MUST DIG THROUGH TONS OF DEBRIS TO GET BODIES OF VICTIMS OF EXPLOSION

Now Known That More Than a Score of Workmen Perished in Explosion of Brooklyn Gas Main Yesterday—Rescue Parties at Work Seeking to Recover Bodies.

New York, Nov. 21.—When dawn broke today the big force of workmen who had been struggling almost since yesterday to reach the bodies of the score or more of persons who were entombed by the explosion in Gold street, Brooklyn, saw many hours of labor ahead of them. It would be before even the emergency shoring which would make it safe for the workers to begin digging at the hundreds of tons of debris in the trench could be completed in many more hours would be necessary to cut through the tangled mass of wreckage which fills the trench.

The great trench which had been sunk more than fifty feet below the surface was filled with all sorts of material, which will hamper the workmen. When the sidewalks and curbstones fell into the opening they carried with them water pipes and gas mains, wire conduits, tool boxes and many tons of material which were used in the construction of the sewer upon which the men at the bottom of the trench were at work. Several key engines which had been used in the work, electric light wires and a large amount of heavy timber which had been used in shoring the deep-cut also were among the debris. All of these things were thrown together in an inextricable mass, and it will be necessary to literally dig through them to reach the bottom of the trench.

Man Confined in Prince Albert Jail for Vagrancy Admits Complicity in Murder and Gives Names of Other Criminal.

Prince Albert, Sask., Nov. 21 (Special).—A man named Wells of Winnipeg, confined in the police cells here on a charge of vagrancy, has turned King's trial this morning admitted he was a member of a gang of safe-blowers and bandits who operated in the province during the time when M. Sager was murdered in Elkhorn, when the latter interrupted the gang at work. Wells gives the name and description of the man who fired the shot and declares he has peached out of a spirit of revenge, because the other members of the gang left for the coast, leaving him in prison for vagrancy. The police are close on the trail of the gang and expect to land them within a few days.

MACKENZIE KING WILL PROBABLY GO TO CHINA

Interesting Correspondence Between the Young M. P. and Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Ottawa, Nov. 20 (Special).—An interesting interchange of correspondence has taken place between Sir Wilfrid Laurier and W. L. Mackenzie King, M. P. for North Westchester in respect to King's appointment as one of the British commissioners on the Anti-Opium Commission, which is to meet at Shanghai on January 1. The net result of the correspondence is that Mr. King, who raised some objections to being sent to China, has given way and will sail for Vancouver on December 2. The appointment was approved by the British government and received the approval of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues. In a letter addressed to Sir Wilfrid under date of November 19, Mr. King refers to the importance of the conference and adds: "Considerations of such a nature were not to be carefully weighed, and I would gladly accept the appointment were it not that circumstances of a somewhat unusual nature seem to make it imperative that I should decline. I have been, as you are aware, recently chosen as the representative of North Westchester in the house of commons. This riding has for some time past been virtually without representation in parliament. The session which is about to open is the first of a new parliament and it is generally

NEW YORK WORLD SPRINGS A WORLD WIDE SENSATION

It Prints an Alleged Summary of the Suppressed Interview With Emperor William Which, if True, Will Set England Aflame—Savage Attack Upon King Edward and the British People.

New York, Nov. 21.—What purports to be an "Absolutely accurate and authentic synopsis" of the interview obtained from Emperor William of Germany by Dr. William Bayard Hale, and subsequently withdrawn just as it was about to appear in the Century Magazine, is printed in the World today. The World declares that the article as originally written was submitted to Mr. Hale and that it appears to-day as changed by Dr. Hale.

The interview is said to have taken place on the Imperial yacht Hohenzollern, off Bergen, Norway, while Dr. Hale was the Emperor's guest. The World summarizes the main points of the Emperor's interview as follows: "That King Edward of Great Britain had been humiliating him for more than two years and that he was exasperated, that Germany was the paramount power in all Europe and that England was trying to neutralize that power; that he held France in the hollow of his hand, and that Russia was of no account since the disastrous war she had waged with Japan; that if the Pan-European war which had been so much talked about was inevitable the sooner it came the better it would be.

