Discipline of Canadians as Good as Any.

SPEECH IN OLD LONDON

Hamar Greenwood Says Canada's Part in War Excelled Other Dominions.

LONDON, March 16 .- By the Canadian Associated Press.-Many Canadian fficers were entertained at dinner yesofficers were entertained at dinner yesterday by the National Liberal Club, in the room in which the Canadian Confederation agreement was signed over 50 years ago. The Marquis of Lincolnshire presided, and the toast of "The Canadians" was proposed by Sir Hamar Greenwood, who said that Canada in the war had done perhaps more than any of the other dominions, and had kept her divisious up to full strength by Canadian men from across the Atlantic. No soldier was more loyal to discipline than the Canadian, or provided officers more suitable.

would have been regarded as a linaure who had foreshadowed that 410,000 or 415,000 Canadian soldiers would be sent to fight in Europe. Yet that was what had been accomplished. Many now lie in France and Belgium. They in Canada were not sorry that Canada had brought upon herself a similar burden to the forest the security in the were attitude, Canada would not be blameable. WISH TO HURRY PEACE In Order To Get Speedy Action

Concede Point to

Wilson.

PARIS, March 16.—President Wilson authorizes the statement that there has been no change in the original plan for linking together the league of nations and the peace treaty. The plan was enunciated by the peace conference itself at the first plenary session. January 25, and, it is added, there has been no departure thus far from the order then laid down.

If President Wilson insists that the league of nations be incorporated in the preliminary peace treaty, the British, it is understood, will concede the point, although they still believe that the preliminary pact is not the proper place for the inauguration of the league, which, they declare, should be included in the final peace pact.

keenest desire for the liminary peace treaty, so as to alleviate unsatisfactory conditions resulting from the continuation of the armistice.

In order to get speedy action they propose to strip the preliminary compact of all extraneous matters, which they believe include the league of nations. The league, under the British program, would be taken up immediately after the conclusion of preliminaries of peace and, with any amendments which might be added, would be made part of the final pact.

The president did not attend, however, Colonel House taking his place, as the draft of the terms in treaty form had not been completed in the topermit of study before the meeting. The president received the full draft late this afternoon, and went over it tonight, article by article, with General Bliss and Admiral Benson, at the Paris "White House." With the president absent the council deferred the military and naval terms until Monday.

Polish Frontiers Deferred.

The Polish frontiers Offerman was he next subject on the program, but he British prime minister was not preserved. Lloyd George left the council bom soon after learning that President Tilson would not attend and proceeded the "White House" for a conference in the situation.

four, but his absence may have the effect of prolonging the conclusion of the treaty beyond the 25th.

Is It the Final Treaty?

It was stated at American headquarters that the treaty now being framed would be the definite treaty covering all the main subjects and would not be a preliminary treaty. It is the treaty which will be submitted to the United States Senate for ratification, and after its conclusion the remaining details will be largely formalities.

While not so optimistic as some who had been looking for completion of the preliminary treaty by March 20, British conference circles incline to the belief that the document will be ready for signatures within about three weeks.

Brief Description of Property: The following is supplied by Mr. H. L. Taylor, former President of Porcupine Imperial: "Porcupine was discovered about the end of the year 1909, and some months later, in 1910, the property of this Company was acquired by purchase. Buildings were erected, necessary machinery installed, and active work commenced. During the summer of 1911 Porcupine was swept by a very disastrous fire, when not only the complete surface equipment of Porcupine Imperial was destroyed, but, owing to an explosion of dynamite, the timbers of the shaft as well. Since 1911 the property has again been equipped, although this double expense was a severe handicap to the Company. A shaft was sunk to a depth of 115 feet, and approximately 500 feet of lateral work completed on the 100-foot level. A number of very promising veins were cut in the course of the latter work, one having a width of about 7 feet, assaying §8 per ton.
