THE HARVEST MOON.

THE HARVEST MOON.

Air—"Young May Moon."

The harvest moon is beaming now,
And its silvery light is streaming now
Over hill and plain
Of waving grain,
With the wealth of our island teeming now;
Then we'll go to the fields away, my boy,
For should we till morning stay, my boy,
While sleeping in bed
The corn might shed,
So we'll cut it ere dawning of day, my boys!

who having seen the joyous delights of youth and passed the honorable period of mature age, is content to throw aside the ornaments which once she wore, and instead of masquerading in laces and velvets, to be seen in the simple and unostentatious appared that befits her years. To the eye of affection, the gray hairs upon her brow are far more becoming than any artificialties that could be procured; and the pallor of her cheek more attractive than the sunniest glow of early Iovelines.

In drawing attention now, at the commencement of the Spring Trade, to our large Establishment, corner of King and Cross Streets, we wish briefly to enumerate the advantages which we offer to our customers and the public. We have always studiously avoided claiming to ourselves any power of selling at thirty or forty per cent under others in the trade, but simply rested our claims on our extensive experience—buying our Goods direct from the best Manufacturers at Cash Prices. Our theory has invariably been, that improvements can always be introduced. This year we endeavour to do better than last.
