. The vine ought to be one that is prolific in its yield and next it ought to have quality. And to get these two conditions requires experience and judgment. Any season that he fails Goods the finest materthe market for the next year. To be in used in the manuof our spectacles glasses. The national banks in the United States have always been subject to some government super-vision and inspection under the National Bank Act. This inspection in the past has been at times superficial and inefficient. Nevertheless, on many occasions a national bank examiner, acting under the authority of the comptroller of currency, has closed the doors of a shaky bank in time to enable the receiver appointed by the government to save a great deal of money for the depositors.

In recent years the leading national banks of the country, instead of opposing government inspection, have urged the government to appoint skilled examiners For a month or so past the imported instead of politicians, with the result that public confidence has been built up respecting the merits of the inspection, and the assurance of reliability in banks subject to such inspection.

"The crop looks very promising for the quantity of vines," said E. D. Smith of Winona. "Of course these are not what they usually are, but although the acreage is not as great as last year we expect as large a crop in this district as last year, when the drought cut it in two. Editor World: I do not agree with everything that you urge. I am opposed to the main condition that you make and that is, that, the state issue a currency. I intend to send you some notes upon what I regard as absolutely wrong, and that is the huge reserve the banks are piling up. I know that the bank of which I am a shareholder is the worst simer in that regard. I think it is wise to have a good reserve, but the banks have not kept pace with the growing demands of the country. What they should have done was to increase their capital, from time to time, so that there would have been now sufficient currency for the present requirements of the country. Since this has not been done the only thing that I see that we can do now is to increase the circulation of Dominion notes. I know you will say that this is only temporary.

"We expect to be able to ship berries by the middle of Jume. Last year the canners were giving 4 1-4 cents a box. That was when we were afraid of reciprocity. Now there is no question of reciprocity they are giving from 6 1-4 to 6 1-2 cents. The canners, as usual, will take about two-thirds of the crop."

Police Commissioners Will Endeavor to Arrive at Some Definite Basis This Afternoon - Interpretation of Clauses in Regulations to Be Discussed.

The board of police commissioners will deal with the pension to be allowed to ex-Inspector Alfred Cuddy, now chief of the Calgary force, at their meeting this afternoon. The pension has already been passed by the benefit fund committee of the men as half pay on the salary which he was drawing at the close of his service June 1. There is an element who believe that this is unfair and hold that subsection B of section 24, under which the pension is granted, does not bear out such an allowance. Chief Grasett says that the award is made upon a reading of the section supplied by the city solici-tor at the time that the pension of ex-Staff Inspector James Stephen was passed, and that this opinion holds that the pension shall be paid upon the salary being drawn at the end of 80 years' service, provided that the pen-sioner had held the rank then held ter the last three years preceeding. the last three years preceeding.
