

STREAM OF MONEY FROM ENGLAND TO FLOW UNCHECKED

Unless Over Eager Son Asks Too Much From Indulgent Mother Says Sir Edmund Walker.

AT N. Y. CANADIAN CLUB

Two Hundred Millions Needed Yearly For Canada's Material Development--Effects of Immigration.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—"We need at the moment, in addition to our own savings, over $200,000,000 annually for our material development, and we get it from the mother country. Without this stream of new capital the stream of immigration would be lessened, but unless we have a widespread European war, I do not believe it will be checked," said Sir Edmund Walker, president of the Bank of Commerce, at the eighth annual banquet of the New York Canadian Club tonight.

Responding to the toast of Canada, he continued: "I do not believe the stream of money will be checked, except temporarily, when the over-eager son asks too much from the indulgent mother, and thus justifies reproach. "We, in Canada, are as honestly determined to secure and maintain our rights as individuals and as political communities as any people in the world. But, if possible, we propose to enjoy these rights without losing our reverence for the great past to which we are heir, without losing the traditions of a great history, the fine traditions of which are not always preserved in our modern democracies, without renouncing our right to share in the troubles and the triumphs of that great empire which, separated though they be by seven seas, the mothers of nations and her five young cub are trying to improve and to keep intact as the greatest political and social enterprise in the history of the world.

A Rousing Appetite Is a Keen Delight

And What Is of Greater Interest Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Enable the Stomach to Digest Whatever Is Eaten.

We all like to see the way healthy children devour their meals. Would we could all do the same! Eating ought to be a delight. It is one of life's chief enjoyments. People who cannot relish a good meal are apt to fall into those ill-tempered moods from which they view the world as a sorry place to live in. So let us learn to employ the best means of harmonizing our existence and thus extract from our daily grind all the pleasure there is to be had. This we can do by keeping our stomachs in prime, active working order.

A majority of people have come to know the blessings which an occasional use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets confer upon the stomach. They are unquestionably the most popular remedy known, for the reason that dyspepsia is the national disease, and these wonderful little tablets have long since acquired a national reputation as a thoroughly reliable and efficient cure for all forms of dyspepsia and indigestion.

The Electric Chafing Dish Keeping side dishes warm

The Electric Chafing Dish is convenient not only for preparing luncheons, but it has become a very useful addition to the dinner table. Vegetables, even when kept under cover, grow cold in five minutes after taken from the stove, and no other article of food after losing its warmth becomes more distasteful.

has studied the volumes on the 'Origins of the British Colonial System,' and, doubtless, he will find in the statement in any written constitution, but, as they are, they provide the most humane and the most liberal conditions of life ever experienced in any of the countries comprised in the empire.

"The loss of this great country was terrible indeed, but it is quite possible that but for that loss there would be no British Empire today. It would be foolish for any one to suppose that those colonists who remained loyal were careless about liberty, but with their love of liberty they combined a reverence for the past which made them take counsel with their past.

"I look as if this material side we shall continue to prosper, and it behooves us to see that in this wide-spread prosperity the loaves and fishes are so divided that the masses are not discontented. We are endeavoring to build up an industrial Canada, not a mere market for the goods of the United States or Great Britain. We do not wish to be merely a market for the goods of the United States or Great Britain, but we wish to be a manufacturing country, and it is served mostly by the eastern manufacturer. This is the cause of discontent, as it has been in the United States.

"We can already, however, see the beginning of manufacturing in the west, and we shall rapidly repeat the history of many western cities in the United States, which in one generation developed into busy manufacturing centres. Until this time arrives we must by frequent conference and frank argument maintain as fair relations as are possible. All must bear their share in supporting the cost of government, including that part in harnessing the country which falls upon the government, and cannot be accomplished by private enterprise.