Thanks, but I must decline to discuss the Kaiser, his words or his works. On the general subject matter of the interview I can only say that England's alliance with Japan was a policy arranged after considerable thought and consideration. England is in a better position to judge of its efficacy and value than any one else. The observation that by the Anglo-Japan treaty King, may lose her colonies is a matter of prophecy, of which time will demonstrate either the truth or the falsity. As to the 'yellow peril' the idea is, to my thinking, extremely crude. The 'yellow peril' in order to become menacing presupposes a division of the nations forgetting all separating differences and grouping themselves together against a similar group of white nations. The idea of a 'yellow peril' is, as I say, extremely crude. As a man of some experience in national affairs, I will say that the talk of national crises and of war seem to me to have less basis at present than for many years past. There are always some difficulties on the horizon of international politics, but these at present seem less than usually troublesome."

NEW YORK AMERICAN Had The Yarn First

(Special Cable to New York American.) London, Nov. 21.—Here is exactly what Dr. William Bayard Hale, the distinguished journalist, traveler and writer on the board of the Imperial yacht Hohenzollern, at Bergen, Norway, on July 19, Dr. Hale was seeking an article for the Century Magazine, which article, in view of the earthquake created throughout Germany by an interview subsequently given by the Emperor William to a diplomatist of the London Daily Telegraph, has been suppressed at the request of the German government.

OH WHAT A CHANGE FROM FORMER DAYS

Berlin, Nov. 21.—Emperor William made a public speech in this city this morning on the occasion of the centennial celebration of the formation of the city council of Berlin. Instead of speaking extemporaneously as is his usual custom, he read his address from a printed form that was handed to him by Chancellor Von Bülow. His Majesty said: "The municipality of Berlin was created in the midst of the fire of the year of 1806, and since that time it has been developed by the devotion of the citizenship of the capital. This gives me the hope that the municipality of the future will also retain the spirit of true citizenship, and that nothing will force itself by the prince and the people."

LIVING WALLS OF TROOPS GUARDED CZAR OF RUSSIA AT GRAND DUKE'S FUNERAL

The Body of Grand Duke Alexis now Lies in the Mausoleum of the Romanoffs—Czar Followed the Coffin on Foot Through the Streets of St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 21.—The body of Grand Duke Alexis, an uncle of the Emperor of Russia, who died recently in Paris, was interred to-day in the new mausoleum of the Romanoffs, within the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul, and Nicholas, the Russian Emperor, followed the coffin on foot through the crowded and silent streets of the capital. His Majesty walked thus from the railroad station to the fortress, a distance of three miles. In spite of the apprehensions for the safety of the Emperor, there was no upward movement.

His Majesty was accompanied by a suite of thirteen grand dukes and one hundred generals and admirals. The Metropolitan of St. Petersburg and Moscow and the most prominent bishops of the Orthodox church participated in the service. The empress and a number of grand duchesses met the body at the railroad station where it arrived from Paris and followed it in carriages behind the other mourners. The police and military authorities had taken extreme precautions to prevent any terrorist attempt. The route of march was lined for the entire distance on both sides by living walls of troops, which made any attempt on the life of His Majesty practically impossible.

DAVID BRADLEY

The death occurred at his residence, Summer street, this morning of David Bradley, the well-known blockmaker. Mr. Bradley has been ill off and on for about a year. On Friday of last week he took suddenly ill and gradually failed until this morning, when he passed away about 5 o'clock. Death is attributed to Bright's disease. ABRUZZI'S TROUBLES

Senator Elkins' positive announcement that no engagement exists between his daughter and the Duke of Abruzzi will hardly serve to still the tongues of the gossip-mongers. They will argue that the Duke's engagement now may be strictly within the limits of the truth, without degrading impossible the indignity something called an "understanding" which may eventually in an engagement and a wedding later on. The interest of people in this young couple may be due to a matter of course, and when he happens to be a son of an illustrious royal house and suspected of a romantic affection for a beautiful American the interest of the public in his fortunes amounts at times almost to hysteria.

SIR CHARLES DILKE Gives His Opinion

(Special Cable to New York American.) London, Nov. 18.—The American correspondent has received a most important telegram from what the Kaiser said to Dr. William Bayard Hale during his famous interview on the Hohenzollern. The press opinion contains names and facts apart from the political opinions of the Kaiser which seem to remove all doubt of the accuracy of the synopsis already published.