"What is more difficult than harnessing the country which falls upon the government, and cannot be accomplished by private enterprise, is the question of making Canadians of all these newcomers. We speak of 'assimilation,' but, as I recently heard an able westerner say, 'How can you talk of assimilation when the newcomers outnumber the Canadians?' This they do in many parts of the west. And yet, as we perform the great task of finding for each new community the shopkeepers, doctors, lawyers, ministers, school teachers, bankers, and all that go to make the human leadership in a community, and as we begin to apply to these strangers when the West Indies join the North American Confederation of the empire, we have not even a corn belt that we would not exchange it for all the sub-tropical countries in the world! In the effort called forth for the hope that our population will ever be as large. We are a northern country, and in almost every effort we put ourselves to overcome the difficulties caused by our winter, and must also bear the loss of the forces of nature which lie dormant in that season. RULES GOVERNING THE CONTEST

The Toronto World Proverb Contest is a test of skill and diligence, designed to encourage thought and research on the part of the young and provide a pleasant mental diversion for everyone. Every day, for a period of seven days, there will appear in The Toronto Daily and Sunday World, an illustration, cartoon or other representation of a commonly used and well-known English proverb. The Toronto Daily World will award PRIZES AGGREGATING OVER $5000 IN VALUE to readers of the Daily and Sunday World who send in the correct or nearest correct answers to the entire series of illustrations. The first proverb picture was published in The Daily World, Thursday, Oct. 3. The last will be published on Dec. 16. The correct answers, to serve as a basis of awards, are being selected according to the common use of the words in the illustrations, as represented by The Daily and Sunday World, and will shortly be placed under seal in a Safety Deposit Vault. This list of correct answers will remain under seal until called for by the judges, whose names will be announced in due course, and who will have full control of the examination of the answers and awarding of the prizes. The correct answers are included in The Toronto World's Book of English Proverbs, which is published as a guide and reference for contestants to use to the contest. To compete for the prizes, contestants need only to supply the answers represented by the illustrations that will appear daily, and send in their answers, at the close of the contest, according to the rules. The person sending in the correct or nearest correct list of answers to the entire series of seventy-five (75) illustrations will be awarded the first prize. The person sending in the second nearest correct list of answers will receive the second prize, etc. Entries may be made any time before the contest is entirely closed. Rules follow: 1. The Toronto World's Proverb Contest is open to all readers of The Daily and Sunday World in Canada, except employees of The Daily and Sunday World and members of their families. Any person who has been mentioned above may enter the contest by simply becoming a regular reader of The Toronto Daily and Sunday World. 2. Contestants must write the answers to the illustrations on the coupon provided therefor and which will appear on Page 5 of The Daily and Sunday World every day during the contest. Answers may be written in pencil, or typewriter, and arranged in any manner to suit the contestant. 3. Each picture represents only one proverb. Where contestants are permitted to send five (5) answers (not more) to each picture, they must indicate if the correct answer is given, in any manner to suit the contestant. 4. Only one answer may be written upon a single coupon. Extra coupons must be used for additional answers, and all coupons of the same name must be kept together in making up the list. 5. Different members of a family may compete in the contest, but the names of all family members, and the names of all answers will be accepted from any individual contestant. 6. Answers must not be sent in until the last picture has been published. After the last picture has been printed, contestants must arrange the coupons in alphabetical order, insert them securely in a neat flat package, and mail them to the contest manager, The Toronto World, Toronto, Canada, within the time specified in the following rules. 7. The time of receiving answers will have no effect upon the awarding of the prizes with this exception: The Office of The Toronto World will be closed on the 15th of December, 1912, twelve days after the last picture is published. 8. The prizes will be awarded to readers sending in the correct or nearest correct answers to the entire series of seventy-five (75) Proverb Illustrations and Sunday World. 9. In the event of a tie between contestants sending in the correct list of answers with the last picture, the winner will be determined by the number of correct answers upon the same number of coupons the value will be equally divided among those tying. 10. In making the awards, the judging committee, whose names will be announced in due course, will take into account the similarity of exact wording of the proverb answers as selected by the Contest Manager and three representatives of The Daily and Sunday World, and the correct construction of the Proverb Book of English Proverbs; spelling, wording, punctuation, and the correct construction of the answers are the essentials that will be graded. 11. Where a set of answers is securely fastened together the contestant will be permitted to stamp for name, and omit the full name of the contestant, provided the name is on the greater majority address printed on the coupon. If the FULL NAME AND ADDRESS OF THE OFFICE ADDRESS is plainly and legibly written upon the coupon, the name and address will be printed on the coupon. 12. In sending in the answers at the close of the contest it is imperative that contestants seal all packages containing answers, and if mailed, contestants should exercise care to see that postage is fully prepaid at the rate of one cent per ounce, or fraction thereof, in Toronto, and two (2) cents per ounce, or fraction thereof, outside of Toronto. All answers must be bound to pay postage due on any set of answers. All communications or letters of enquiry concerning the Proverb Contest must be addressed to the Contest Manager, Toronto World, Toronto, Canada.
